FFA Week Being Celebrated By Oakland Chapter

The Oakland Chapter of Future Farmers of America began observance of National FFA Week on Saturday evening with a dance to honor the chapter Sweetheart, Miss Carol Jones. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones, Carol will represent the chapter at the State FFA American Royal Queen Candidate Contest in June at the state FFA Convention.

Chosen as runner-up was Karen Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Hamilton.

The chapter observed "Official FFA Dress Day" on Monday. A meeting was also conducted by the Junior Chapter officers, at which notepads and pens bearing the theme "Vocational Agriculture—Education Through Experience" were distributed to the members. Refreshments were served after the business session.

FFA members drove their tractors to school on Monday to symbolize their love of farm living. Participating were Randy Sisler, Ted Evans, Chuck Fitzwater, Steve Burns, Troy Liller, Tracey Jessup and John Weeks.

On Friday the chapter will tour the Tableland Milk Processing plant and the state Animal Health Lab.

RIDING A BUS, driving one's own automobile or walking are the usual methods of transportation to school each day, but these members of the Oakland FFA Chapter decided to try something a little different and drove their tractors to school on Monday. The activity was all part of the chapter's observance of National FFA Week which is currently underway. Pictured left to right are John Weeks, Ted Evans, Troy Liller, Randy Sisler, and Tracy Jessup. Another event held by the chapter was a Sweetheart Dance held Saturday evening at the school. Carol Jones, pictured below, was chosen Chapter Sweetheart.

The next meeting will be March 7 at the Vocational Agriculture building at Southern High School at 8 p.m. Everyone interested is welcome.

Farmers Plan To Reduce Planting

Farmers in Maryland intend to reduce their acreage planted to most major crops in 1983, announced the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service. A February 1 survey of farmers shows an overall acreage reduction of about 3% from 1982. Acres planted to corn, soybeans, wheat and rye are down, but acres of hay intended for harvest in 1983 is up.

Maryland's farmers intend to lower their acreage of five of the major crops, but hold steady or increase acreages in four crops.

The crops and their expected acreage in 1983 and percentage change from 1982 are: corn-735,000 acres, down 2%; soybeans-385,000 acres, down 6%; wheat-136,000 acres, down 6%; barley-95,000 acres, down 14%; rye-65,000 acres, down 7%. Crops on the increase or holding steady are: tobacco-28,000 acres, up 4%; oats-25,000 acres, up 14%; all hay-265,000 acres, up 8%; sweet potatoes-1,300 acres, no change.

Actual acreage planted may very from that indicated because of 1983 farm programs, effects of weather, availability of production inputs, and changes in expected prices.

1982 Crop Values Down

The total value of field crops, fruits and commercial vegetables grown in Maryland in 1982 amounted to $406.7 million, down five percent from 1981. Field crops amounted to 94 percent of the total, while fruit and vegetables each added another three percent.

Of the field crops, only hay prices averaged above the 1981 price. Sweet potatoes recorded the biggest decline, $8.30 per cwt. below their 1981 record high.

Corn remains the largest valued crop, providing 40 percent of the total. Its value of $162.4 million dropped 17 percent from a year ago as the price per bushel fell 40 cents to $2.30.

Soybeans valued at $64.6 million, decreased four percent from 1981. Lower prices averaging $5.50 per bushel, again more than offset increased production.

Maryland's oat production, valued at a little more than $2 million, fell 12 percent below 1981 because of a 25 cent lower price of $1.85 per bushel.

Barley's value of $11.7 million increased eight percent from a year earlier, the same as for wheat. Production increases from higher yields, pushed wheat's value of production to $18.7 million. The season average price of barley and wheat were $2.05 and $3.05, respectively.

Hay production in Maryland was valued at $50 million, 24 percent more than the previous year.

Milk Quality To Be Focus Of Mastitis Meeting

Against a general background of possible deductions from milk checks for dairy farmers, this year's annual meeting of the Maryland Mastitis Council will feature proposals that could pay premiums of up to 12 and 24 cents per hundredweight for high-quality milk.

Such a program has been implemented by two Midwest milk marketing cooperatives and representatives of those organizations will tell how they did it.

The Maryland council's 18th annual meeting is scheduled March 10 in the fire hall at Walkersville (Frederick County), beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Raymond J. Tice, Grantsville, will preside at the meeting. A Holstein breeder and senior partner in a father-son dairy farming operation, Tice is completing his second term as president of the Maryland Mastitis Council.

Co-sponsors are the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service and the state mastitis council. Program coordinator is Dr. Robert R. Peters, an Extension dairy science specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park and a national council committee member.

First speaker on the morning program will be John Siglow, assistant to the general manager of Milk Marketing, Inc., Strongsville, Ohio. Siglow will describe how his cooperative has instituted a program which pays producers up to 24 cents per hundredweight for high-protein milk with low somatic cell counts.

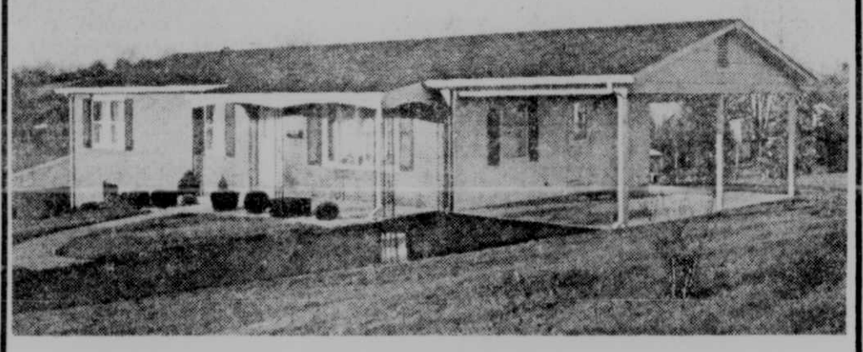
At 10:30 a.m., Dr. Tom C. Everson, technical director for Wisconsin Dairies Cooperative of Baraboo, Wis., will speak on "How the Dairy Industry Can Benefit from a Somatic Cell Count Program." Dr. Everson's talk will include information on how his organization pays farmers a premium of up to 12 cents per hundredweight for high-quality milk.

The rest of the day's program is as follows:

11:15 a.m., "Milk Quality Premium Programs in Maryland", James H. Reeder, director of field services for the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association, Inc., Arlington, Va., W. Thomas Moore, director of field services for the Middle Atlantic division of Dairymen, Inc., headquartered at Baltimore;

11:30 a.m., "Use of DHI Somatic Cell Counts", Dr. Robert R. Peters;

Noon, lunch;



1:15 p.m., Business meeting;

1:30 p.m., "Production of Quality Milk: Role of Veterinarian, Fieldman and Dairyman", Dr. Charles S. Stewart of New Carrollton, statewide field veterinarian for mastitis control, Maryland Department of Agriculture; Richard H. Smith of Mount Airy, field representative, Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association; Mrs. W. Gene (Louise) Umbarger of Churchville (Harford county). (Mrs. Umbarger does sampling and culturing of milk to test for mastitis in the family's diary herd); and

2:30 p.m., Adjournment.

A moderate registration fee will be charged to help defray meeting costs and the noon luncheon. All interested persons are invited.

Farmers Asked To Complete Census Forms

Major farm and commodity groups are asking farm and ranch operators to complete and return their 1982 Census of Agriculture forms by February 15, according to the Commerce Department's Census Bureau.

Dr. John H. Berry, chief of the Bureau's Agriculture Divison, says that prompt return of the report forms will reduce costly follow-up mailings, speed availability of data, and help produce a more complete and accurate census.

Questionnaires were mailed late in December to more than 2.5 million farm and ranch operators. The census, conducted periodically since 1840, gathers data from all farm operators in the nation and is the only source of comprehensive data on the county level.

Individuals engaged in production of crops of livestock in 1982 who have not received a census report form can request one from the Bureau of the Census, Agriculture Division, 1201 East Tenth Street, Jeffersonville, Indiana 47133.

Farm and commodity groups have cooperated in greater numbers than in any previous census of agriculture. According to Berry, "More than a dozen major organizations have invited census representatives to participate in meetings or to reach producer-members through official channels."

Berry points out that in recent weeks farm leaders have been reminding farmers across the nation of the uses of agriculture census data, including the following:

As a primary source of uniform national, state, and county data that provides benchmarks for current surveys and a profile of the nation's farm economy;

For allocating funds for national farm programs, including the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Extension Service;

To help the economic sector serve the farmer by determining the best location and strategies for marketing and analyze demand for fertilizer, seeds, feed, and equipment so they can be sold at reduced cost to the farmer;

To pinpoint long-term farm trends which often can be observed only from census data collected over a number of decades;

To assess patterns in water use and irrigation to determine resource and management needs and evaluation of farm land use and zoning programs.

Farmers may obtain extensions to the February 15 deadline by requesting them in writing. A reminder will be sent to those who have not contacted the Bureau after the deadline. Reasonable estimates may be used to complete the report if records are not available.

Those not engaged in agricultural activities who have received a form are urged to write an explanatory note and return it so they will not be contacted again.

The Census Bureau reminds farmers that all information collected in the census is kept confidential by law (Title 13 of the U.S. Code). No data are published that would reveal the identity of activities of any respondent, nor can forms be used for purposes of taxation, investigation, or regulation. Only sworn census employees see the forms and any breach of confidentiality would be punishable by a fine up to $5,000 and/or imprisonment up to five years.

Participation In PIK Program Strongly Urged

The current situation of large supplies and weak prices could be reversed if the payment-in-kind (PIK) program goal of a 23-million-acre reduction in wheat, feed grains, cotton and rice is reached, according to a Department of Agriculture official.

"This will be achieved, however, only through large numbers of farmers participating," William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said. By further reducing 1983 plantings of these crops from the previously announced acreage reduction and land diversion programs, PIK will bring substantial reductions in surplus stocks and crop production, put agriculture's supply more in line with demand, and create an improvement in market prices.

For participating in PIK, farmers will receive a certain amount of the commodity that he or she would have grown on these acres. "Farmers can receive 80 to 95 percent of their established farm yield by participating in the program," Crum said. PIK commodities will come from CCC loans, farmer owned reserve and government-owned stocks and will be distributed to farmers during the normal harvest period.

The payment-in-kind will be in terms of #1 wheat, #2 yellow corn, #2 grain sorghum. Crum said farmers entering PIK with outstanding reserve or regular price support loans must make the commodities under loan available to the extent of their PIK, to the Commodity Credit Corporation for use in the program in return for liquidation of their loans. "They cannot forfeit or redeem their commodities under the loan and then draw additional commodities from CCC Stocks," he said. Loans which mature before producers receive their payment-in-kind will be extended and storage will be paid from maturity until receipt of the PIK.

USDA officials estimate that PIK will reduce total wheat, corn and sorghum production by 10 percent. When excess supplies are reduced to a level which is more in line with demand, the program will go out of existence.

"Strong participation by farmers in Maryland is important and necessary to help make the program work," the ASCS official said. The signup period ends March 11.

Maryland Corn Stocks Higher

Corn stored in Maryland on January 1, 1983, totaled 44.4 million bushels, three percent more than a year earlier, but one percent below the record 44.9 million bushels in storage January 1, 1977. Corn stored on farms, at 26.1 million bushels, was 16 percent more than a year earlier, also at a record level. Commercial off-farm facilities held 18.3 million bushels of corn, 12 percent below last year.

Maryland's producers had 3.6 million bushels of soybeans in storage on the first of the year, 45 percent above the year earlier total of 2.5 million bushels.

Barley in all facilities on January 1 amounted to 1.7 million bushels, 65 percent more than a year earlier. The barley in off-farm storage increased from 334,000 bushels last year to almost one million bushels this year.

Wheat stocks decreased considerably; just over a million bushels were in storage this year compared with almost two million a year earlier.

Oats in storage in all positions totaled 745,000 bushels compared with 662,000 a year earlier. Seventy-one percent of the oats stored were on farms.

Jazz Guitarists To Perform At GCC On Monday

The first performance of the Highlands Concert Series this year will be a concert by Aaron and Joel Marcus, jazz guitarists, on February 28 at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College.

The program will include a variety of original and well-known rock, jazz, folk, classical, country, and pop music. The Marcus brothers, who bill themselves as "musicians, singers, and song writers," have performed widely on college campuses throughout the country and have recorded radio and television commercials. For three seasons they worked at Art Park in New York where artists from around the world give performances and workshops. Last year they were selected by the Mid Atlantic States Art Consortium to be part of its 1981-82 season.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door, with special reduced rates for students, senior citizens, and members of the Garrett County Arts Council. Anyone desiring ticket information should call Joan Crawford at the college, 387-6666.

The Marcus brothers concert is being sponsored by the Humanities Division of the College and the Garrett County Arts Council.

GCMH Personnel Attend Seminar

Three persons representing Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently attended an advanced seminar on quality assurance and risk management sponsored by the Maryland Hospital Education Institute.

Successfully completing the one-day program were Charlotte Bock, R.N., director of nursing; Karen Richmond, assistant director of nursing; and George B. Stoltzfus, M.D., chairman of the quality assurance committee.

The seminar was held at Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore and focused on management responsibilities in monitoring patient care. It brought the health professionals up to date on ways to report on and examine specific questions about patient care and how to improve that care within the hospital.

Faculty for the program was Steven L. Salman, an executive with the Sisters of Charity Health Care Systems and a former president of the American Society of Hospital Risk Management.

The Maryland Hospital Education Institute is a nonprofit nongovernment educational arm of the Maryland Hospital Association.

The Institute was founded by the hospitals of Maryland as a vehicle for providing hospital managers, physicians, nurses, technical personnel and trustees with a broad range of educational experiences to further professional skill and institutional quality. The seminar was presented as part of the Institute's ongoing Quality Assurance/Risk Management Program with the support of Maryland's own U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Corporation.

County Charges Union President With Wood Theft

The president of the local union for some 200 Garrett County road workers has been charged in the county District Court with theft and unauthorized use of a county vehicle for allegedly taking stolen wood to his home using a county truck.

James Baker, Rt. 2, Frostburg, was suspended and subsequently dismissed from his truck driver's job with the county roads department two weeks ago by the county commissioners. The criminal charges were filed against him Wednesday by the roads department administrator, Ken Metheny. The truckload of wood in question was taken from the county right of ways and was to be used to fire the furnace at the roads department garage in Grantsville, according to court documents.

The incident allegedly occurred on February 4 when Baker used a county truck during work hours to haul wood equal to a ¾-ton pickup load. Metheny was instructed by the commissioners to file the charges, Commissioner Elwood Groves said this morning.

Harold Fox, the Western Maryland union representative, called the actions taken against Baker, "highly unusual and vindictive in nature," and said the actions showed "a lack of temperance on the part of those making the decisions."

He further stated county officials did not address the situation through the proper channels.

Fox said a hearing was held on the matter before the county commissioners in their capacity as the roads board during which there was an agreement on a statement of facts between the county and union representatives Fox and attorney Ken Niman. Fox objects to the actions subsequent to that hearing including Baker's discharge and the criminal charges which he termed as an "overreaction."

The union has appealed the matter to the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. "We intend to vigorously defend Baker against both the administrative actions and criminal charges," Fox said.

Regarding Baker, Fox said his work record was "exemplary" with no criminal charges.

At the advice of their legal counsel, the commissioners have declined comment on the case or response to Fox's statements.

The case is expected to be tried sometime in April in District Court.

Clear and cool tonight. Lows in the upper 20s. Sunny and warm Thursday. Highs in the low 60s.

Fair Friday through Sunday.

OPTIMISTIC GALANTHUS NIVALIS, more commonly addressed as snowdrops or woodland anemones, have been encouraged by the sun's warmth this past week to venture aboveground. The welcome spring sight is destined to cheer the hearts of the citizens who have had enough of a landscape of grays and browns and are longing for glimpses of green growth. The dainty, bell-like flowers offer a distinctive fragrance cheering to the olfactory senses of the many who may be tired of the smell of wood smoke. The sight of these optimistic blooms is also encouraging to those who long for mild weather so that outdoor activities may resume. Photo by Craig Phillips

Board Oks Local Portion Of Loan To Accident Firm

The Garrett County Commissioners have approved an allocation of $10,000 as the local match of a $50,000 Tri-County Council of Western Maryland revolving loan to Atlee Snyder, Deep Creek Lake, for operating expenses at a van conversion company in Accident.

The firm is expected to employ about five people at its facility in the Central Garrett Industrial Park, Accident.

The commissioners indicated the allotment will be the last loan matched by the county this fiscal year.

The Tri-County Council revolving loan committee conditionally approved the loan in January. The loan fund was started with county money and a $500,000 federal Economic Development Administration grant.

To date, most of the initial capital has been allocated in loans to businesses in Allegany and Garrett counties. Several firms are now repaying loans. Money repaid and interest accrued will be used for additional loans.

Kutchman's Counsel Answers With Demurrer In Response To Lawsuit

A $12 million lawsuit filed in Garrett County Circuit Court against George Kutchman, General Superintent of the Mettiki Coal Corporation by Brian R. Sanders, a former employee of the mining complex, whose right arm was dismembered just below the shoulder in January of 1982, has been preliminarily answered by Kutchman through the legal counsel of Ralph M. Burnett, Michael Esher Yaggy, and Carl F. Ameringer.

In a demurrer filed on Kutchman's behalf, the attorneys have said, in effect, that the charges of negligence, as well as wanton and reckless conduct against Kutchman should have been filed against Mettiki Coal Company, who was Sander's employer, and not Kutchman, himself.

Sanders alleges in his suit against the mine supervisor, with Mapco's knowledge, ran an unsafe workplace, and threatened or punished any employees who complained.

The suit further alleges that Kutchman was well aware of the dangerous, defective, and unsafe beltline in which Sander's limb was severed, but ordered the use of the beltline for nearly two years. A separate allegation in the suit claims that Kutchman reportedly threatened several Mettiki employees with reassignment, layoff, or complete discharge if they attempted to help Sanders or his counsel in pursuit of any litigation against him.

Sanders also filed an identical suit against Mapco, Inc., Tulsa, Okla., the parent company, making similar allegations.

Counsel for Sanders reported that both cases have now raised legal questions which must be reviewed by the court before actual points of the suits can be argued. A hearing date on the legal questions has not been set.

Byron Cosponsors Bill To Repeal Withholding Law

Sixth District Representative Beverly Byron has cosponsored legislation which would repeal the automatic 10% tax withholding provision on dividend and interest income enacted by Congress last year.

"I am concerned about the disincentive to saving posed by the withholding provision," Mrs. Byron said. "After a long decline, the savings rate of Americans finally started to rise again. We do not want to stop this positive trend by retaining a law that can only discourage people from saving.

"Another problem is the additional burden placed on low-income and senior citizens who qualify for exemptions to automatic withholding. There is no need to force these individuals to trouble themselves with the extra paperwork," she remarked.

Byron cosponsored H.R. 500, introduced by Rep. Norman D'Amours of New Hampshire. "One of the virtues of this bill is its simplicity," Congresswoman Byaron added. "This measure repeals the withholding provision from the bill passed last year without making any other change. I will work hard for its prompt and favorable consideration in Congress."

Coal Co. Petitions To Be Respondent In Appeal Case

Buffalo Coal Company and several property owners in the Short Run watershed have petitioned to intervene as party respondents in the appeal of the Bureau of Mines' decision not to designate the watershed as an area unsuitable for surface mining.

Subsequently, Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred Thayer has ordered Shallmar residents, whose attorney, Linda Golden with Sullivan & Sullivan, PA, Cumberland, filed the appeal of the Bureau's decision in the circuit court on January 24, to show cause by March 18 why the petitioners should not be allowed to intervene.

If granted the petition, Buffalo Coal and the property owners would be able to defend the Bureau of Mines decision released December 17, says Dwight Stover, an Oakland attorney who represents property owners Jesse Walker, Caroline Wilson and the Lesdan Realty Co. A Cumberland attorney, William Walsh, represents the coal company. All but the realty company were allowed to intervene in the October 19 public hearing to hear the Shallmar residents' original petition for the unsuitable strip mining designation.

The coal company plans to strip mine an area in the watershed along Short Run, the water source for Shallmar residents, and above Shallmar. The property owners have land within the area to be mined.

The petitioners also filed a motion raising a preliminary objection on the appeal, saying the circuit court lacks jurisdiction to hear the case. The Department of Natural Resources, who are the defendants in the case, also argued in its response to the appealants' charges, the court has no jurisdiction.

In their petition for appeal, the Shallmar residents charge the Bureau of Mines for violating its own regulations in providing public information on the case as well as in its procedure for the public hearing, made an improper decision and exceeded its statutory authority by allowing the director of the Bureau to act as the hearing officer.

Advisory Board Asks DNR For Yough River Plan

Department of Natural Resources personnel have been asked by the Youghiogheny River Advisory Board to present the general goals and outline of a river management plan which might be adapted for use for the Yough.

That decision was reached at the February 23 advisory board meeting. Once again, there was no quorum and Col. R.C. Browning, chairman, has requested that the county commissioners use their influence to reduce the number from 14 to seven members.

Seven members are required by law, which also requires that two members be owners of land contiguous to the river. Browning indicated that the current membership does not fulfill that requirement. He also said that the non-voting membership should be expanded to include Garrett County planner Tim Dugan.

During the meeting, the DNR

GCC Trustees Sued By Former Dean Of Students

Dr. Jan W. Janssen, one of seven administrative and staff level employees of Garrett Community College dismissed last fall under a college reorganization plan, has sued the seven-member college Board of Trustees for breach of contract.

The suit, filed Wednesday in Garrett County Circuit Court by Michael Morrissette of Barse & Morrissette, an Oakland law firm, claims Janssen was dismissed from his position of Dean of Students without cause and in violation of his contract.

The suit requests a summary judgment as a matter of law on grounds there is no dispute to any material of fact. It also seeks an award of $25,000 to Janssen. Janssen has also asked for a jury trial.

In court documents filed in the case, Janssen describes the sequence of events leading to his dismissal effective on January 1, 1983, prior to the contract expiration date of June 31, 1983. Janssen was informed of his dismissal verbally on November 17, 1982, and later in a written memorandum from GCC interim president Randall Harman.

Harman's memo stated: "Due to the financial condition of the College, it has been decided that a reorganization of the College must be accomplished by January 1, 1983. This reorganization does not include a Dean of Students position as those functions will be absorbed by other administrative units."

GCC officials did not receive copies of the suit until Tuesday and declined comment on the case. The trustees have until March 22 to file an answer to the case says their attorney, Ralph Burnett of Burnett, Eiswert, Crawford & James, an Oakland Law firm.

The termination of seven administrative and staff level employees was part of a reorganization plan devised to reduce administrative costs at GCC. The terminations came soon after the resignation of GCC's president, Dr. Donald

Harman Might Be Next GCC Head

Although nothing is official, the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees may soon be naming interim president Randall Harman as the next college president to succeed Donald Ruhl. Ruhl resigned at the request of the Board on November 8, 1982.

Board chairman William Goldsborough stated this week the board has no plans to form a presidential search committee and is leaning towards naming Harman as president, at least for the next contract year beginning in July 1983.

Harman, who has served as interim president since Ruhl's resignation, has overseen the college's staff reorganization and budget revision to pull the college out of recent financial problems.

"We think Harman is doing an excellent job," said Goldsborough.

School Superintendent Releases 1984 Budget Recommendations

Fisacal 1984 budget recommendations from Dr. Jerome Ryscavage for the Garrett County schools were unveiled at a County Council of PTAs meeting Thursday night, revealing that the board will seek an additional $740,000 from the county commissioners for schools.

The proposal, which will be acted upon by the five-member Board of Education at its March meeting, asks $5,729,806 from the county this year. Last year the board requested $5,408,310 and received $4,973,500.

The county increase is approximately 15 percent above what was received last year. The recommendations listed by Dr. Ryscavage reflect only the monies sought by from the county and state sources and do not include an estimated $1,247,755 expected from federal sources. State aid for fiscal 1984 is expected to be $6,415,004, an increase of 2.9 percent over last year. Total budget last year was $12,634,333, while this year's costs are estimated at $13,609,760, a 7.7 percent increase.

The Garrett County Commissioners plan to issue their 1984 budget directive within the next two weeks, according to a spokesman for that office.

Dr. Ryscavage's budget recommends re-deployment of eight teachers, two each from Bloomington, Dennett Road, Kitzmiller and Red House, where the teacher/pupil ratio is lowest. These teachers could then be deployed as follows: one at Broad Ford, one at Crellin and perhaps one at Yoder. He is also recommending another guidance counselor at Southern Middle; one half-time special education teacher at Northern High and one media aide at Accident. The balance of teachers not re-deployed as suggested above would be used to fill needs which the board cannot anticipate at this time.

Teachers Salary

Computing the rate of inflation last year at 3.94 percent, Dr. Ryscavage and his staff have recommended that all employees get a flat rate salary increase. This would mean teachers would receive $700; certificated administrators $580 plus the increment from the new salary scale; non-certificated administrators $840; psychologists and physical therapists $580 plus new scale; secretaries $460; 12-month maintenance personnel $500; 10-month maintenance $970; cafeteria personnel $320; aides $290; and hourly employees $.17 per hour.

Fringe benefit changes recommend that costs of group hospitalization be raised to $55 per month for dependent coverage and major medical coverage be raised to a maximum of $500,000.

Personnel and benefits account for approximately 70 percent of the budget, with transportation accounting for another 10 percent; 3.8 percent goes for instructional supplies, six percent for utilities; and 1.4 percent for tuition to cover costs of county students attending schools in Allegany County; and seven percent, miscellaneous.

Dr. Ryscavage then introduced Al Ringer, supervisor for curriculum and instruction, and James Lupis assistant supervisor for administrative services, who pointed out some of the more dramatic increases and their necessity.

One of the main areas which is estimated to have higher costs is instructional equipment, going from $57,000 to the requested $99,490 for this year. Most of the increase will provide for microcomputers so county students can become familiar with computers and their applications.

One area where costs declined dramatically was in health equipment, where $2,125 was needed last year to purchase special lights to detect lice, and no similar purchases are anticipated this year.

Contracted services for transportation will jump from $1,363,361 to $1,434,447, mainly due to purchase of new buses to eliminate use of those which are 10 to 12 years old.

Under maintenance, supplies and materials are expected to jump from $54,863 to $93,000. Some $35,000 of this will be needed to correct fire code violations and this amount is not even half of the total needed to bring schools into compliance. So far the school system has not

Commissioners To Decide Fate Of Lake Project

The Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a hearing Monday, March 14, at 7 p.m., in the Circuit Court chamber in the old section of the Courthouse to decide whether or not to proceed with the Deep Creek Lake sewerage project.

The board received a petition signed by 29 property owners in the lake sanitary district requesting that the commissioners halt the project. Those in opposition and those in favor of the project will be given equal time to testify, and the meeting will consist of testimony only rather than questions and answers.

The petition was presented on Friday, the final day to file such a request, by members of the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake.

Deer Park Man Imprisoned For Sexual Violations

In a trial before Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer on Thursday, a Deer Park man, Charles Junior Paugh, 51, was sentenced to five years with the department of correction on charges of a sexual offense and asault against a 12-year-old child in August of last year.

Paugh had been released from jail on another sexual offense charge just 19 days prior to the attack.

According to the file, the child was molested in the family auto, and then later in a wooded area near her home.

A COURT OF HONOR was held Sunday at St. Peter's Catholic Church for the purpose of conferring the rank of Eagle Scout upon David Stonesifer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stonesifer, Oakland. David has been in scouting for nine years and has served the past 18 months as Senior Patrol Leader of Oakland Troop 31 and as a member of the Order of Arrow for Potomac Council, BSA. He is a junior at Southern High School and a member of St. Peter's Church. For his Eagle service project, he coordinated the transfer of the Emergency Food Pantry from the Garrett County Community Action facilities to the House of Hope. This involved the clearing of space and building of shelves, as well as the moving of food and emergency fuel wood. He is presently considering a career in forestry. In the photo, left to right, front row, are Glenn and Barbara Stonesifer, David's parents; David; and Darrell Spence, Deep Creek District Aid. In the second row are Delegate George C. Edwards; John Smith, scoutmaster of Troop 31; and Maryland Senator John Bambacus.

Dateline: Annapolis

Sen. John Bambacus and Del. George Edwards have withdrawn from their respective sections of the legislature a bill which would have changed the rules concerning the Garrett County Liquor Control Board.

The bill, which would have made the Garrett County Commissioners responsible for setting the license fee structure, was opposed by the commissioners. In a press conference Tuesday, the three commissioners agreed that they have no intention of sitting as the liquor control board, although in general they have no other complaints with the bill as long as county revenues would not be affected.

Del. George Edwards also indicated that the bill was opposed through a letter from William R. Pyle, director of the alcohol and tobacco tax division for the state, concerning technicalities in the measure which relate to state law.

Commissioner John Braskey indicated that he was in support of the legislation, although he feels that a more satisfactory result could be achieved if the legislators and board of commissioners sit down to devise another measure.

In addition to making the commissioners responsible for setting the rate structure, the bill would have eliminated the ten percent surcharge on Class D licenses while setting a minimum of $800 as the annual fee. The surcharge would have been phased out in two over a two-year period.

Compensation for the liquor control board members would have dropped from $2,000 to $600 as their powers would be reduced to simply granting or denying liquor licenses.

Yough River Bill

The bill which would return control of the Youghiogheny River to the county commissioners will be heard March 9 before the Economic Affairs Committee in the senate. This is SB 544 and HB 1312.

Although the bill has the support of most of the Yough Advisory Board members and the county commissioners, both the Department of Natural Resources and the Trout Unlimited organization are opposing the measure.

Earlier this week, Sen. Bambacus had a meeting with Frank Oslislo, director of the wild and scenic rivers program for Department of Natural Resources, and Oslislo said his department is not opposed to the "spirit of the bill." He also noted that their concerns may be addressed through amendments to the bill introduced by Sen. Bambacus.

In a statement this morning, Sen. Bambacus said that he and all concerned "are really trying to work this out. After seven years of acrimony I feel we can work together to look out for the rights of the property owners and to protect the river. I am looking forward to getting this resolved through legislation or by legislative oversight." The legislative oversight referred to is the obligation of the legislative body to see that legislation is carried out in the counties.

Bambacus has also had meetings with representatives of Trout Unlimited and the Maryland League of Conservation Voters concerning their opposition to the measure.

Both Sen. Bambacus and Del. E. George Edwards have been receiving numerous letters in opposition to the Yough River legislation, mostly from persons who do not live in the county.

School Board Opposes Bill

Although members of the Garrett County Board of Education were unable to attend a hearing on House Bill 529 on February 22, the board has written a letter to Sen. John Bambaucs stating its opposition to the measure. HB 529 and its Senate companion SB 328 would alter the membership of the Board of Education to include a member of the county commissioners as a non-voting member able to attend both regular meetings and executive sessions.

In his letter to Helen Koss, chairperson of the House Committee on Constitutional and Administrative Law, Board Secretary and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage said that the board feels that existing laws pertaining to operation of public schools are clear in defining the role of local school boards as the primary advocate for the education of youngsters. He noted that the board feels that both the role of the commissioners as the fiscal authority and the role of the board could be nullified should a commissioner serve on the board.

The letter continued by saying that the board feels that adequate avenues of communication were open between both bodies and that this communication has been expanded by the superintendent of schools attending monthly staff meetings and a commissioner serving as the official representative to board of education meetings.

The vote was four to one in opposition to the bill.

At a press conference on Tuesday, Commissioner Ernie Gregg said that he felt the attitude of the board bordered on paranoia. There was also some discussion about actual communication between the two bodies, as the board of education is slated to vote on the superintendent's budget proposal March 10, and the commissioners have not yet issued their directives concerning fiscal allocation expectations for the coming year.

Hearings Scheduled

There will be a hearing Monday, March 7, on SB 409 which raises the tax per ton of surface mined coal from 35 to 40 and extending the legislation until June 1988. This will be before the Budget and Taxation Committee.

Other measures slated for hearings next week include:

March 8, HB 1313, volunteer fire company, ambulance service, and rescue squad loan program before the Ways and Means committee; and SB 546, concerning the Public Service Commission—Interstate Rate Differential for adjoining states, before the Senate Economic Affairs Committee.

Hearings next Wednesday in addition to the Yough River measure will be SB 548, mine reclamation surcharge (proposal no. 1) adding a three-cent reclamation surcharge on each ton of coal strip mined, the money to be used for the coal open-pit mining reclamation fund, and adding a nine-cent surcharge per ton to be paid directly to the county fiscal authority.

SB 549, mine reclamation surcharge (proposal no. 2) would add a nine-cent surcharge per ton to go to the reclamation fund and a six-cent surcharge per ton to be paid to the county fiscal authority, will be heard on March 9.

HB 495, concerning the truck vendors' licenses in the county, will be heard Thursday, March 10, as will HB 496, which would alter the amusement licenses fee structure. Both of these hearings will be before the Economic Matters committee.

SB 667, introduced by Sen. Bambacus, will be heard March 11 before the Finance Committee. This proposal would add an additional $5 for each marriage license issued in Allegany and Garrett Counties to help fund battered spouse shelters and domestic violence programs.

Miscellaneous

There was a hearing at 8 p.m. Tuesday on SB 550 which calls for a volunteer fire company, ambulance service and rescue squad loan program. Sen. Bambacus said this morning that he was surprised and encouraged when representatives from Gov. Harry Hughes' office were present to testify in favor of the measure, since he had not seen this type of support before.

HB 226 concerning abolishing retail sales tax on diesel fuel for strip mine reclamation, has passed the House Ways and Means committee after being amended on a technicality, and this morning passed its first reading before the entire House.

HB 227 concerning bond forfeitures for strip mining has also passed its first reading before the entire House after be-

PROCLAIM GIRL SCOUT WEEK — The Garrett County Commissioners took official action Tuesday to make March 6 through 12 Girl Scout Week. In their proclamation, the commissioners note the assistance to development and prosperity that training and development of young people provide and pinpointed the development of ideals, leadership and performance the Girl Scouts promote as consistent with the American way of life. Girl Scouting is 71 years old now, and in observation of this event some 125 girls will attend a non-demoninational church service March 6, at 2 p.m., at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. Theme of the service will be "Friendship." Pictured above from left to right are Tammy Wolford, Cadette Troop 5027; Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Alison Graybill, Brownie Troop 5019; Commissioner Elwood Groves, Michelle Proudfoot, Junior Troop 5111; and Commissioner John Braskey.

Board, Attorney Issue Clarification On Vending Machine Installation

In a press conference Tuesday afternoon, the Garrett County Commissioners made a statement concerning Sheriff Frank Finch's efforts to obtain vending machines for county prisoners.

The commissioners had been receiving numerous calls and were involved in a great many conversations concerning an editorial which appeared in last week's Republican, castigating the board for their uncooperative attitude toward the vending machine installation.

As Commissioner Gregg stated Tuesday, "We are not trying to tell him (Sheriff Finch) how to run his department. As it turns out, we do have the legal responsibility for the machines."

As the sheriff's and commissioners' responsibilities are defined by county attorney Dwight Stover, the sheriff is responsible for the safety and feeding of prisoners and the safety of the jail. The commissioners are responsible for all fiscal matters.

Stover said he is convinced that any commercial activity such as installation of vending machines should be done through the commissioners in a spirit of cooperation with the sheriff's department. The sheriff is not in fact, as far as Stover could determine, authorized to engage in a business like that of vending machines.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg noted Tuesday that Sheriff Finch's reasons for the machines' installation were practical from a security standpoint. However, he said that a check with sheriff's officials in Allegany County show that cost of operation of such machines could be as high as $600 or $700 annually and that therefore profit is minimal.

Stover then recommended that any profits realized from operation of the machines should be sent directly to the county treasurer.

Before concluding their discussion of the vending machines, which apparently may remain in operation in the jail pending a trial period, Commissioner John Braskey said that the line of communication between the commissioners and the sheriff's department is definitely open and pointed out there are no hard feelings over the sheriff's failing to discuss the vending machine idea with the commissioners prior to having the machines installed. In fact, Braskey stated that Sheriff Finch had had a meeting with the commissioners on Thursday to list several new suggestions for improving fiscal and security situations at the jail.

Helicopter Crew Now Checking PE Power Lines

If you see a helicopter hovering over electric lines in this area, don't be alarmed.

It's part of Potomac Edison's preventive maintenance program for transmission and distribution lines to spot equipment that needs repair.

"We're looking for anything that might eventually cause a problem," according to PE Division Manager R. A. Roschli, "so we can dispatch a ground crew and repair it as quickly as possible. We think we have a superior record of electric reliability. This is one way to keep that record intact."

The helicopter, which carries a pilot and a PE observer noting and recording any problems, will patrol about 8,000 miles of line in the utility's three-state service area before mid-year.

"The helicopter patrol throughout the PE service area will cost about $90,000," says Roschli, "but the cost of foot patrol would be considerably greater. In addition, the helicopter can get within several feet of the line to spot potential problems that could not be detected easily from the ground."

State Police Probe Several Thefts

Maryland State Police investigated several thefts around the district during the week, including the loss of a pair of skis and poles from the Wisp Ski Area on February 25. Owner of the property was Steven John Crist, Cumberland.

A theft was reported to police on February 26 by Norman R. Fitzgerald, Bloomington. According to the victim, an unknown person or persons removed an eight-track tape player, a leather belt knife, and buckle from his vehicle.

A Motorcraft Battery and 14 gallons of gasoline were reported stolen from Bill's Marine Service, Deep Creek Lake, on February 21.

These thefts are under investigation, and no suspects have been named.

Balmy Weather Encouraging To Spring Flora

A progression of sunny mild days has led or misled the first frail leaves of spring flowers to venture above the ground. High temperature for the week was noted last Wednesday, when the mercury peaked at 60 degrees.

Overnight low was six degrees noted Saturday night.

Thursday's high was 44 after the preceding night's drop to 25. The same spot on the mercury was reached again on Friday after an overnight low of 24.

Friday night the mercuries plummeted to 11 degrees and high on Saturday was only 28. There was a trace of precipitation both Friday and Saturday.

Sunday had a relatively balmy high of 48 after the preceding night's frosty chill. Skies were sunny. Monday brought a high of 55 after the drop to 19 Sunday night. Monday night the mercury dropped only to 30 before climbing to a high Tuesday of 54 degrees. Tuesday night's low was 27.

The polls will be open at the city hall from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the 14th.

Councilmen who will keep their positions for another year are R. Mark Durst, James Evans and Terry Helbig. H.D. Swartzentruber is mayor.

ing amended to increase the amount of money above which the funds will go to DNR from $500,000 to $750,000. This is a one-time payment as spelled out in the procedures written into the bill.

Del. Edwards noted this morning that his budget subcommittee had completed its work on the state budget and the full committee will begin deliberations today. The Senate was expected to reduce the budget by $22 million (the amount of the requested "sin" tax increase) while the House was aiming to cut $38 million (the amount of the proposed "sin" tax increase and the three-cent property tax increase).

A full report on Del. Edward's budget committee findings will be released in the near future.

Del. Edwards also noted this week that he is extremely gratified by the amount of calls and correspondence he is receiving.

Save The Children . . .

Nearly 1,000 children under the age of five were killed and another 60,000 injured during 1981 as a result of automobile accidents. A child of that age is almost 50 times more likely to die in an auto mishap than from disease.

There is a piece of legislation currently on the floor in Annapolis which is guaranteed to reduce these tragically high numbers, perhaps by as much as 70 to 90 percent. The bill calls for the mandatory use of car safety seats for children under the age of three and of seat belts for children between the ages of three and five. The penalty for non-compliance is a $25 fine, which is waived if the person charged acquires a safety seat.

Eighteen states, just in the past few years, have enacted similar legislation and it is pending in six more states, including Maryland. The law has proven to be most beneficial in reducing the number of deaths in those 18 states.

Some persons believe that an adult holding a child in his or her lap while riding in a car can provide adequate protection in the event of an accident. They are just fooling themselves, however, because a ten-pound baby, for example, involved in a crash of only 30 miles per hour will be traveling with a force of approximately 300 pounds, a weight that most people could not hold in their arms.

Of the 16 children under age five killed in 1981 in Maryland, not a single one of them was restrained in a child safety seat.

Numerous letters explaining the legislation and urging persons to support it with phone calls and letters to legislators were mailed out Friday to citizens from the Garrett County Health Department. Garrett County has, for nearly three years, participated in a safety seat loan program called Project KISS (Kids in Safety Seats), coordinated by Roxanne Reed, director of Child Health. Persons unable to afford seats may borrow them through this program. We appreciate the efforts of Mrs. Reed and others involved in the program, and we also urge the citizenry to support this legislation. Three different surveys have shown that approximately two-thirds of the public is in favor of mandatory child restraint.

If just one precious life is saved, won't it have been worth it?

What's in a column?

by Carol Fox

Some editorial columns are controversial. Some are humorous (though not, we hope, at the expense of others!) and some, well . . .

Some are harder to write than others! That's the way it is.

This space has been devoted to a wide-ranging field of subjects that have varied from appeals for justice, to outcries against mismanagement, to lighter subjects—such as the frequently hilarious mistakes made by headline writers.

Sometimes, this page and the opinions expressed here make readers angry. This is especially true when a person or organization is the focus of an editorial. Feelings are hurt, old wounds are exposed, or, sometimes, the subject matter appears to be one-sided!

Indeed! Editorial statements are, quite rightly, the "flip-side" of the newspaper business—for their purpose is to share the opinions and personal beliefs of the writer. Often such an opinion is given an even greater weight—that of the "official" position of the newspaper. In most cases, the thoughts expressed here are the fair comment of the writer on the views of the day, and should be understood as a personal view.

Why? Perhaps the best summary of the purpose of editorial opinions was given some years ago by the late Max Lerner:

"In any contest of opinion (the news writer) has the obligation to state, as fairly as he knows how, the opposing viewpoints. At the same time . . . he has the obligation to set forth his own position honestly and forthrightly as his own, regardless of the consequences."

That's why we write, and you read, these opinions every week. Because, as Lerner sums it up: "His responsibility is to his craft and to the integrity of his mind."

Letters To Editor

To the Editor:

Before I say anything, I would like to make it clear that I'm writing this letter from a neutral stand-point. I don't attend Northern or Southern High Schools. However, I witnessed the so-called "game" between these arch rivals on Monday, February 21.

I feel that this game was a display of unsportsmanlike conduct and sheer rudeness on the part of particularly the Southern cheerleaders and fans. One cheerleader is largely responsible for the disruption of the Northern fans. She wasn't cheering for the team, she was only out to upset Northern fans as much as possible. I think there should have been a stop to it long before the referee spoke to them.

I am all for team spirit, but I think there is a point at which team spirit stops and rudeness begins. Booing Northern's cheerleaders while on the court is only one example I can think of.

I'll take this opportunity to commend Northern's cheerleaders and fans for their great self-control and handling of the situation. I think Southern should take a few lessons from Northern on how to act civilized and let the basketball players play the game instead of the cheerleaders and fans.

Congratulations Southern, on winning the game. I only wish it would have been under better circumstances.

Thank you,
Name withheld by request

To the Editor:

This letter is to every citizen of Garrett County who has a pet and is cruel to it.

We have no SPCA to protect the defenceless creatures, so maybe I can reach you through this public plea. Every day we hear of children being mistreated, but we have the Welfare Board to protect them. Who is going to protect the mistreated animal? Are they so different from your children? Are they not dependent on you to feed and shelter them?

For two weeks I have watched my neighbor be very cruel to their puppy. If you don't want it, take it to the animal shelter. They will try to find a good home for it. They don't have the authority to take it from you, which is a shame, because you don't deserve to have a pet in your possession. I'm sure this isn't the only unwanted pet, but I see this one every day and my heart aches for it.

Can't someone do something to prevent this terrible thing from happening? Animals, like children, don't ask to be brought into this world so why make them suffer?

If you are being cruel to your pet, you know who you are. Please try to change your ways and at least start feeding the little creature every day and maybe give him a bale of straw to keep him warm during these freezing cold nights.

An Animal Lover

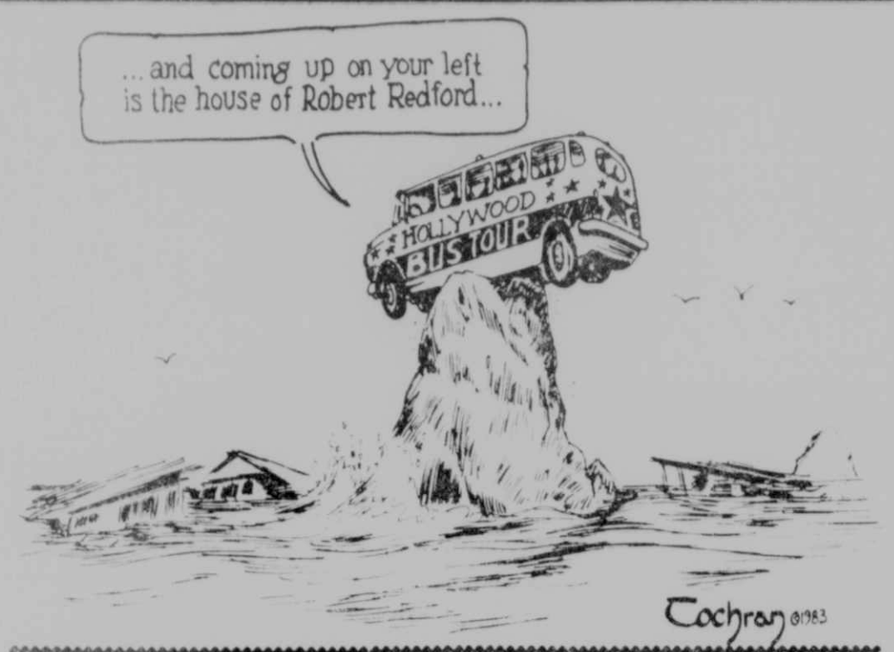
To the Editor:

In recent weeks the County Commissioners have turned down government grant money, which would provide housing for the poor.

Are we now about to witness the acceptance of grant money for the proposed Deep Creek Sewerage System, which would end up taxing the poor, as well as citizens in general, to mainly aid the Commercial and most affluent interests of Deep Creek Lake?

My main concern is for the best interest of the citizens of Garrett County.

Sincerely,
G.K. Hixon



To the Editor:

It infuriates me to read that every time something isn't passed or that a price is raised, the coal miners are blamed for it. Sure coal miners make good money, but have you ever worked or seen where they work to make it?

I have two sons, four nephews, two brothers-in-law and one uncle who work in the mines. I am sure that between them they pay enough state and federal tax to help keep several of the government programs mentioned in last week's paper going.

Please give the miners a break and start blaming something else for awhile. It's not fun to work where they work; try it before you judge too severely.

Board Conducts Hearings On Dog, Bridge Ordinances

The Garrett County Commissioners conducted two public hearings Tuesday afternoon, back-to-back, involving a proposed county bridge ordinance and a proposed county dog ordinance.

The proposed dog ordinance at 2 p.m. drew the larger crowd of citizens who made comments about the ordinance which includes provisions for rules and regulations for the sale of dog licenses, the keeping of records of the license and the enforcement of the regulations.

Approximately 20 citizens attended including a group of farmers who emphasized the need for an ordinance particularly to help control packs of dogs which damage livestock.

Comments from others included the need to launch a public information program to alert dog owners of their responsibilities and the need for increased authority for the county dog warden.

The commissioners announced they would conduct a second public hearing on the ordinance on Tuesday, March 15, and welcomed citizen comment in writing.

Six citizens attended the first public hearing at 1:30 p.m. on the proposed bridge ordinance which establishes rules for use of county bridges. There were no major recommendations for changes in the draft, but the commissioners stated they would hold the record open for citizen comment until March 8.

School Budget

been fined for the violations since attempts are made to comply as soon as possible.

Ringer also pointed out that the administrators are trying to put textbook purchases on five-year cycles.

Lupis pointed out that although the county commissioners appear to be saving $900 monthly by discontinuing several dumpster sites, the schools must now contract with someone to haul trash and garbage from the schools which are no longer on BFI routes.

When questioned on this subject Tuesday, the commissioners said that they had sent a letter to the board, saying that if they had any questions, they could contact their office. No questions were raised, nor did the board of education seek to use any of the metal collection boxes now in storage at BFI.

The commissioners also indicated that they understand the board is constructing wooden boxes for trash, at a cost of approximately $300 each.

Under fixed charges, costs of retirement and social security, leave, health, accident and life insurance and property/liability insurance and other categories are expected to jump from $821,847 to $985,350 this year.

Capital outlay projects will cost $197,550 this year compared to $150,000 last year, partly because of the need to remove asbestos from areas at several schools. Schools containing asbestos are the Dennett Road boiler room, Southern High School boiler room, one section of the Southern cafetorium, and one area of the boiler room at Northern High School. Other schools have been slated to receive $1,000 each for fencing, blacktopping, etc.

At this time, the school administrators expect a $217,195 balance from the previous year's budget which could be used as a contingency fund if necessary. However, $44,070 of the amount can be used only for transportation.

Dr. Ryscavage's recommendations in the various categories are as follows, with last year's approved budget given first and then the fiscal 1984 budget request:

Administration, $482,860, $516,786; instruction, $6,155,221, $6,596,391; pupil services, $94,111, $96,142; health, $5,975, $3,150; transportation, $1,529,085, $1,634,313; operations, $1,291,517, $1,369,992; maintenance, $241,943, $300,907; fixed charges, $821,847, $985,350; food services, $5,900, $5,900; capital outlay, $150,000, $197,550; special education, $644,303, $655,524.

In Garrett, the county provides slightly less than 40 percent of the budget, while in some other counties in the state, the local share is as much as 60 percent.

Ruhl, who was asked to resign or be fired by the trustees.

At the same time the trustees accepted Ruhl's resignation, they also declared a state of financial exigency, a legal action which theoretically allows the college to terminate unexpired contracts because of financial problems. The action has been upheld in courts across the United States, but has not been thoroughly tested in Maryland, Burnett said.

Concrete is a cold, hard and unforgiving surface. Whatever happened to roller skating rinks with wooden floors? That was hard enough as it was—but concrete?

For my years, I should be wiser, but I went rolling skating after a hiatus of at least 10 years. I looked like a combination of Rudolph Nureyev and "Gumby."

Children should not be allowed in roller rinks if they are to be allowed to stand there and snigger while adults suffer bodily injury at the wheels of a pair of Chicago skates. One little tot expertly followed me around proclaiming, each time I fell, "Mister, you're funny."

For some inexplicable reason, they allow, yes, even encourage, shopping carts on the roller rink. Persons who are not adept skaters push these carts around while resembling crazed shoppers. One young lady mercilessly pursued me at a breakneck speed with her cart and I ended up in the toddler's seat.

Another thing I don't like about roller rinks is the odor . . . let's face it, roller rinks smell like feet. Now if you find the smell of feet as offensive as I do, then please explain why I offended everyone there when I sprinkled baby powder in their shoes.

I'm of the opinion that skating rinks should have specified days for "Experts," and other days for "Comedians." It's not so much that I mind little children surpassing me, but one elderly couple glided past, executed a tour jete and finished in a sit-spin. I fell down in appreciation.

Perhaps there's a recording studio somewhere that makes soundtracks for skating rinks—I'm not sure, but they all play the same music. If I never hear "McArthur's Park" played on a pipe organ again, it will be too soon.

I, from the time I was a child, have lived in fear that someday I would turn over my shoes to the little lady at the counter in exchange for a pair of rental skates, and she would lose my shoes. I mean, what would you do?

Skating was loads more fun when I was a kid growing up in the city. Back then we all had street skates which clamped on your shoes. Lending a girl your roller skate key was tantamount to an engagement. Then, we didn't like girls and we didn't trust them with our secrets or our skate keys. Today, we like girls and we still don't trust them with our secrets or our car keys.

No, I dont' think I'll skate ever again. I'm just going to sit here and wait for all the women drivers in the world to send me irate letters.

Second Impression

What are you doing on Friday?

by Harry Fox

Friday, March 4, will come and go without much notice in most places. Millions of men and women will go about their daily tasks; schools will be open, banks and stores will carry on business-as-usual. Friday, March 4, is not really a special day—

Except that on Friday, millions of Christian women throughout the world will gather, as they have for 95 consecutive years, to share in a day of prayer. They will come from many different places, many different cultures, in churches down the street and around the world, to share that which draws them together—their faith.

On that day millions of believers will celebrate their common weaknesses and their shared strength—the thin thread of unity that runs, like a chain of joined hands, throughout the human family. For the sponsors, the Church Women United, Friday is a time to rediscover the power of faith to bind so many different needs, fears and hopes together.

This is a world where it is so easy to divide—Arabs and Israelis, Russians and Chinese, nations where racial and ethnic tension boils and threatens to sweep the helpless, the hapless, both victims and oppressors.

Those who observe such a World Day of Prayer do so in their weakness. It is theirs to discover that the thing which unites is greater than all the things which divide.

It is no easy, naive act, this day of prayer. It is not a time to flee into the church—into a dream world of stained glass and padded seats, of great organs and beautiful music, to sooth and make the mind drowsy with distractions.

Friday is a day to confront our faults, to look in honesty at a troubled world, and a moment to seek forgiveness, guidance and new purpose.

Friday is a day for people with the courage to give up their labels, their defenses, their separateness. It is a day to look clearly at our neighbors, to see women and men like us, brothers and sisters.

Perhaps this Friday is a day of work. Perhaps the day is full of things to do. But, take a moment to stop, to look, to listen. Remember the women who gather to pray, seeking unity in their differentness, finding their faith to be stronger than the things which divide.

staffers voiced disappointment that the advisory board has not devised a workable and satisfactory plan, while the advisory board members pointed to the law which requires the DNR planners and staff to devise a management plan. The DNR contends that it would be a waste of time to construct such a plan without step by step guidance from the advisory board, so that the end result will not be rejected or extensively modified by that board.

Commissioner Elwood Groves, who is the commissioner's representative on the advisory board, noted that the three commissioners are in agreement with reducing the number of members required on the board.

There was also some discussion about SB 544 and HB 1312 which would change the designation of the Yough River from scenic and wild to all scenic, via a plan to be developed. The bill would place control of the river in the hands of the board of county commissioners.

DNR's Isedora Ballard, chief of the scenic rivers program for the state, asked those present to write at least one objective they feel should be addressed in such a plan. She also pointed out that it generally takes six months before DNR planners can come up with a complete river regulation plan.

Police Called

During a heated discussion over who is responsible for writing a plan and what the plan should contain, an altercation broke out between Bryson (Rusty) Thomas and a member of one of the rafting firms which use the river for commercial purposes. A member of the Maryland State Police was called but no charges were filed against either of the two.

According to the police report filed by Tfc. Chester Miller, Thomas was overheard by Dion Patrick Carroll to have making a remark in opposition to using the river for commercial rafting.

Carroll apparently challenged Thomas by saying "How are you going to stop it—patrol the banks with a shotgun?" And Thomas reportedly responded, "No, a rifle." At this point Carroll called the police and Tfc. Miller conducted an investigation but found that no direct threat or assault had been made.

Two Arrested

A Deer Park woman was arrested on theft, bad check and conspiracy charges by the Garrett County sheriff's department on February 24.

Juanita Lynn Clippinger was arrested by Deputy Charles Nolan following a three-week investigation of a case which also involves Charles Teter, who was arrested last week on similar charges.

The conspiracy allegedly involves efforts to defraud a number of Oakland merchants with bad checks, according to the report at the sheriff's office.

Clippinger is being held in lieu of $2,000 bond, while Teter is incarcerated on $6,000 bond.

Arrested On Fugitive Warrant

Arthur Rounds, Jr., 42, of Pennsylvania, was arrested by state police in this county and jailed February 28 on a fugitive warrant issued in Somerset County, Pa.

Tfc. Broadwater made the arrest with assistance from Deputy P. J. Pratt. Rounds was wanted on charges of aggravated assault, simple assault, theft and receiving stolen goods in conjunction with the assault on a Pennsylvania game warden and theft of his pistol.

Extradition processes were expected to begin today.

Dry Run Home Damaged By Fire

Bittinger volunteer firefighters fought an attic fire Saturday morning in the Dry Run area, department chief Ira Yaste reported Tuesday.

The fire department was called by Garrett Central Alarm at 7 a.m., to a flue fire at the home of Lester Durst.

When they arrived, they found Durst fighting to contain a blaze in his attic by spraying the area with water through a household hose.

Yaste said the attic caught fire when sparks flew from a small hole in the flue where mortar joint had crumbled.

The firefighters were on the scene approximately two hours.

A DONATION WITH NO PLACE TO GO — Northern High School student council members hold up results of student response to a recent appeal to collect product codes from labels of products which would be converted to free usage of kidney dialysis machines for patients who need the service. The students collected thousands of product codes as a result of a request to the student council, but now have no place to send them. The Kidney Foundation apparently no longer accepts them. Local persons who were making the requests say they are speechless. One woman, Mrs. Ethel Frantz, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., contributed 60,000 labels to the drive. The student council is prepared to donate the labels to any group or individual collecting the product codes. Pictured are left to right, Lisa Zuckerman, vice president of the NHS student council; Cindi Friend, treasurer, and Sheri Golden, member.

Will Meet Bruce

Rams Whip Mt. Savage In Playoff Opener After Edging Golden Tornado

The Southern Rams concluded their regular season Friday evening with a 57-56 nipping of Keyser on the West Virginians' floor and then took that momentum into the first round of the Region I Class C playoffs at Allegany High School on Monday to defeat Mt. Savage, 64-50. The 15-8 Rams, seeded third in the playoffs, will face second-seeded Bruce this evening in semi-final action.

It was an uphill battle all the way against the Golden Tornado Friday evening for Coach Oren Yoder's squad, as the Rams fell behind in the opening moments of the contest and did not take the lead until the final moments. Keyser held an 18-15 advantage by the end of the first quarter and were on top 30-29 at intermission. The Rams were outscored in the third stanza by a 14-8 margin, but finally took control in the fourth period, mainly because the Keyser players could not manage to connect on their free throw opportunities.

Kevin Winters paced the Rams with 24 points on seven baskets and ten of 12 free tosses, while Rick Selders finished with 23 markers on ten buckets and three of four from the line.

Erick Green led Keyser with 15 points, Tom Hamilton hit 11 and Mark White finished with ten.

Southern was outgoaled by a 24-22 margin, but sunk 13 of 17 free throws, while Keyser hit only eight of 16. The loss dropped Keyser to 8-11.

The Rams turned the tables against Mt. Savage on Monday and led throughout the entire contest, moving out to a 22-15 lead by the end of the first quarter and taking a 37-31 advantage into the locker rooms at intermission. Southern was up 47-38 when the final stanza opened.

Winters again paced the Rams with 23 points on nine baskets and five of seven from the line. Selders finished with 12.

Eric Wisler was the top point-producer for the Indians, finishing with 16. Dave Reith and Dave Felker were close behind with 14 each.

The Rams outshot the Indians from the floor by a 23-21 margin and made good on 18 of 25 free throws, while Mt. Savage converted eight of 17.

The win was the sixth in a row for the Rams, who are defending their Region I crown from last season. If they defeat Bruce this evening, they will meet the winner of the Northern-Flintstone contest, also slated for this evening. Tip-off for the Southern-Bruce game is set for 6:30 p.m.

SNOWMOBILE CHAMP — Jeff Bernard won the annual Maryland State Championship and Maryland Governor's Cup snowmobile races held January 16 and February 6 respectively, at the McHenry fairgrounds and sponsored by the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company. Bernard was high point winner for both races with a total of 362 points and was awarded the overall high point trophy. He rode Arctic Cat and Polaris snowmobiles provided by Bill's Marine Service. This is the second year Bernard has ridden in the men's competition. Bernard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Skip Bernard, Deep Creek Lake.

Everhart Named To Second Team All-JUCO Squad

Eric Everhart, a freshman forward at Garrett Community College, was recently named to the All-Maryland JUCO Squad. Everhart was a second team selection after leading Garrett in numerous categories. He scored 482 points for a 20.0 average and collected 207 rebounds for an 8.9 average per contest.

The Maryland JUCO league is comprised of 18 teams and is considered one of the stronger conferences in the country. The league has been dominated by Baltimore CC and Allegany CC in recent years, both perennial national powers. Garrett finished the 82-83 season in third place and should be a strong contender for league honors next season as nine of the ten lettermen were freshmen.

Everhart is the first Garrett player to be named All-JUCO in recent years. Some of the previous Lakers chosen were Ken Niner in 1979 and Steve Liller in 1980.

Everhart attended Fairmont West High School where he was named to the first team All-State last year.

"I'm very happy for Eric," stated GCC head coach Tom Bosley. "He has worked very hard this season to improve all phases of his game. If he continues to work and improve, he could be one of the best players ever to play in the Maryland JUCO."

Everhart comes from a talented basketball family. His older brother, Ron, plays at Virginia Tech and his younger brother, Kevin, is one of the leading scorers in the state of West Virginia, averaging almost 25 points a game for Fairmont West High School. However, the best may still be coming. "I think Bobby Dee, an eighth grader, could be the best in the family," stated Eric.

To Face Aggies

Huskies Fall To Valley In Season Finale, Gain Revenge In Playoffs

The Northern Huskies faced Valley twice this past week, losing to the Black Knights in the regular season finale on Friday, 61-54, in Lonaconing, but then avenging that loss in the more important of the two contests on Monday, 54-52, in the opening round of the Region I Class C playoffs. The Monday win moved the Huskies into a semi-finals match-up with top ranked Flintstone slated for 8:30 p.m. this evening at Allegany High School.

Valley took command of Friday's game early, jumping out to a 16-8 advantage by the end of the first quarter and never relinquishing the lead. At halftime Valley led 29-18, but the Huskies narrowed the gap to 38-33 by the end of the third stanza.

Pacing the Knight's attack was Dave Llewellyn who finished with 18 points on seven baskets and four of four from the line. Bill Garlitz was close behind with 16 points and Mark McMillan added 13.

Brad Yoder, who has led Northern all season long, topped all scorers with 26 markers on 11 buckets and four of five free tosses. Bradley Yoder contributed 13 points.

The Huskies were outgunned from the floor by a 22-19 margin and made good on 16 of 25 free throws, compared to a 17-for-22 performance by Valley.

The Huskies, who had defeated Valley earlier in the season, 56-47, closed the regular season with a 12-10 mark, while Valley finished at 11-11.

Northern again had to play catch-up Monday evening, as the Black Knights led 14-11 at the end of the first period. The rally worked this time for the Huskies in the second quarter, as they came back to take a 26-25 halftime advantage. They expanded that lead to 40-35 by the end of the third stanza, but Valley came back from a seven-point deficit in the final eight minutes to take a one-point lead. Bradley Yoder then put the Huskies back on top for good when he sunk both ends of a one-and-one at the foul line.

The Huskies won the game at the charity stripe, with many key free throws occurring in the fourth quarter. Northern converted 18 of 24 opportunities, although they were outgoaled 23-18. The Black Knights hit only six of 11 free throws.

Brad Yoder again led the way for Northern, netting 31 points on 11 baskets and a perfect nine of nine at the foul line. He also hauled down 16 rebounds.

Phil Carr pulled seven rebounds and recorded seven assists for the winners.

Lee Cutter paced Valley with 14 points, while teammate Andy Winner finished with 12.

If Coach Harv Speicher's Huskies are victorious against Flintstone this evening, they will then face the winner of the Southern-Bruce semi-final, which is also slated for this evening.

Southern Girls Regroup To Top Bruce In Playoff

After dropping their final regular season game last Wednesday to Bishop Walsh, 59-54, the members of the Southern girls' basketball team regrouped last night to hand Bruce a 68-57 loss in the quarter final round of Region I Class C playoff action at Fort Hill High School. The Lady Rams will now face Valley Thursday at 6:45 p.m., also at Fort Hill.

At Bishop Walsh, Karen Spiegelberg paced the winners with 25 points, while Missy Ostinowsky and Siobhan Halmos contributed 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Jenny Hillen continued to lead the Rams' scoring, finishing with 24 points, Jane Bell chipped in ten.

Hillen ripped the nets for 40 points last night against the Lady Bulldogs, sinking 16 buckets and eight of ten from the free throw line. Jane Bell added 12 points and Kelly Bittner, ten.

Southern was on top 18-12 by the end of the first quarter and then surged to a 39-25 halftime advantage. The Lady Rams led by 20, 58-38, as the final eight minutes got underway.

Margie Morris paced the Lady Bulldogs with 27 points, while Denise Fisher netted 15.

The Southern girls outshot their opponents from the floor by a 30-23 margin and converted eight of 17 free throws, compared to an 11-for-18 effort by Bruce.

Beall defeated Hancock 59-33 in the other girls' quarter final matchup.

Rod Neely To Vie For State Wrestling Title

Only one Garrett County high school wrestler will advance to state competition, to be held this weekend at Towson State College.

Rod Neely, of Southern, captured third place this past weekend in the Region L Class C-C finals at North Carroll High School. The top three finishers in each weight class are eligible to advance to the state meet.

Winning the regional title was Beall, as five Mountaineers took first place trophies.

Neely competes in the 185-pound class.

Northern got fourth place finishes from Howard Finzel, 119-pound class, and Darren Kamp, 138.

Area Broadcasters Boycott Coverage Of Playoff Games

Local television and radio broadcasters announced last week that they would boycott this year's Maryland high school regional and state playoff basketball games, and so far the move is still in force. Region I action got underway Monday at Allegany High School and there has been no radio or television coverage.

Ralph Perrey, broadcaster for Oakland WXIE and WMSG radio, said the boycott was put into effect after the stations received notification from the Maryland Public Secondary Schools' Athletic Association, the governing body over high school sports in Maryland, that a fee would be levied on stations broadcasting the playoff events.

Perrey said that the broadcasters consider the fees "exorbitant and unfair" and added that it is solely the state that is "prohibiting coverage."

He said that radio stations barely break even on broadcasting the games as it is and that the smaller stations will be unable to afford to cover them. He said it now costs more to cover a Northern or Southern high school playoff game, for example, than it does to cover a game of the Baltimore Orioles or West Virginia University.

Radio stations are required to pay $50 per game, while television stations must pay up to $250 per contest in the semi-finals and finals. The fees were set during the state football playoffs last season, however Perrey said that the radio stations did not receive any notification until last week that the fees would be applied to basketball games as well.

The fees collected are reportedly to be distributed by the state to financially assist teams bound for the state playoffs in College Park. Perrey noted, however, that the amount received by the Northern Huskies football team this past fall was not nearly enough to cover expenses to the state Class C semi-finals at Mt. Hebron, and a fund drive had to be organized in order for the team to make the trip.

Other area stations involved in the boycott include WALI, WCBC, WKGO, WROG and WTBO radio, all Cumberland; WFRB, Frostburg; WQZK and WKLP, Keyser, and Potomac Valley Television Channel 8.

Perrey said that there has been no response concerning the boycott from Edward F. Sparks, executive secretary of the Maryland Public Secondary Schools' Athletic Association. Sparks' office was contacted this morning by The Republican, but he was unavailable for comment.

Northern's Student Council Planning Spring Activities

The Northern High School student council student activities committee is planning activities for March, April and May.

Presently the committee is charged with the Student-of-the-Month Awards for each month. The committee presented the idea, the organization and the criteria for the selection of the students to the Student Council. Once the Student Council acted upon the report, the committee was charged with the full responsibility of implementation. January and February students have been selected.

In March, the Student Council will be sponsoring Heart Fund activities. Plans are being completed for a Queen's Contest and Dance. Other activities will be planned to raise funds for the Heart Fund and to be donated in the name of the Northern High students and staff.

Awaiting approval are plans for an activity in May which will be an outdoor activity involving as many students as possible in events and contests, both athletic and academic. Some suggestions for the events are an "It's Academic" type contest, relays, an eating contest and a tug-of-war. Prizes will be awarded to the winning teams.

Auto Accidents Plague District

A rash of auto accidents around the district last week caused several injuries and much property damage, and several drivers were charged by state police with driving violations.

A two-vehicle accident on Route 135 and the intersection of Old 219 resulted in a charge of failure to make a proper turn against Patricia Fitzwater, 43, Deer Park.

According to police, the Fitzwater vehicle was westbound on Route 135 when it turned left into the intersection and struck an auto driven by Grace Eleanor Bradley, 41, Swanton. There were no transports to the local hospital.

A single-vehicle accident sent a Westernport woman, Cindy Lou Watson, 21, to Potomac Valley Hospital after her auto struck an icy spot on the road. In an attempt to avoid a head-on collision with an oncoming car, according to police, Ms. Watson steered her auto to the right side of the road, where it traveled some distance and overturned. She was treated and released.

A Deer Park man, John C. Walters, 44, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a single vehicle accident along the Chestnut Ridge Road on Saturday. Police say Walters was traveling south on the Chestnut Ridge Road when his vehicle struck an icy patch and he lost control.

An accident on Route 48 near Pig's Ear Road resulted in charges to Norris Resh, 28, Accident, for negligent driving when he lost control of his vehicle while attempting to retrieve a cigarette which had fallen onto the floor. His vehicle left the roadway and struck the guardrails.

A Swanton man was charged with negligent driving on Sunday when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel on Route 219 near the Spring Glade Road. Rodney Harland Barnard, 17, told police he fell asleep at the wheel, his car ran off the right side of the roadway, up a culvert, and embankment, overturned, and came to rest on its wheels. A passing motorist woke the driver, and police were called to the scene.

TOPIC: Moving all high school vocational training to college, with busing of children from regular high school to college and back each day of voc tech training.

The adverse features were brought out in a letter to the editor several weeks ago and this past week's paper had a small article mentioning the date and place of this hearing to receive input from interested parties. It would be my hope that every person who lives in Garrett Co. would be interested in stopping this fiasco before it gets started.

Please call neighbors, friends, relatives, and get out to let the school board know that you elected them to use their God-given brains for the benefit of our children and grandchildren; not to get them used to riding buses to their high school and riding them again to GCC.

In times of limited income, we should think of ways to save our dollars, not ways to spend it. A new building should run about $2,000,000 give or take and that means $250 to each of us (assuming 8000 people who pay taxes).

Please come to the college this Wed. at 7:30 p.m.

Local Forest, Park Personnel Among Graduates

Five Garrett Countians were among the graduates of the 1983 Forest and Park Service Ranger School. Park Rangers Dave Baker and Karl Christensen, New Germany State Park; Conservation Aide Terry Garlitz, New Germany State Park; Forest Associate Roland Schoch, Savage River State Forest; and Conservation Aide Allan Friend, Deep Creek Lake State Park, attended the recent three-week training session at Patuxent River Naval Air Station, Lexington Park.

State Forester Tunis Lyon and Forest and Park Service Chief of Operations David Hathway, acting for Director Don MacLauchlan, presented certificates to the 24 graduates of the school on February 18. The school is designed to provide competent, well-trained personnel who are capable of handling the complex and varied jobs of managing natural, cultural, historical and recreational resources, according to a Forest and Park Services official.

New Ruling On Social Security Benefits Explained

People who are appealing the decision to stop their Social Security disability benefits can now elect to have their benefits and Medicare protection continued until the appeal has been decided by an administrative law judge, Joseph E. Mieczkowski, Social Security district manager in Cumberland, said recently.

This is the result of a change in the law enacted on January 12. No benefits under this provision can be paid for months before February and no benefits can be paid for months beyond June 1984, even if the appeal has not been decided by that time, Mieczkowski said.

Under the old law, disability benefits generally were continued only for two months after the month a decision was made that the person was no longer disabled, and benefits could not be resumed unless the person won an appeal.

The new law applied to cases in which a decision is made after Janury 12, 1983, and before October 1983 to end disability benefits. It also applies to cases in which a reconsideration decision or a hearing before an administrative law judge is still pending.

People should be aware, Mieczkowski said, that if they elect to have benefit payments continued and they lose their appeal, they may have to repay the disability benefits they received while their appeal was pending.

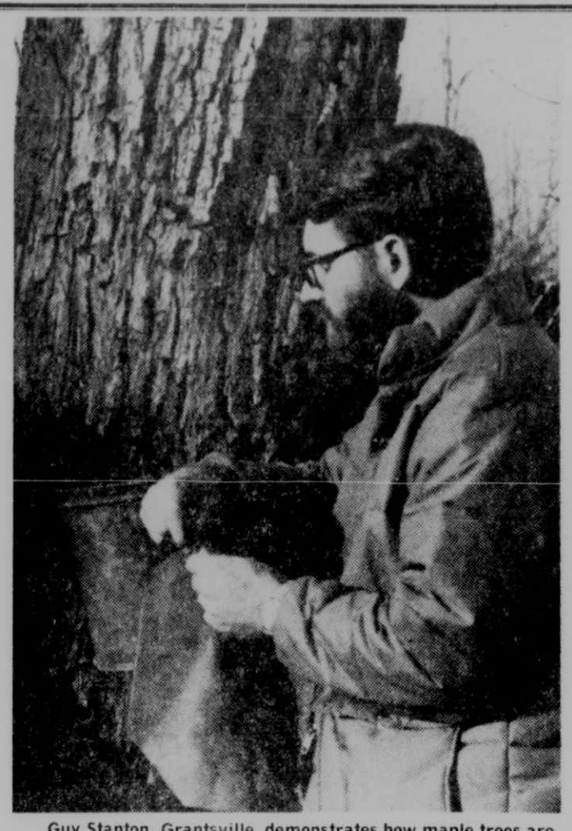
If the final decision is that the person is still disabled, benefits will continue unchanged.

The new provision does not apply to people whose initial claim for disability benefits is denied. These people cannot receive any benefits unless they receive a favorable decision on their claim.

More information about this new provision of the law can be obtained at the Cumberland Social Security office, located at the Country Club Mall, LaVale. The telephone number is 729-3232.

Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenues Are Noted By Goldstein

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says the holiday purchases that fueled increased retail sales tax revenue also sparked higher alcoholic beverage tax revenues during December, 1982. The increased revenue pattern did not hold into January, 1983, however.



"The growth of alcohol and tobacco tax revenues during December, 1982 was apparently the result of holiday purchases and inventory buildup by retailers in anticipation of the increased federal tobacco tax which became effective January 1, 1983," Goldstein said.

The federal tax rate increased from 8 cents to 16 cents per pack January 1, 1983, but did not apply to cigarettes on retailers' shelves at that time.

"For the month of January, 1983, alcohol and tobacco tax revenues totaled $7,673,139, or 9% less than the $8,454,637 collected during the same month last year," Goldstein said.

Alcohol and tobacco tax revenue for the first seven months of Fiscal Year 1983 amounted to $54,701,345, down nearly one percent from the $54,534,122 collected during the same period of Fiscal Year 1982.

For the seven month period, wine tax revenues were the only category to post an increase over last year, with revenues of $2,003,559, up nearly one percent. Distilled spirits tax revenues totaled $8,686,301, down 3.3% and beer tax receipts amounted to $4,676,343, a decline of 2.1%. Tobacco tax revenue for the seven month period totaled $38,705,142, slightly less than the amount collected during the identical period of Fiscal Year 1982.

Scouts To Collect Food, Goods For House Of Hope

The Boy Scouts of Troop 31, Oakland, will be collecting food and dry goods for the House of Hope this Saturday and the following Saturday afternoons. The scouts will canvass from door to door in the Oakland area this Saturday, March 5, from 1 to 5 p.m. and in Mt. Lake Park on Saturday, March 12, during the same hours.

The House of Hope food supply is running low for this time of year, according to Robert M. Flinn of Troop 31, and any donation, no matter how small, he says, will be "greatly appreciated." Soups, meats and vegatables are especially needed, he stated.

Persons with questions or wishing to make a special donation may call 334-3228.

Fox To Solo In FSC Jazz Concert

The Frostburg State College Jazz Ensemble, featuring one musician from Garrett County, will appear in a "Concert of Jazz" this Saturday, March 5, at 8:15 p.m. in Compton Auditorium.

Jim Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fox, Friendsville, will present trumpet solos in "How Sweet It Is," "Two O'Clock Jump" and "Up in Erroll's Room."

The public is invited to attend the concert and there is no admission charge.

Telephone Rates Increase 2.75%

Basic rates for private unlimited home telephone service in Oakland will increase 25 cents a month under new rates filed February 22 by C&P Telephone Company of Maryland.

The new rates reflect a $28.2 million increase in annual revenue authorized last week by the Maryland Public Service Commission. They amount to a 2.75 percent across-the-board increase in most of the company's products and services.

The overall effect of the rate increase on individual bills will depend on the equipment and services used by each customer, according to C&P. For private unlimited service for residence customers in Oakland, for example, basic monthly service will be $9.35 a month. Customers with 65-call message rate service will pay 17 cents more a month, or $6.37. Customers with the lowest-priced economy service will pay $2.72. There will be no increase in the rate of each outgoing call for customers with economy service or for those who exceed their 65-call message rate allowance. That charge remains at nine cents.

The basic monthly rate for business customers in Oakland will increase 16 cents, to $6.01 a month. The charge for each outgoing local call is unchanged at 10 cents.

Monthly rental fees for equipment leased from the telephone company, including standard, Princess and Trimline phones, will increase 2.75 percent, as will the monthly charge for a Touch-Tone line.

Service charges for processing a service order and connecting a line will increase 2.75 percent. Rates for additional directory listings, as well as unlisted and non-published numbers, are also subject to the across-the-board increase. The charge for restoring service after disconnection for nonpayment of a bill will increase from $11.50 to $13 for residence customers and from $13.50 to $16 for businesses. The charge for checks which must be returned for nonpayment increases from $6 to $7.

A five-cent increase in the rate for local calls from coin phones will bring the new coin rate to 20 cents. The Commission also approved a new charge for local operator verification that a line is in working order. The charge is 30 cents for verification and 60 cents to verify and interrupt if someone is on the line. There will be no charge if the line is out of order. The charge for local calls billed to another number will increase from 30 cents to 60 cents. The 60-cent charge also applies to all other local operator assistance calls. No charge applies to calls to official public emergency numbers, calls to the telephone company or calls which cannot be dialed by the customer.

There will be no increase in services designed specifically for disabled people.

Rates for all long distance calls within Maryland will also increase 2.75 percent, consistent with the across-the-board increase.

The new rates are scheduled to take effect retroactive to February 19, the day after the Commission's order, provided they are approved by the PSC. A bill insert will alert customers to all rate changes.

Local Naturalist Receives Award

Savage River Forest Naturalist Michael Gregory was among Forest and Park Service employees who received awards during the graduation ceremonies for the 1983 Forest and Park Service Ranger School.

State Forester Tunis Lyon and Forest and Park Service Chief of Operations David Hathway on behalf of Director Don MacLauchlan, presented a merit award to Gregory in recognition of his assistance with the design and construction of four major clusters of exhibits for the nature center at Elk Neck State Park. The exhibits tell the story of man's interaction with the natural resources of Elk Neck.

If the exhibits had been done commercially, they reportedly would have cost approximately $80,000. The merit award was earned as a result of the development of this special exhibit project which will have a direct impact on Elk Neck State Park, according to Hathway.

DARK CORNERS

Ever have the lights go out suddenly, murky during a storm? The darkness becomes a tangible thing, you can feel it around you, a cloud closing in. Then you remember the candle, or flashlight, you put a match to it, and you're in business again. And it's amazing how much you can see by the light of a single candle, when you've been in the dark.

Transpose this into your own life. Strike a mental match and let it shine in the dark corners, showing you the things you've hidden from yourself. Self revelation is good for the soul once we see those ghosts come out, maybe we should do something about them . . . like restoring our habits of regular weekly worship.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE HARDEST COMMAND

March 6, 1983

Background Scripture: Exodus 33:15, 16; Luke 1:1-4; 24:36-53; Acts 1.
Devotional Reading: Exodus 17:1-7.

Jesus gave his disciples some hard commands during his ministry, but perhaps the hardest command of all was the one he gave during his resurrection appearances: "... he charged them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father" (Acts 1:4).

The last thing the disciples must have wanted to do was to "wait"! Spiritually and emotionally, they were all "charged up." The horrible defeat at Calvary had been turned to an overwhelming victory. Jesus had been vindicated. The kingdom of God was not lost, as they had feared. In those circumstances, feeling as they did, they probably wanted to do something—something that was appropriate to the wonderful thing that had happened when Jesus rose from his tomb.

WAIT FOR THE PROMISE

Jesus' instructions to "wait for the promise of the Father" must have troubled them, particularly impulsive Peter who never seemed happy unless he was making something happen. Not easily put off, the disciples pressed Jesus for something specific: "Lord, will you at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?" Waiting might not be quite so hard for them if they could pin Jesus down to a specific date. His reply was hardly what they had wanted: "It is not for you to know times or seasons which the Father has fixed by his own authority." Yet, although he would not give them dates, he did leave them with an important promise: "But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be my witnesses on Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria and to the end of the earth."

Acts 1 lifts up for us two of the most difficult aspects of being a follower of Jesus Christ: waiting and living by God's promise. Waiting is difficult because we fail to realize that our own concept of time is different from that of God. As we see things, we believe NOW and no later is the moment when we want something to happen.

THE "RIGHT" TIME

I've been waiting for something very specific to happen in a portion of my life for the past 25 years. That's almost half my lifetime and it seems a long, long time to wait for God to answer my prayer. Yet, I realize that, in God's sight, the time may not be right. That is not a rationalization to get God "off the hook," but an acceptance of the limitations of my human time-space perspective. I have been wrong many times in the past about what was the "right time" for God to do this or that.

So I am left with two alternatives. One is to conclude that my waiting has been in vain and that the longed-for blessing from God will never come. The other is to live by the promise of his grace —hard as that may be—until the promise is fulfilled. I have found time and again in the past that one must learn to live on the promises of God and not let go of the conviction that in His time they will be fulfilled.

Luck of the Irish

Ben Murphy and Marshall Colt will star in the ABC movie "Lottery," which recently began production.

The 90-minute film, to be shot on location in Southern California and San Francisco, is about a representative from an Irish bank (Murphy) who must find the three winners of the Inter Sweep Lottery.

Colt plays an IRS agent. Eric Rush, who is ready to take a big tax bite out of the winner's wallet.

Christopher McDonald, Allen Goorwitz and Ilene Graff play the three holders of the winning tickets. Each finds that winning the multi-million dollar prize is not the answer to all their problems.

Lottery" was created by Rick Rosner and will air sometime later this season.

'John Boy' sings

Richard Thomas, who rose to television fame as John Boy on the long-running series "The Waltons," stars in the title role of "Living Proof: The Hank Williams Jr. Story."

The World Premiere movie, to air Monday, March 7 on NBC, also stars Lenore May, Liane Langland and Ann Gillespie along with special guest appearances by Clu Gulager, Ann McLerie and Williams' longtime friend, Merle Kilgore.

Thomas stars as the son of the legendary singing star Hank Williams Sr. Following his father's tragic death at the height of his career, young Williams is thrust on stage by his domineering mother, Audrey, where he is forced to sing the songs his father's fans still flock to hear.

As he matures, the young performer seems destined to relive the professional and personal weakness that plagued his father.

But by moving out of his mother's home Williams also moves out of his father's shadow and begins to establish himself as a performer in his own right.

Director Harvey hopes to resume work soon

By Ruth Thompson

There is a whole category of show folks who say they only form friendships with people "outside the business." Not director Anthony Harvey. Known for his high-energy enthusiasm on the job, this is a man of gentle good humor who has formed some of his best friendships on the job. This includes Peter O'Toole and Katharine Hepburn, whom he first worked with in the 1968 film "Lion in Winter."

O'Toole scouted Harvey to direct "Lion," because he so admired his handling of "Dutchman" back in 1966. The film earned Harvey the best new director award at the Cannes Film Festival.

Peter rounded up a copy of "Dutchman somewhere," Harvey recalls. "Then he found a little theater somewhere at the edge of Los Angeles to show it to Kate." Obviously, she also liked what she saw and Harvey was signed for "Lion." Soon mutual admiration turned to friendship.

Harvey's most recent work with O'Toole was filmed nearly a year ago. It is the movie "Svengali," to air on the "CBS Wednesday Night Movies," March 9. It also stars Jodie Foster and Elizabeth Ashley.

What has Harvey done in the interim? He was surprised by the question, I by the answer. After surviving a bad car accident in San Diego, he is rebuilding his health. Then he turns the spotlight from himself toward the more recent and more publicized accident victims, Mary Martin and Janet Gaynor.

"They're amazing," says Harvey. "Haven't they given a wonderful example?" His own injuries, he admits, were on the scale of Miss Gaynor's. "Broken ribs. I lost my spleen and a kidney."

Anthony Harvey

Then he turns to the subject of Miss Hepburn, who at the time of the accident was in Chicago on stage in "West Side Waltz." She kept in touch by phone and by letter.

"I didn't want my parents in London to know I was on the critical list for a month," says Harvey. "Kate would call the hospital and pretend to be my mother. She has a theory that if you're badly injured you should cut yourself off from thinking of yourself as just that person in bed and think you're somewhere else. She also told me it would be money-in-the-bank to learn to endure pain until it became less and avoid pain killers. I took her advice."

All that really hurts now is being a month away from a doctor's OK to resume work. "Kate and I are talking about a film for June, a black comedy," he says, turning on a smile.

PBS special hopes to 'Save the Panda'

By Peter Meade

Even if your idea of cute and cuddly ranges more toward Tom Selleck or Victoria Principal, save some attention for the pandas. They really need it.

When the lovable black-and-white creature was first revealed to the Western world in 1936, "pandamania" spread quickly. After watching the panda frolic in this hour-long special, it's not hard to see why. However, today the animals' survival is in serious jeopardy.

"Save the Panda," airing Wednesday, March 9 on PBS (please check local listings, air dates may vary), documents the ongoing project to save the enigmatic creature from extinction. The Gulf-funded program, narrated by Richard Basehart, explains there are fewer than 1,000 pandas in existence today. Most live in the remote, mountainous bamboo forests of central China, but their traditional domain has been decreased seriously by ever-expanding civilization.

The panda

In the season's third National Geographic Special, cameras follow field-biologist George B. Schaller of the New York Zoological Society and China's foremost panda authority Prof. Hu Jin-Chu as they journey into China's Wolong Natural Reserve. In the 770-square-mile area members of "Project Panda" are trying to preserve the species through a wildlife protection agreement uniting the World Wildlife Fund and the People's Republic of China.

Few zoos around the world have pandas. Basically it is because researchers are still desperately trying to learn more about the animal. Breeding in captivity has especially been a problem, with the results of most attempts being ineffective.

But the hope is that through the current international preservation efforts and increased research, the panda population will increase and ensure the survival of the species.

Aniston's acting ends career 'Search'

By Nancy M. Reichardt

After watching John Aniston work, first on "Love of Life" and currently as Martin Tourneur on "Search for Tomorrow," it's hard to even believe that the talented thespian might never have entered the acting profession at all if not for a succession of career interruptions.

Although born in Greece, John was raised outside Philadelphia. In high school he avidly pursued an athletic career until a hip injury sidetailed that thought.

"After the doctor told me I couldn't play football anymore, says Aniston, "I had nothing else to do, so I tried it (acting), and I liked it."

John went on to major in acting and pursue a medical career at Penn State. But after his pre-med studies were completed, he couldn't get into an American medical school. So he left for Greece, near his father's native birthplace, but didn't work out either. The government was overthrown, the university was closed down and foreign students weren't exactly welcomed. Aniston returned to the States and stayed with acting.

Today, John enjoys portraying Martin, the black sheep of the Southern aristocratic Sentell family on "SFT." It's obvious the show's fans enjoy watching John, since the handsome actor receives lots of fan mail from lady viewers who frequently include marriage proposals and rendezvous offers.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

SEVEN TIMES SEVEN — Is there a book of "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" on which the movie and television series is based? If so, where could I get a copy of the book? Is there any way I could get a script from one of the shows? Also, where can I get pictures of the cast? I hope the show is not going to be canceled. — R.B., Galan, Va.

The 1954 movie was written by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, from the story "Sobbin' Women," by Stephen Vincent Benet. Your library or a local bookstore should be able to locate this classic for you. As for scripts, forget it. They are not distributed anywhere outside the production company or to local editors. For pictures, write the cast at Murphysville, Calif., where the show is filmed. CBS has picked up the series for a full season and it has a good chance of returning next year.

Bobby Sherman

MISSING BRIDES — Why aren't reruns of "Here Come the Brides" shown locally? — S.A., Baton Rouge, La.

The station that was carrying the show would have to answer that. Most likely they reran their whole batch of shows. The series, starring Robert Brown, David Soul and Bobby Sherman as the Bolt Brothers, originally ran on ABC from 1968-70.

Captain Kangaroo

ALIVE AND WELL — What is Captain Kangaroo's real name and where was he born? Is he still alive? — B.A.Y., Washington, Ga.

Bob Keeshan, who plays Captain Kangaroo, is very much alive. He did have a heart attack recently, but he's fully recovered. He was born in Lynbrook, N.Y., in 1927. His show debuted on CBS Oct. 3, 1955. It was based on "Tinker's Workshop," a local New York show he previously hosted.

New football league to kick off on ABC

By Mark Nolan

On Sunday, March 6, ABC will telecast live the first game of the United States Football League's inaugural season. The network plans to telecast a total of 21 games, including two playoff games and the Championship game on July 17.

Lynn Swann

Keith Jackson has been assigned to call the play-by-play and will be joined by former Pittsburgh Steelers wide receiver Lynn Swann, who will provide the commentary.

Since joining ABC Sports in 1976, Swann's duties have included coverage of the NFL Pro Bowl, and appearances on ABC's "Wide World of Sports" and "The Superstars." He has also worked as a sportscaster at KABC-TV in Los Angeles and is a member of the Board of Directors at the School of Journalism at his alma mater, Southern Cal.

Swann is a fine choice to serve as analyst for ABC's USFL coverage. With years of first-hand experience in the NFL, his analysis of the ongoing action should prove to be most accurate and insightful.

As for the long-term popularity of the new league, an insightful prediction is difficult. As of press time, there was much conjecture concerning the league's ultimate fate. Many skeptics still remember the short-lived World Football League and were asking, with tongue-in-cheek, "How long will this one last?" However, season-ticket sales in all 12 USFL cities are selling like tickets to the Super Bowl.

Obviously, ABC has reason to believe that the USFL will be a success. The league has two factors in its favor. First, it already has a good amount of talent signed for the first season, both on and off the field. Secondly, it has a whole lot of financial backing thanks to the two-year, $18 million broadcast contract from ABC.

At this early stage, it seems that the only test the USFL will have to withstand will be the test of time. If the league survives such a telltale test, then today's USFL skeptics will be tomorrow's USFL believers.

Who knows? Perhaps after a few seasons, the USFL schedule will be moved back to run concurrently with NFL's. If that happens, the next move may involve the USFL champions in a contest with the NFL's Super Bowl Champions in the first Super-Super Bowl.

WEDNESDAY

Jodie Foster and Peter O'Toole star in "Svengali," to air on the "CBS Wednesday Night Movie" March 9. Miss Foster portrays a singer who is captivated by her charismatic vocal coach (O'Toole).

Assessment Answers & Tax Talk

ON CONSTANT YIELD TAX RATES/1983

by James Burley

This may come as a surprise to many readers, but property owners who feel frustrated over the fact that they are able to do very little in controlling the increase in their tax assessment can, if they act, control to some extent the tax bill that follows.

How? The answer is by taking advantage of the opportunity afforded to everyone through the Constant Yield Tax Rate Provision in the Maryland Code. It is not a well known provision, but probably the most important one to the property owner if property taxes are the problem.

Prior to February 15 of each year, the Department of Assessments and Taxation must notify the twenty-three counties, Baltimore City, and the other separate taxing jurisdictions what the tax rate should be to maintain the same level of revenue from the property tax as the preceding year. The new rates are computed on the basis of the new assessable base, which takes into consideration recent reassessments, and are known as the Constant Yield Tax Rates. The provision is based on the principle that as and if property values and assessments increase, the most prevalent reason for this being simply inflation, then the tax rate must go down to keep the revenue from this source constant.

Local taxing bodies cannot set a tax rate that exceeds the Constant Yield Tax Rate until first advertising through a prominent display in the local newspapers their intent to do so and announcing that a public meeting will be held for the purpose of hearing comments regarding any tax increase and to explain the reasons for any proposed increase.

The taxing body must meet at the time given in the notice and this meeting must be held between five and fifteen days following publication of the notice. Moreover, the hearing must not be less than two weeks before the date the tax rate is levied. The taxing body may adopt a resolution or ordinance levying a property tax rate higher than the Constant Yield Tax Rate, but if the action is not approved on the day of the public hearing, the time and place where the resolution or ordinance will be scheduled for consideration and approval must be announced at the public hearing. Nothing in the provision prevents the local taxing body from reducing the tax rate or even setting one lower than the Constant Yield Tax Rate, an unlikely event.

As every property owner knows, assesments seem always to increase, but there is no automatic provision to force the tax rate downward in tandem with the assessment increase. This situation tends to reinforce the notion that the whole process is just a shell game. Virtually the only device to control this is the Constant Yield Tax Rate Provision. It is the property taxpayers' protection in that it gives them the chance as individuals or in groups to meet formally with their elected tax rate setting bodies and give their views as to just how much of the total tax burden should be borne by the property owner.

Usually—if not always—the taxing authorities combine the Constant Yield Tax Rate Meeting with their budget hearings, and the budget hearings are always well attended by those urging no cuts in those parts of the budget where they have a special interest. If the property taxpayers do not bother to show up at their meeting, who can blame the taxing bodies for finally making their decisions without the benefit of the input from those paying the bill—the property taxpayers?

Garrett County's Constant Yield Rate for fiscal 83/84 will be $2.84, compared to $3.02 as the 82/83 rate.

Federal Support For Local Guard Unit Reported

Federal support for the Maryland Army National Guard (MDARNG) in Garrett County amounted to $595,836 in the fiscal year that ended September 30, 1982, according to a news release from the MDARNG.

Nearly 32 percent of the federal dollars covered the salaries paid the parttime Guard members in Oakland's Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion (Combat Corps). At the the end of fiscal year 1982 (FY '82), 141 individuals belonged to this MDARNG unit, which is located on Eighth and High Streets.

In the four Western Maryland counties of Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington, the federal government spent $2,692,838. This figure represents nearly seven percent of the $40.75 million spent by the federal government to support the MDARNG.

Along with Oakland, the cities of Frederick, Cumberland, Hagerstown and Highfield are sites of Maryland Guard units.

Company C in Oakland, authorized 131 members, stood at 108 percent personnel strength at the end of FY '82.

Federal expenditures in fiscal year 1982 for both the Maryland Army and Air National Guard totalled $68,772,597. The state provided $4,247,623 to the Maryland National Guard, mainly for the upkeep of armories.

The MDARNG's 61 units are located in all but four of the state's political subdivisions: Caroline, Dorchester, St. Mary's and Worcester counties. The Maryland Air National Guard is based at Glenn L. Martin Airport in Middle River in Baltimore County.

The company's first quarter sales for the period ended January 31 were $343,764,000, compared with $342,644,000, for the comparable period in 1982, a gain of three-tenths of one percent over our sales in the same period of last year.

Net income for this quarter was $7,802,000, or 29 cents a share, in comparison with $8,323,000, or 32 cents a share, representing a decline of 6.3 percent in net income from the same period of last year.

At the company's annual meeting, David L. Luke III, chairman and chief executive officer said, "Even though our first quarter earnings are down slightly, recovery in demand has begun for Westvaco, and we believe that we are seeing recovery in the national economy as well."

ON CHECKING ATTICS

If you are inspecting a house with an attic, do more than ask if there is one - get up there, walk around and inspect it. You can learn a lot with just a few simple checks.

For instance, you can check to see if the beams are really solid? If the point of a penknife sinks in easily, the wood may be either rotten or termite-infested. Timbers with ends embedded in masonry without proper air spaces are especially vulnerable to rot. Sight along the beams to see whether any have sagged or warped. Also, check the rafters or roofing boards for water stains.

Is there sufficient ventilation in the attic? At a minimum, it should have louvers in both gable ends, vents under the eaves or ridge vents in the roof. If the ventilation is inadequate, you can bet on wood rot - and there will be heat loss in the winter, heat retention in the summer and bigger utility bills in both seasons.

How about insulation? An attic floor should have at least six inches in insulation plus a vapor barrier under the insulation.

See us before you file your tax return!

I ♥ My IRA

An individual retirement account gives you a double tax break today and financial security tomorrow . . . two good reasons why we hear more people say . . .

Why give away your money in TAXES when you could be investing it? With a First National IRA, any wage earner can put away up to $2,000 each year—without losing a penny of it to the Internal Revenue Service. For example, an individual in the 30% tax bracket—having taxable income of about $18,000—would save $600.00 in taxes each year by putting $2,000 into his IRA. If he would choose not to invest that $2,000, Uncle Sam would take $600.00 in taxes, leaving the individual only $1,400 of his $2,000. Of course, the tax savings would be 30 cents on every dollar he puts into his IRA—so even if he couldn't invest the full $2,000, any amount he could put aside would help!

On top of that, the government will allow your IRA interest to grow and compound tax free until you begin to take withdrawals. You may begin to withdraw any amount you wish, at any time you wish, between the ages of 59½ and 70½ at which time you'll presumably be in a much lower tax bracket. If you make a withdrawal before you've reached age 59½, you pay a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn, and that amount also becomes taxable as ordinary income.

Have it your way

We have a broad range of investment options available for your IRA—even one which can get you started for $10.00. You can choose the one that suits you. Remember—even if you can't invest the full $2,000 you are allowed each year, or if you choose to skip some years, the tax savings and growth potential are still very great.

So, before you send in your 1982 Federal Income Tax Return, come in and find out how much you'll benefit by opening an IRA at First National.

Stop in—have a cup of coffee on us!

We'd love to explain the various IRA plans available to you. With an IRA from First National, you'll be deferring taxes, greatly increasing your savings and planning for your very special retirement. In fact you may be so happy you'll want to say . . .

Jobs Training Bill Introduced By Sen. Bambacus

The Jobs Training Partnership bill, Senate Bill No. 768, was introduced this week by Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany/Garrett).

As a result of the extensive work of the Joint Committee on Federal Relations on which Senator Bambacus sits, this bill was introduced as emergency legislation to complement and faciliate the federal Jobs Training Partnership bill of 1982.

Senator Bambacus explains, "Western Maryland will be placed together in the four-county service area of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick Counties." Title II describes the formula for distributing Federal training funds within the State, explains eligibility requirements, and delineates the types of training programs allowed.

"Under this section Allegany will receive $692,000 and Garrett $301,000 for its annual allotment. Summer Youth Program allocations would add an additional $348,000 for Allegany and $152,000 for Garrett," adds Senator Bambacus. Title III speaks to the dislocated worker training which will bring approximately $4.7 million funds to Maryland which the state must match.

The Jobs Training Partnership Act of 1982 (JTPA) will be initiated in October of this year. For the first time in the history of employment and training programs, as a result of this act, states will have the responsibility for the overall management and quality control for the implementation of this program. Local service delivery area Private Industry Councils will assess needs and develop training plans for their areas.

"The program has the potential of having a positive effect on economic development, welfare, education, and employment," states Senator John Bambacus. He goes on to say, "Looking at a 22.2% unemployment rate in Garrett County and 14% in Allegany, this legislation creates a structure that offers a total approach from remedial education to on-the-job experience with tuition aid and job search assistance. Through the operation of this program it is possible to put our jobless back to work. Couple this with the Enterprise Zone grant and the ingredients are present for economic recovery".

The social and economic costs of unemployment are high. Studies show that when unemployment is high there is an increase in mental illness, heart disease, violent crime, broken marriages, and child abuse. In Maryland alone, taxpayers pay out $6 million a week in unemployment benefits. The state treasury will lose over $90 million in income tax revenues because of unemployment.

Senator Bambacus points out that "JTPA is an investment in human resources that will pay for itself over time. For each 2,000 job placements it would save $8 million in reduced unemployment benefits and welfare costs on the State level."

The Act is divided into three main parts. Title I sets the overall responsibility requiring the Governor to establish a Statewide Employment Training Council which should be appointed within the next two weeks. This Council must be composed of business, legislative, local government, and labor representatives. It is the role of this group to oversee the entire state training program. One of the first duties of this Council will be to establish the service delivery areas within the state.

"Training will be provided through delivery systems already in place such as the Community Colleges and local school systems," explains Jim Callahan, Director of the Training and Employment Office for Maryland.

"The tone of acceptance and enthusiasm for this program spans every department and individual with whom I have spoken. To have local control in planning and implementation, I applaud the Federal lawmakers for their wisdom," Senator Bambacus concludes.

RECEIVES ROTARY AWARD — Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, right, presents the Rotary Student of the Quarter Award to Verne Leininger, a junior at Southern High School, during the Oakland Rotary Club dinner Thursday. The award, presented to Leininger for the second quarter of the school year, is conferred on a student at Southern High School accumulating the highest scholastic average in a designated class—this quarter the designated class was the junior class. Leininger, a son of Rev. and Mrs. Verne H. Leininger, McHenry, is vice president of the SHS student council, the treasurer of the junior class, a member of the National Honor Society and a member of the school chorus. He is also vice president of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren Youth Group, vice president of the cabinet of the Church of the Brethren Westmarva Youth District and a member of his church choir. Last summer, Leininger was the recipient of the Rotary award for the outstanding 4-H Youth Exhibitor at the Garrett County Fair. He serves as an officer in several 4-H clubs in the county.

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

Spring cleaning time will soon be fast upon us; the cold weather and snow will be gone. Think about getting ready to cast off the winter blahs and swing into spring with some new ways of thinking . . . think positively about your physical image by adopting some new life style habits you learned in January to get into that nice bathing suit . . . spend a few moments alone each day in quiet thoughts to rejuvenate your mind . . . consider what you can do to provide more satisfying, nutritious meals for your family . . . why not learn to bake bread?

This week's featured recipe, John's Whole Wheat Bread, will start you on the road to building a super sandwich. This bread is a hearty combination of ingredients that will have your mouth watering and your body saying "thanks" for the great taste plus protein and vitamins. There's nothing like homemade bread fresh from the oven to perk up a meal! If you've never baked bread before, take a chance with this recipe . . . you'll be surprised how easy it really is! John Shuman, chairman of the Heart Association's Nutrition Committee, bakes this bread as a hobby. See if your family doesn't like it as much as John's.

John's Whole Wheat Bread

1½ cups boiling water
1 cup oatmeal/bulghur cracked millet
(1 cup raisins - optional)
½ cup margarine
1 cup molasses/honey
Combine all ingredients in bowl. Allow to cool.

½ cup warm water
1 tsp. sugar
2 Tbsp. yeast
Combine and allow to soak until it bubbles.

2 eggs, beat
Combine yeast mixture and syrup mixture. Add eggs to mixture.

2 cups bread flour
6 cups whole wheat flour
Add flour two cups at a time. Stir in and knead until you have a firm dough and the dough cleans the bowl.
Place in a greased bowl and allow to double. (Can be done at room temperature or refrigerated).
Divide dough in half. Shape each piece into a loaf and place in greased loaf pan. Allow to proof overnight, covered, in a refrigerator or cold back porch.
Bake at 350° F for 60 minutes.
Yield: 2 loaves

The Heart Association's Nutrition Committee is committed to providing you with practical and sound menu ideas for healthier eating throughout 1983. A recipe is featured each week and by the end of the month you will be able to enjoy a well balanced, appetizing meal by combining the month's ideas.

Next week, a new spring sandwich filling will be featured. If you have missed any of the previous month's recipes or are interested in the Heart Cookbook, call Wendy Norris R.D. at 334-2155.

Jones To Chair Daffodil Day For Cancer Society

Dr. James V. Jones, Oakland, optometrist, had been selected as Daffodil Day chairman for the Garrett County Unit of the American Cancer Society to aid in promoting and conducting this event.

A native resident of Garrett County, Dr. Jones will coordinate the distribution of hundreds of freshly cut Daffodils shipped to Maryland directly from the state of California.

Dr. Jones explained that on Friday, March 18, local business persons and professionals will be recognized for their contributions to the American Cancer Society through the means of Daffodil Day. Area residents who patronize the businesses and offices of contributors on that day will receive a fresh Daffodil provided by the Cancer Society. The Daffodils symbolize the Flower of Hope for cancer victims across the country.

"Most Garrett County residents do not realize that 60% of the money raised by the Garrett County Unit of the Cancer Society is used entirely within this county for a variety of important services," says Dr. Jones.

Local Cancer Society funds pay for transportation to and from hospital oncology units for persons requiring cobalt treatments and other cancer diagnoses and therapy and pay for medication for chemotherapy patients. The Reach for Recovery program provides counselors who help, for example, post-mastectomy patients with exercising to restore strength to their arms, and other problems. The Ostomy Association provides counselors who help post-colostomy and and ilesotomy patients and their families adjust to the necessary changes in their daily routines.

The Cancer Society also provides anti-smoking films and literature for Garrett County Schools students and provides speakers, films, and journals to keep local health professionals and personnel abreast with current cancer breakthroughs and therapy.

Dr. Jones is hoping to receive the county-wide support of businesses, manufacturers, and professionals to make this year's Daffodil Day a success. Assisting in the planning and conducting of Daffodil Day will be Jean Sweitzer, Red House, and Tracy Jones, Beth Anne Earley and Susie Draper, Oakland.

Individuals, organizations and church groups may also donate a bouquet of Daffodils. Orders are being taken in advance by the Society at 334-1016 and may be placed in person at Dr. Jones' office at 7000 Thayer Center in Oakland.

Destruction of the drive-up window at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy Sunday night caused an estimated $40 in damage, according to Oakland police chief Hobart Shillingburg.

The vandalism or attempted breaking and entering occurred between 7 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Monday. A piece of street curbing as large as two fists was used to break the glass.

PIK Sign-Up Deadline Will Not Be Extended

Farmers have only a few weeks left to sign up for the Payment-in-Kind Program. The signup period ends March 11 and will not be extended, according to Harry W. Hummel, chairman of the Garrett County ASC Committee.

"Farmers will not have the opportunity to change their mind and sign up after the deadline," Hummel said. "However, those who have already enrolled and those who enroll before March 11 will have the option of withdrawing or changing their enrollment without penalty provided it is done before enrollment ends."

Hummel has arranged for a representative of the ASCS Office to be in Grantsville at the Extension Service Office on March 4. Persons should telephone for appointment at 895-3124. The county office is open five days a week from 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

All farmers for which a 1983 acreage base and yield has been established for wheat and feed grains under the previously announced farm programs are eligible to participate in PIK.

The ASCS official said farmers who would like to see an improvement in the market situation should seriously consider the program and do their part toward reducing the surplus that is hurting the economy.

"We urge farmers to sign up now and not miss the opportunity by waiting or expecting the deadline to be extended," Hummel said. "The signup period will end at the close of business on March 11."

SS Cooperative Reports Economic Signs Improving

There are some encouraging economic signs visible that are pointing to better days ahead for agriculture, says Gene A. James, executive vice president and general manager of Southern States Cooperative.

"While farmers may continue to have some problems in the next year or so, I'm optimistic about the long-term future of agriculture," James reported in a videotaped message to local farmers who attended a regional board meeting held February 23 at Deep Creek Lake.

"There are several encouraging signs," James says. First, there's less inflation and lower interest rates; second, livestock feeding is now more profitable; third, there's recognition of farm problems and something is being done about them; and fourth, we are on the threshold of a new era in agriculture, an era of technology and information that will bode well for agriculture."

According to Dr. Joseph Coffey, the cooperative's director of economics and planning, who appeared with James in the videotape, "This will be the era of the computer and will have a tremendous effect upon agriculture. Knowledge and information and the faster communication of it will lead to replacing facilities and will help eliminate double and triple handling of inventory. This will be possible because we will have a precise inventory and farmers will be more precise in their ordering of supplies."

R.W. Bryan, vice president for the cooperative, reported to the session that the continuing recessionary farm economy and general economy caused volume and prices to fall below the prior year by almost 10 percent.

Net savings, after provision for income taxes, and equity adjustment, were down $3.5 million for the first six months of the year.

Formula feeds were down 14,000 tons as compared to last year, because of record on-farm grain and forage, plus low grain prices which continued to pressure farmers to feed more of these items and purchase less feed.

Fertilizer tonnage was off 43,000 tons as compared to a year ago. The decline reflects the overall industry situation due largely to a decrease in fertilizer consumption.

Seed volume for this year was $7.1 million as compared to $7.6 million a year ago.

Farm supplies reached $37.4 million, up slightly over last year.

Petroleum gallonage was down slightly to 98.8 million as compared with 96.6 million last year.

Grain marketing volume reached 17.4 million bushels, down from 18.5 million bushels a year ago.

Other features of the session included a videotaped personal message from Secretary of Agriculture, John Block.

A total of 37 of these regional meetings are being held over a five-state area this month by Southern States. The cooperative serves farmer members who live in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and Kentucky and who hold a total of 336,835 memberships in the organization.

Store managers attending the session from this area were: Wayne Fratz, W.H. Fratz Inc. Accident; Tom Boggess, Southern States. Grantsville Service and Rex Hoalcraft, Southern States Oakland Co-op.

Vo-Ag Classes Visit Tableland And Health Lab

Vo-Ag students of Southern High School visited Tableland Milk Plant and the Maryland State Animal Health Lab on Friday as part of their celebration for National FFA Week.

The students went in two groups of approximately 35 each. Mrs. Patricia White and Mrs. Ahern conducted a tour of the State Animal Health Lab located on the Golf Course Road. Mrs. White showed the students various tests conducted in the lab and the autopsy facilities. She also informed the group as to who could use the services and career opportunities in the Veterinarian Technician area.

The group then traveled to Tableland Milk Co. Gene Matthews welcomed the groups and introduced Ed Petersheim who conducted the tours. The students were able to see milk being delivered in cans, milk being weighed, milk samples for testing being taken, cans being washed, and the cooling process that the milk goes through before being put in the bulk tanks. Students were informed that the plant handles approximately 12 million lbs. of raw milk a year and employs 19 people.

The Vo-Ag department and Oakland FFA chapter recognized the staff at Tableland and the Animal Health Lab for their time and cooperation, as well as Mrs. Carolyn Beckman for donating her time to drive the bus and William Fitzwater for donating the use of the bus.

Farmers Advised Of March 31 Loan Deadline

William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds Maryland farmers that March 31 is the final day to obtain price support loans or enter their 1982 wheat, oats, and barley in the farmer-owned reserve. Loans for corn, sorghum, and soybeans and entries into the farmer-owned feed grain reserve may be made until May 31.

Crum said many farmers use the commodity loan program to obtain interim operating capital or to hold their grain for future delivery. "Increased loan levels and low market prices have had some impact on the amount of participation in the program," he said.

As of January 1, 1983, local farmers had obtained federal price support loans on more than 1.3 million bushels fo their 1982 grain crops. Maryland county loan rates for 1982 per bushel are: wheat $3.54, oats $1.44, barley $2.06, corn $2.78, sorghum $4.36 and soybeans $5.02. Ordinary loans have a nine-month maturity date with variable monthly interest rates.

To be eligible for price support loans, farmers need to participate in acreage reduction and land diversion programs.

The ASCS official said that the primary function of the price support loan program is to offer farmers a tool for marketing their grain. "Historically, during harvest time our market prices are generally less than what they are during other times of the year, and the loan program does provide farmers with an opportunity to take advantage of any possible increase in market prices at a later time."

Maryland farmers interested in obtaining loans or entering their 1982 small grain crops in the reserve should contact the local ASCS office before the March 31 deadline.

THE BATTLE OF THE BULGES

Spring will be here soon, bringing with it thoughts of the battle of the 1983 winter bulges. You may think that one of the new "fad" diets will solve this problem quickly, but chances are you are wrong. With so many "fad" diets available, perhaps the following information may prove helpful in evaluating them before you choose your own battle strategy:

*Listen—what is the basis or rational of the diet?

*Ask for evidence—who told you about the diet and what is the author's background?

*Know the facts—your body needs certain nutrients. Will this diet provide them?

*Ask questions—does the diet limit food choice? Does it promise cure-alls? Does it cost money? Does it differ greatly from the Daily Food Guide?

A sensible battle strategy for losing weight is:

1. Based on nutrition facts and is nutritionally balanced.
2. Based on a variety of food eaten in moderation.
3. Tailored to fit the dieter's life style and eating patterns.
4. Designed to help the dieter lose from 1-3 pounds a week.
5. Concerned with a physical activity plan to burn stored body fat.
6. Based on the Daily Food Guide—4 servings of vegetables and fruits; 4 servings of breads and cereals; 2-4 servings of milk and cheese; and 2 servings of meat, poultry, fish, etc.

Try this tasty recipe—only 115 calories per 3 ounce serving:

BAKED FISH FILLETS

1 pound fresh or frozen fish fillets
2 teaspoons margarine melted
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1/5 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon parsley, chopped

Thaw frozen fish in refrigerator overnight. Lightly grease a shallow baking pan. Place fillets in a single layer, skin side down, in pan. Mix margarine, lemon juice, salt, and paprika. Spoon over fillets. Bake at 350°F (moderate oven) until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork, about 20 minutes. Garnish each serving with parsley. Menu suggestions: Serve with herbed broccoli and tomato-cucumber salad.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

An officers training workshop will be held on March 8 at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the Oakland Extension Office. All interested persons are invited.

Linda Kroecker is a Columbia Gas meter reader, and she's also a Columbia Gas customer, paying the same rates as all other customers. So like everybody else, she's concerned with holding down natural gas costs. That's why she's part of a drive at Columbia which is saving the company and its customers over $7,000,000 a year. By reading meters every other month instead of monthly as used to be the case, Columbia has cut costs with little effect on service. Through the efforts of Linda and thousands of other Columbia employees like her, Columbia is working every day to bring natural gas to your home (and theirs) as efficiently as possible. Natural gas rates are rising. But the more economical we can be, the more we'll all save.

Chapter I Week To Be Observed

March 7-11 Throughout Maryland

Next week, March 7-11, has been designated as Chapter I week by Governor Harry Hughes throughout Maryland. In each of the eight identified Chapter I schools in this county, special events and activities will be held to emphasize the special services received through this federally-funded program.

Chapter I, the largest of all federal aid to education programs, is designed to give extra help to students who are having reading or arithmetic problems. In Garrett County, the program focuses on kindergarten through grade five.

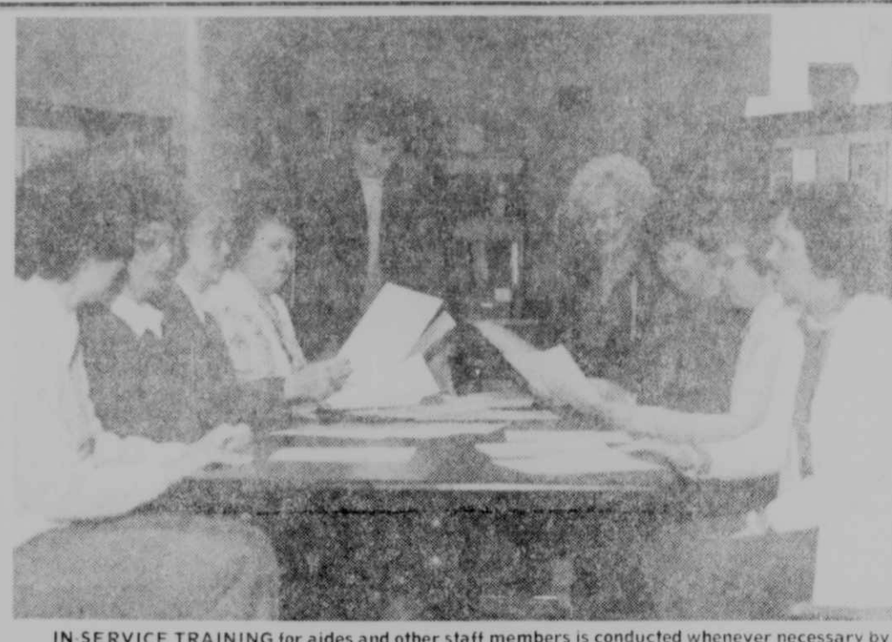
Schools are identified for this help based on the number of free lunches that are served, and then all children in the identified school are eligible regardless of their economic status.

Garrett County's Chapter I program has a budget of $650,519 for the current school year. This has been supplemented by $77,085 from the state Compensatory Education Program. With this money, the program pays for one administrator, one secretary, 50 instructional aides, six home-school aides, four nurses, and five resource teachers. Some of the budget also includes money for dental care, materials of instruction, testing services, etc.

The primary objective of the program is to achieve one year of growth for a year of instruction for the program participants. This past year, the program has achieved or surpassed its goals in nearly all areas tested at each of the six grade levels.

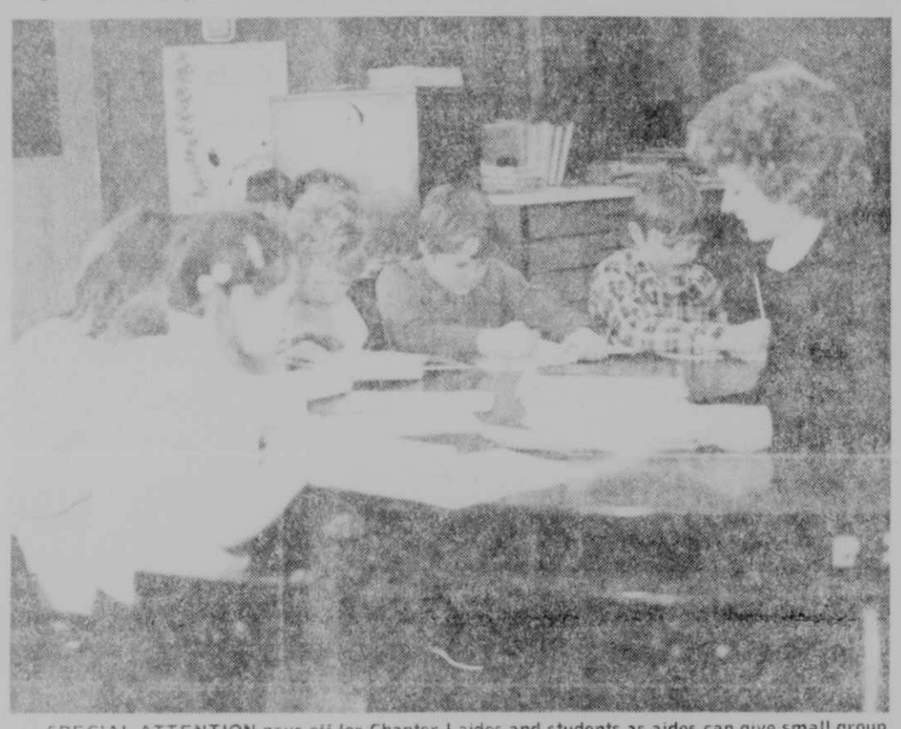
Garrett County has gained state-wide recognition with the "Parenting Component" of its Chapter I program. Hundreds of parents across the county participate in the Parent Advisory Council (PAC) which is headed by Mrs. Lois Bittinger of Grantsville. Mrs. Bittinger also serves as the state corresponding secretary for the state council.

The Home-Reinforcement component in Garrett County strongly emphasizes parents working with their children, using materials prepared and delivered by the home-school aides, according to Francis Harris, supervisor of Chapter I.



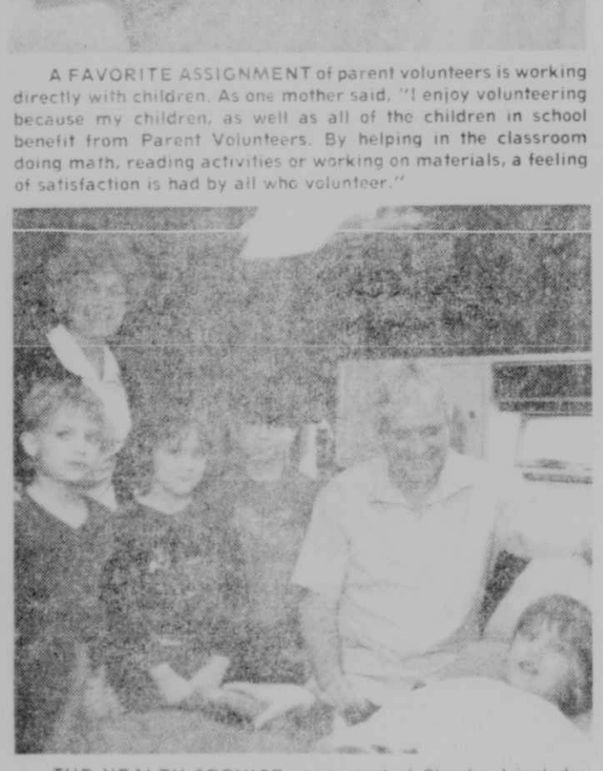
Another service that is unique in Garrett County is the use of the CAT kit. This program is directly related to the skill needs of students as shown by the California Achievement Test. No other county in the state has such a program. The kits were created and prepared here in the county by the program staff members and good results have been reported by all the schools involved. This program has been given much publicity at the state level and is being highlighted at the state Chapter I conference this week.

Education Secretary Terrel H. Bell, who is generally enthusiastic in cutting his department's budget, is a fan of Chapter I, according to Harris. "It took us a while to learn how to teach disadvantaged children," Bell told a congressional hearing last year, "but now that's a program you can brag about. Test scores in many areas are on the rise."



Chapter I week in the county will be observed with special meetings with the county commissioners and school board members, letter writing to state and national representatives, special arrangements for parents to visit the program in the schools, special bulletin board displays in the schools and the Ruth Enlow Library, news articles in The Republican, and messages to parents over the local radio stations.

PEER TUTORING has proved a most useful tool with Chapter I students in the various schools. All of the participants in this phase gain in knowledge and understanding of their skills as work progresses.



IN-SERVICE TRAINING for aides and other staff members is conducted whenever necessary by the Chapter I resource teachers and administrators.

SPECIAL ATTENTION pays off for Chapter I aides and students as aides can give small group instruction and attention to enable students to catch up and keep on their grade levels.

A FAVORITE ASSIGNMENT of parent volunteers is working directly with children. As one mother said, "I enjoy volunteering because my children, as well as all of the children in school benefit from Parent Volunteers. By helping in the classroom doing math, reading activities or working on materials, a feeling of satisfaction is had by all who volunteer."

THE HEALTH SERVICE component of Chapter I includes dental services. Shown are children taken to Dr. Porter Welch by Mrs. Connie Domenick, Chapter I nurse.

PRESENTS CHECK — Delores Kelly, president of the Mt. Grove Sewing Circle, presents a check for $500 to Willard Roth, vice president of the Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department which was formed in 1982. The check was the second $500 donation to be presented to the fire company from the circle in 1982. The fire company is located three miles south of Silver Lake, along Rt. 219.

Record Number Of Refund Checks Being Mailed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says his office is not only sending record numbers of refund checks to state income taxpayers, but is also saving tax dollars in the mailing process.

"As of February 22, 1983, we had mailed about 300,000 state income tax refund checks, with each check averaging more than $190," Goldstein said. "At this time last year we had mailed just over 250,000 checks, each averaging about $176. These checks are going out to taxpayers more quickly because taxpayers are filing their returns earlier than ever before."

The Comptroller said he believes returns are being filed earlier because of the economy, with taxpayers anxious to receive their refund checks.

"So far, we have actually returned a total of $51.6 million in refunds. That's 15% more money than issued at this time last year. In addition to pumping this money back into the economy earlier than ever before, our office is actually saving money on the postage we must pay for mailing the refund checks to taxpayers," Goldstein stated. "We are using presorting equipment in our mailing operations to save steps at the Post Office. That way we can send the checks for 17¢ each, instead of the normal 20¢. The checks still go first class mail, but so far this year, we have saved about $5,000 in postage costs.

"Naturally, one of the best ways to speed along your refund check is to send in an error free tax return," Goldstein said. "Be sure to double check your calculations and use the preaddressed label that came on your tax packet, if the information on it is correct. Using the label saves important time in data processing. And be sure you sign your return and attach all W-2 statements. For your protection, do not send in a return completed in pencil, and, if someone else prepares your return for you, be sure they sign it also. Remember, any error slows down processing and your refund check."

Broad Ford PTA To Meet March 7

Broad Ford Elementary School PTA will meet Monday, March 7 at 7:30 p.m, in the school cafeteria. A slate of officers will be presented with elections to be held in May.

The art display which was scheduled for the March meeting will be exhibited in May. However, a short program will be given by Mrs. Carolyn Simmons, Chapter I Resource Teacher.

Homebuyers Urged To Analyze Soil Before Purchasing

People ready to buy land or build a home should look at what's below the ground as well as above when choosing a home or homesite, says John Reckner, U.S. Soil Conservation Service district conservationist.

There are over 700 different soil types in Maryland, some more suitable for homes than others, says Reckner.

Items prospective homebuyers should consider include floodplain, soil stability, sewer service availability and land suitability for basements, says Reckner.

In considering a land parcel, persons should investigate the possibility of flooding by looking at whether the site is in a flood plain and if so whether there is adequate protection from floods. Also to be considered are whether the soils drain properly to prevent standing water and whether there is runoff from neighboring property.

In looking at soil stability, persons should consider the slope of the land and the potential for landslides.

If a site is not near a town sewerage system, a person should have his land tested for suitability of septic tanks and should consider depth of soil to hard rock, steepness of slope, soil type, permeability and depth of the water table, Reckner says.

A fourth consideration, notes Reckner, is whether land is suitable for a basement. Shallow soils and high water tables often make poor basement sites, he says.

Reckner advises people to check with a neighbor or someone else familiar with the area about possible problems and to check the soil survey for the area before buying. Soil survey publications are available for reference at most public libraries and at local Soil Conservation Service and soil conservation district offices.

Local DAR Meets

The Youghiogheny Glades Chapter DAR met in the Social Room of St. Paul's United Methodist Church for their February meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Pauline Parrack, Regent. Mrs. Clara Bell Briner, chaplain, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Parrack read the President General's message to the group.

Since it was George Washington's birthday, Mrs. Ruth Porter gave a report on his accomplishments during his life time.

Mrs. Lillian Reckner had charge of the program, which was made up of a Sing-a-Long of Historical Music. She gave the origin and composer of the different songs.

Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Ruth Porter, Mrs. Mary Jane DeWitt, Mrs. Violet Bowser and Mrs. Beryldine Stanton.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Janice Hutchinson.

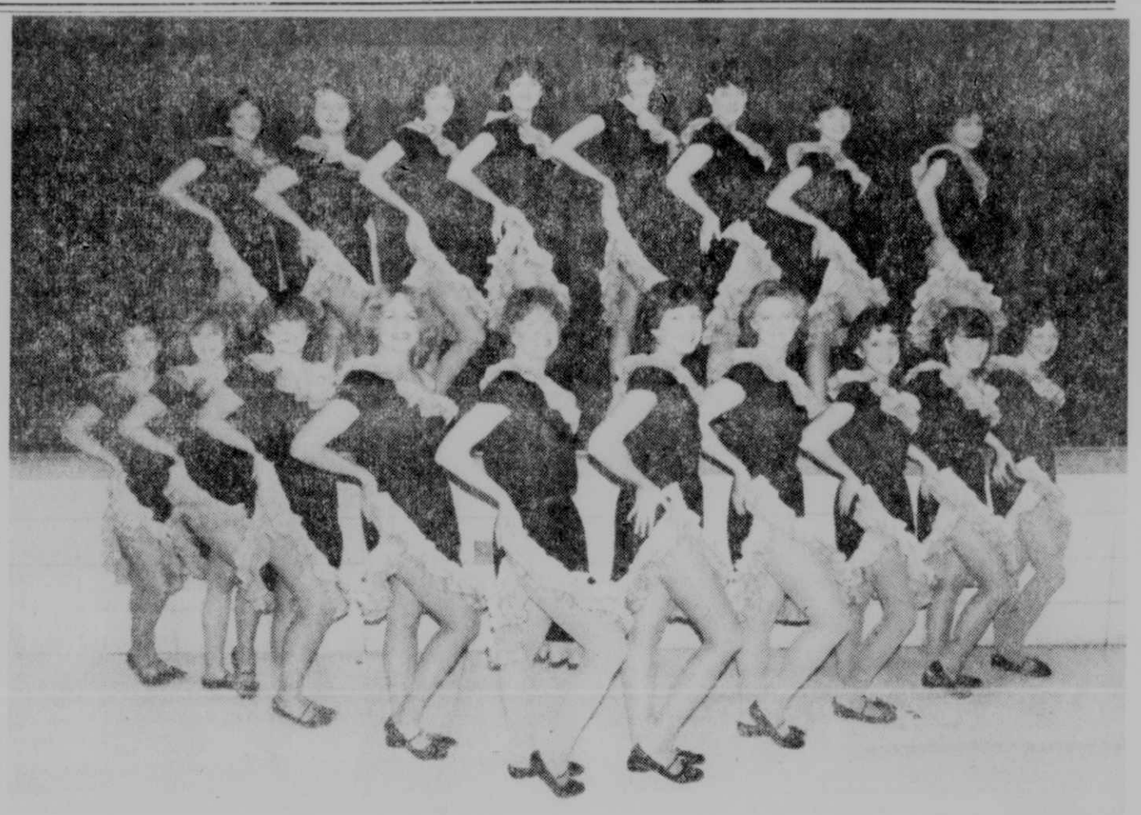
County Solid Waste System Goes Out To Bid

The Garrett County Commissioners have decided to solicit bid proposals for operation of the county solid waste system rather than extend the contract with Browning-Ferris Inc. at the price that the firm's officials have indicated they need to operate.



The commisioners last week expressed dissatisfaction with a report from BFI representatives on how the consolidation of county dumpster sites in January has affected county costs for the system.

The representatives said that if the county reduces the number of sites from 10 to six, BFI would reduce its monthly fee from $25,922 to $24,500. The contract with BFI will expire on April 25.

The commissioners, who reportedly believe they can contract the system for less, will be accepting bids until 2 p.m. on March 29 when the bids will be opened and read.

County clerk Bob Fousek said the commissioners would accept bids for the entire county system or would accept bids for segments of the system.

The commissioners said Tuesday they plan to further consolidate county dumpster sites in more clement weather. Three sites are to be consolidated in one site near Flowers By Webers on the Weber Road, off U.S. 219 south of Oakland. The three sites to be consolidated there will be the Bethlehem Road, Ben DeWitt and Crellin sites.

THE SOUTHERN BELLES, Winter Guard of Southern High School, are leaving today to show off their award-winning talent in Pensacola, Florida, at the Winter Guard International Southern Regional Division Championships. The Belles placed first in the West Penn Circuit Championships hosted by Grand Illusion Guard, Greensburg, Pa., on February 26, with a score of 70.55, nearly ten points ahead of second place finisher Eutopia, which scored a 61. The girls, who rehearse approximately 22 hours per week, also performed during halftime at the West Virginia University-George Washington basketball game in Morgantown on February 23, before a crowd of nearly 12,000 people. They will shoot for the National Championship if they score high in the Southern Regional event, which is being hosted by Tate High School. The Belles are under the direction of Richard Clever, Southern band director, and Robert and Diana Thomas, Greensburg, Pa. In the photo, left to right, front row, are Tina Mason, Lisa Savage, Kristi Bowling, Melissa Brode, Theresa Harsh, Brenda Ruff, Lorie Teagarden, Beth Zimmerman, Sonja Peterman and Teresa Rivenbark. In the second row, same order, are Chrissy Chloros, Linda Harvey, Tracey Shaffer, Julie Harvey, Gena McMillan, Chloie Hutson, Debbie Mason and Lorie Watson. Not present for the photo were Miranda Fitzwater and Brenda Plessinger.

County Has Rabies Case

Garrett County recorded its first confirmed case of rabies in well over a decade after laboratory reports confirm that a raccoon killed in the Steyer Mine Road vicinity Friday did have the early stages of the disease.

Dr. William Pope, county health officer, reported this morning that the animal was rabid, after receiving test results from the laboratories administration of the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The raccoon was observed by Wayne Martin, who said it came out of the woods, would walk about 30 feet, lie down and roll around, then get up and stagger in circles. Martin shot the animal, being careful to avoid the brain, and called the health department, which sent the brain to the lab for analysis.

There have been more than 139 confirmed cases of rabies in the state this year, while the total for the entire year of 1982 was 152.

The health department had been expecting the county's first rabid animal, especially since the outbreaks in surrounding counties and the four-state area. Just last week in Mt. Savage there was a rabies case confirmed. The health department officials feel the disease is affecting animals in the Potomac River Valley and warns residents in this area and also in the eastern part of the county to be expecially careful. Vaccination of all household pets is urged at once so that passage of the disease between wild animals and humans can be halted.

The local health department also warns persons who find dead animals in the woods not to handle the animals. Trappers, too, are cautioned to be especially careful. Although the disease has been found mainly in raccoons (134 of the 139 cases officially recorded) one beaver, a cat, and a skunk in Montgomery County have been determined to be rabid.

Residents are asked to be wary of animals acting strangely, especially those which normally are not seen in fields during daylight hours.

Deputy, Wife Deliver Daughter Amid Rain, Fog In Deer Park Yard

Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Charles Nolan recorded the experience of a lifetime when the deputy delivered their third child Monday at 3:25 a.m. in the yard of her mother's home near Deer Park, amid rain and fog.

Although the contractions seemed mild and the couple thought there would be plenty of time to get to the hospital, that belief was overly optimistic. No sooner had they dressed and started down the path to the car than Jane (Garrett) Nolan said that the baby was coming, and despite the excited pleading of her husband, lay down to deliver the child.

Although Deputy Nolan said "Fear rushed through me like a volcano, starting at my toes, by the time it reached my waist I was able to say, 'You're a professional, now act like one.' "

Improvising as circumstances presented themselves, he lay down beside his wife and proceeded to help, turning the child as necessary, using his shoelace to tie the cord, catching the placenta in his hat, and covering the baby with his brand new, Fraternal Order of Police jacket.

Using his police radio, Nolan then called for the Southern Rescue Squad, which was guided to the Garrett home by Deputy Russell Drenning, who overheard the call. Mother and daughter were rushed to the hospital, where they were admitted in good condition.

Although formally named Sheila Catherine, the new baby has been called only "Twiggy" by hospital staff members, as the mother's clothing was covered with leaves and twigs from the yard when she arrived at the hospital.

Although he is no stranger to the birthing process, having watched delivery of his first daughter, Bridget Best, and assisted with delivery of his son, Charles Robert, this was the first time Nolan had been on his own at the crucial moment. In the yard he did not even have the benefits of lights, as he noted. Members of sheriff's departments are trained in childbirth as part of their police training, and this county sheriff's department is also undergoing the rigorous 83 hour Emergency Medical Technican course to be better trained for emergency situaions.

Eight-pound, 12-ounce Sheila is a granddaughter of Nell Garrett, Deer Park, and the late Robert Garrett, and Charles T. and Mabel Nolan, Albuquerque, N. Mex.

To mark the location of Sheila's birth, the Nolans plan to plant a flower at the precise spot and Deputy Nolan also said he would place a small plaque there engraved with "Twiggy's" name and birthdate.

Board Considering Vocational Options Voiced At Wednesday's Meeting

Although opinions may differ on the means to obtain better vocational education in the county, the Board of Education has been definitely informed that present facilities at both high schools and the college need extensive improvement, expansion and additional offerings.

In efforts to decide on whether to either renovate the two high schools, construct a vocational center for eleventh and twelfth graders, or construct a vocational high school, the Board held a public hearing last Wednesday at Garrett Community College to hear comments which may be helpful in making the decision.

Unfortunately, only some 25 concerned members of the public turned out to present their opinions.

In order to facilitate the planned renovation of Northern High School, slated to begin in 1984, the board must make a decision on which method would be best for the county at their April 14 meeting.

Because of the Board of Education's and the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees' concern about quality vocational education, the groups authorized a needs assessment study of vocational/technical education in the county, prepared by the Department of Industrial, Technological and Occupational Education at the University of Maryland, and completed last fall.

Headed by Dr. Donald Maley, the research team interviewed and investigated teachers, programs, students, employers, employment opportunities, and the school facilities. Their recommendations are chiefly that vocational offerings be expanded and/or that a vocational/technical center be built, possibly in the center of the county. Should the county decide, however, to keep the vocational programs in the two existing high schools, then the buildings should be extensively renovated to provide for the expanded programs and to bring facilities up to state space standards.

Two committees which have been studying vocational needs here have also now made their recommendations to the board. The Vocational Advisory Council supports the idea of a separate vocational high school facility, for the use of students who plan careers in the voca-

Judge Orders Mettiki To Reinstate Fitzwater With Back Pay, Interest

A federal mine safety and health review commission administrative judge has issued his decision that a former Mettiki coal corporation employee must be reinstated in his position with back pay and benefits plus interest after that miner was discharged because he made safety complaints and had refused to work in a dusty area without an approved dust mask.

The employee will also be entitled to reasonable expenses in connection with prosecution of the case.

Judge Charles C. Moore, Jr. told a reporter for The Republican this week that he had issued his decision on the merits of the case heard in 1982 between William E. Fitzwater III vs. Mettiki Coal Corporation, a subsidiary of Tulsa-based MAPCO.

A final order will be pending once the opposing attorneys have come to an agreement on the amount of settlement and percentage of interest to be paid. Should the attorneys be unable to agree, then Judge Moore will set the amounts.

Once the final order has been released, then Mettiki attorneys may appeal the case, although Michael Heenan, principal attorney for Mettiki, indicated Monday that until an agreement is reached, that corporation will not know whether or not to appeal.

Heenan, a member of Smith, Heenan, Althen and Zanolli, of Washington, D.C., was assisted by Barbara Krause. Fitzwater was represented by David E. Street, Office of the Solicitor for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Judge Moore also said that he did not assess a penalty against Mettiki in the case, as the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission has yet to rule on whether it is proper to assess a penalty in a discrimination case.

"Devastating Case"

In his decision, Judge Moore stated first of all that "I have heard a number of discrimination cases and I cannot recall any where the government has presented such a devastating case." Several present and former foremen and employees were called by Fitzwater's attorney to support his case, while only one supervisor, Mike Burch, testified for Mettiki.

Judge Moore went on to declare that he found that "the company was looking for an excuse to fire Mr. Fitzwater and that the reason Mr. Kutchman wanted to get rid of the Fitzwaters was because of safety complaints."

The judge also asserted in his opinion that "miners who brought up safety matters were considered trouble makers."

Testimony from various employees and former and present foremen was studied by the judge, who noted that George Kutchman, mine superintendent, was alleged to have said several times that he knew the Fitzwaters had made safety complaints to the Mine Safety and Health Administration and that "he wanted to get rid of them."

Kutchman did not testify at the discrimination hearing.

It was verified to the judge's satisfaction that Kutchman suggested to the supervisors in August 1981 that the Fitzwaters be harassed and even at one point considered laying off a number of miners and then rehiring everybody except the Fitzwaters and Tichnells.

Former foreman Randy Chapman brought into evidence a diary in which he said that on August 25 of that year Kutch-

No Decision Announced On Lake Project

Members of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission have heard no word as yet from Federal Judge Frank Kaufman, who is to decide whether or not to require an environmental impact statement before the Deep Creek Lake sewerage project can get under construction.

That suit was brought before the Judge through litigation instigated by the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake, who claim that such a statement should have been provided to the Environmental Protection Agency, and also that the entire project is now too costly.

Judge Kaufman had said earlier that he would have a decision by early March.

There will be a public hearing so that citizens of the county can present testimony in support of or in opposition to the lake project before the Garrett County Commissioners next Monday, March 14, in the circuit court room in Oakland. That hearing will get underway at 7 p.m.

The decision has been appealed by petition to the commissioners from property owners who are dissatisfied with the Sanitary Commission's decision to proceed with the project.

County Jobless Rate Near 26%

Reflecting eased economic conditions, Maryland's estimated unemployment rate increased by less than one percentage point between December 1982 and January 1983, according to statistics released today by the Maryland Department of Human Resources, Employment Security Administration. However, Garrett County's jobless figure jumped over three points, from 22.8 to 25.9, the second highest rate among the counties and Baltimore City. Garrett County's unemployment rate was 19.8 in January of 1982.

Out of Garrett County's workforce of 12,436 in January, 3,215 were unemployed.

Western Maryland's unemployment rate jumped from 13.9 to 16.8 percent.

Lightning Said To Be Cause Of Friendsville Fire

Lightning was blamed as the cause of a fire early Tuesday morning which caused several thousand dollars in damage to a house along Teets Road near Friendsville.

Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett County who investigated the incident, reported that lightning apparently struck the electrical service to the one-story frame house shortly after 5 a.m. and set the attic of the Ethel Meyers residence on fire.

Terry Spear, assistant chief of the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department, said that a lot of smoke was coming out of the front eaves of the structure when fire personnel arrived. They quickly confined the fire to half the attic and a portion of the kitchen ceiling where the fire burned through.

Carola said that some of the rafters in the attic were burned, however the fire did not burn through the roof. He estimated damage at between seven and ten thousand dollars.

Spear said that Mrs. Meyers, a widow, lost some personal property including clothing and other items. She was awakened by the sound of lightning striking the house and went to a neighbor's home to call for help.

Garrett Central Alarm dispatched Friendsville and Accident VFDs to the scene at 5:20 a.m., along with the county air cascade vehicle and Northern Rescue Squad. Friendsville firemen remained on the scene until 7:06 a.m. There were no injuries reported.

Carola stated that the wires on a shed located about 50 feet from the house were also burned, however the structure did not catch fire.

ALTHOUGH THE EXPERTS said a few years ago that it would never happen, it did happen this week in Garrett County—the price of gasoline dropped below one dollar per gallon. The effects of the world-wide oil glut have finally reached the mountaintop, as Arrowhead gas station on Deep Creek Lake was reportedly the first county station which dropped the price of regular gas to 98.9 cents per gallon on Monday. Other local stations are expected to reduce their prices also.

Board Inspects Roads Proposed To Be Abandoned

The Garrett County Commissioners did not spend the entire day Tuesday in their office, but filled their day with county business as they traveled around the Accident area and left for Annapolis late in the afternoon.

During a press conference Tuesday at 3 p.m., the commissioners said they visited roads in the Accident area which were among the 20 roads to be considered for abandonment.

After their inspection, the commissioners decided they wanted to visit all the roads, which amount to 7.6 miles and involve 31 families, before making their final decision.

The commissioners did take action to abandon Pea Ridge Road which involved one family who requested the county abandon the road.

The commissioners explained many of the roads proposed for abandonment do not meet current county roads standards, but were accepted into the road system at a time when the county had no standards.

Commissioner Elwood Groves stated the commissioners fully intend to strictly adhere to the county specifications in considering acceptance of roads into the system in the future.

The commissioners held a public hearing on the proposed abandonment of roads. The hearing was attended by an estimated 100 citizens.

In other business, the commissioners adopted an ordinance regulating the use of county bridges. The ordinance forbids fishing, swimming, jumping or diving from bridges as well as forbids launching boats, rafts or other flotation

Unconscious Man Found Monday

A series of baffling incidents surrounds an incident involving a Mt. Storm young man found unconcscious in the roadway at the intersection of Boy Scout and Sand Flat Roads early Monday morning.

According to Deputy Russell Drenning, a call was made to central alarm saying that there was a disabled vehicle at that spot. When Drenning arrived, he found 19-year-old Randall Simpson lying beside his silver Toyota Corolla and bleeding profusely from head injuries.

Members of the Southern Rescue Squad took Simpson to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for head and slight back injuries. Simpson was released on Tuesday afternoon.

At the scene, Simpson told Deputy Drenning and Maryland State Police Tfc. Tracy only that he couldn't remember what had happened to him.

The young man had no shirt or coat on, the keys to the vehicle were in the open trunk lying on a coat, the driver's window had been shattered and the victim's wallet containing approximately $16 was found across the road.

Police said Tuesday afternoon that the investigation in continuing.

Sanitary Board Reviews Projects

The status of all projects in progress through the Garrett County Sanitary Commission were discussed at that group's meeting last Tuesday.

The commission, which has a right of way from the state highway department for placement of its water line adjacent to Route 560 and Route 50 in the Gorman area, will soon be making a decision on who is to move that line due to construction of a new, realigned bridge over the Potomac River by the West Virginia highway department.

At a meeting with highway officials from both states last Thursday, the commission asked West Virginia to quote a price for moving the line. West Virginia will be constructing the new bridge, and will bill Maryland for its portion. The commission has asked the West Virginia deparment to quote the price as a delete item so that if the sanitary commission feels the price is too high, then West Virginia could drop that segment of the work and the sanitary commission will seek a low bidder to do the moving.

Since the new bridge will not follow the same route as the present structure, the road department must remove part of the embankment there at the intersection of Routes 50 and 560, and this would place the water line under the middle of the road, a location not acceptable to the Maryland highway officials. When the sanitary commission obtained a right of way for the line, it was contingent on the commission being responsible for moving the line should it ever become necessary.

Although the Gorman water line has been placed into service, the contractor, Uwchland Contracting, has never completed several final items nor asked for final inspections from the sanitary commission or the Farmers Home Administration. The commission received a letter from the contractors asking for additional time to complete the project, but the commission did not agree to grant this request.

Water Line Abandoned

The new Mt. Lake water transmission line has been placed into full service and is working so well that not only has the old line been abandoned, but the pumps previously used to force water through the line have been turned off. The new line, since its realignment from Landon's Dam to the water plant in Loch Lynn, makes use of gravity to force the water through the line. Pressure so far has been so good that the tank in Mt. Lake Park is running over, according to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator.

Now the only pump in service is the chlorinator pump. The sanitary commission has agreed to purchase an altitude control valve for the tank to prevent its overflowing and to help maintain better pressure on the system.

Seek Appropriation Permit

The commission is in the process of seeking an appropriation permit from the Department of Natural Resources to withdraw water from Wolf Den Run near Kitzmiller to be used for that town's water supply.

Should the DNR decide to grant the permit, there will be a public hearing conducted by the state to determine if the town wishes to continue with the project. If the residents decide to continue, the commission must then seek a discharge permit for backflow from the treatment plant.

The commission has been investigating the change in scope of the project since the town has decided to seek water from Maryland rather than from the Mt. Top Water District Public Service District. The board is now negotiating with the engineering firm of Frederick Ward and Associates to keep additional costs to a minimum. If water is obtained from Wolf Den, the engineering firm must design a water treatment plant, an item not needed if water was obtained through a line to Elk Garden, W. Va. There is a good posibility of obtaining additional funds from state sources, according to Beitzel.

Bloomington Sewerage Comments

The sanitary commission has received comments from the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene concerning the proposed Bloomington sewerage facilities plan. The comments concern costs and make several suggestions for changes. The commission has discussed the state's comments with the engineering firm Cerrone and Vaughn, Wheeling, W. Va., which is now in the process of making the proposed changes.

Once the changes are complete, there will be a final public hearing on the sewerage facility plan to determine if the town should proceed with trying to obtain grant funds for design of a facility.

Squad Receives Comfy Donation

Members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad were recently made a bit more comfortable during their time at the squad hall on Oak Street because of a donation by Kelly Vance, owner of Kelly's Appliance and Furniture, Loch Lynn.

Vance donated a new two-piece couch and two side chairs for use in the squad lounge. The value of the furniture was approximately $900.

Reaching Out With Love

by Carol Fox

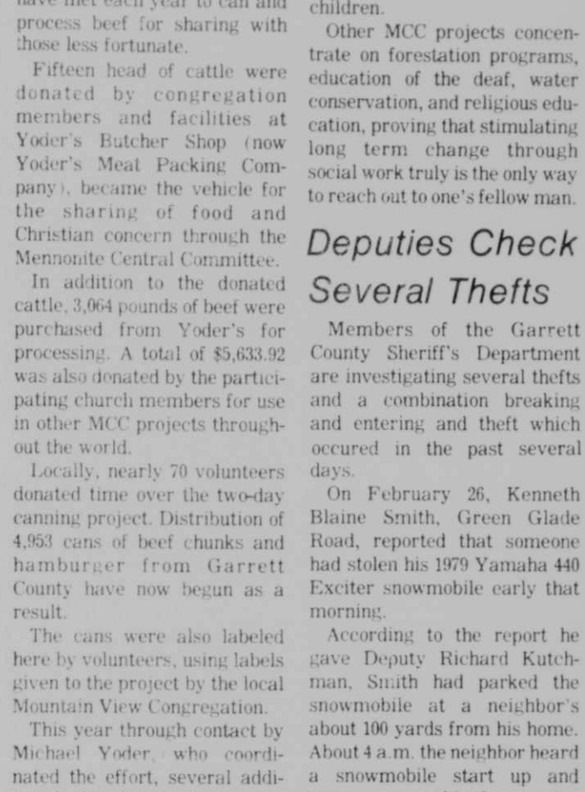
Service to one's fellow humans is an integral part of Christian faith, and a number of Garrett County residents recently demonstrated their belief in that service.

Since 1945, Amish members of the Mountain View Fellowship (formerly known as the Beachy Amish Congregation) have met each year to can and process beef for sharing with those less fortunate.

Fifteen head of cattle were donated by congregation members and facilities at Yoder's Butcher Shop (now Yoder's Meat Packing Company), became the vehicle for the sharing of food and Christian concern through the Mennonite Central Committee.

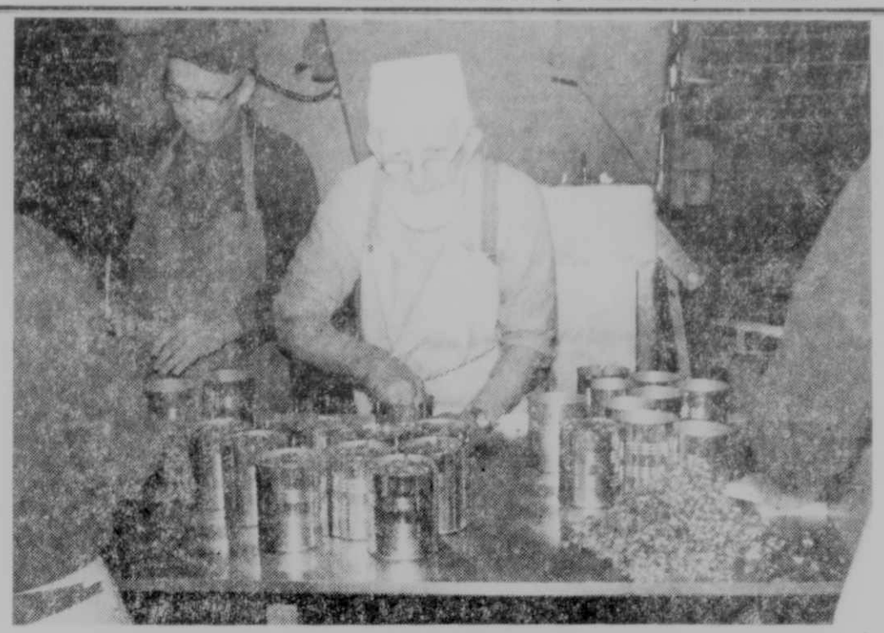
In addition to the donated cattle, 3,064 pounds of beef were purchased from Yoder's for processing. A total of $5,633.92 was also donated by the participating church members for use in other MCC projects throughout the world.

Locally, nearly 70 volunteers donated time over the two-day canning project. Distribution of 4,953 cans of beef chunks and hamburger from Garrett County have now begun as a result.



The cans were also labeled here by volunteers, using labels given to the project by the local Mountain View Congregation.

This year through contact by Michael Yoder, who coordinated the effort, several additional churches, including the Maple Glen Mennonite, Oakdale, Springs, Cherry Glade Mennonite, four Old Order Amish congregations and the Oakland Amish Church in Gortner, took part with the Mountain View Fellowship.



Material aid in 1982 from U.S. and Canadian donors resulted in 107 shipments to 32 countries around the world.

The shipments included 231,168 lbs. of canned beef; 87,835 bushels of wheat; 27,636 blankets; 14,016 layettes; 7,624 health kits; 360,965 pounds of powdered milk; 2,427 towels; and 51,384 school kits to needy children.

Other MCC projects concentrate on forestation programs, education of the deaf, water conservation, and religious education, proving that stimulating long term change through social work truly is the only way to reach out to one's fellow man.

CAN AFTER CAN — These are just a few of the nearly 5000 cans of beef chunks and ground meat which were processed and packed for distribution by area Mennonite and Amish congregations last weekend. Needy families around the world are aided with food and supplies by the Mennonite Service Center. Working with the canning process are, left to right, Jesse, John and Grace Yoder.

STUFFING GROUND MEAT after the men did the boning was the order of the day on February 26 and 27 as members of the Mountain View congregation worked. Left is Ella Tice, assisted by Joyce Schrock.

Deputies Check Several Thefts

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department are investigating several thefts and a combination breaking and entering and theft which occured in the past several days.

On February 26, Kenneth Blaine Smith, Green Glade Road, reported that someone had stolen his 1979 Yamaha 440 Exciter snowmobile early that morning.

According to the report he gave Deputy Richard Kutchman, Smith had parked the snowmobile at a neighbor's about 100 yards from his home. About 4 a.m. the neighbor heard a snowmobile start up and move away, and in the morning discovered that it wasn't Smith who had removed the machine.

Estimated loss is $1,200.

On March 5, Janet Upole reported the theft of a battery from her vehicle while it was parked outside her home in Piper's Trailer Court. The Firestone Lifetime battery, valued at $50, was removed when the battey cables were cut. Criminal Investigator Harland Tichnell is investigating.

Sometime between 4 p.m. March 5 and 6:30 a.m. March 7, unknown persons shattered a window at the office of Bowers Lumber Company off Route 135 near Deer Park.

Missing from the building were a pocket calculator, a set of Stanley screwdrivers, a set of hand wrenches, saw bits, flat files, and power saw files having an approximate value of $222.90.

They also shattered a window and entered a shed to remove a ¾ inch drive air wrench valued at $400. Total loss was estimated by Deputy Kutchman to be $622.90.

A young boy's bicycle was stolen while he and some friends played in the vicinity of Dennett Road School March 7 about 4:30 p.m. According to Deputy P.J. Pratt, while Matthew Riley of Mt. Lake Park was not watching, someone removed his BMX 1000 red bicycle from in front of the school. Estimated loss was $90. Anyone with knowledge of these or any recent crimes is asked to contact the county sheriff's department, 334-2141, or Crime Solvers, 334-3111.

Garrett County Forestry Board Is Re-Activated

The Garrett County Forestry Board re-activated this week, becoming the first local board in a network of state-sanctioned boards to re-group after a two-year hiatus brought on by a controversy involving the state ethics committee.

The Garrett board, like other Maryland boards, lost members through massive resignations sparked by a still-unclarified ethics committee ruling which requires financial disclosures from board members, who are in anyway connected with state projects or programs.

Many forestry board members, who volunteer their time to promote forestry in Garrett County and may also act as advisors to the Maryland Forest Service, felt the ruling was (and may still be) unnecessary in light of their volunteer role.

Regional forester George Gilmore, however, informed members at a meeting Monday not to worry about the disclosure forms for now. He said, if anything, probably abbreviated financial disclosures may be required of members.

The six-member Garrett Board re-organized and elected Charles Strauss, Accident, president, and Phillip Garman, Swanton, vice president. MFS project forester Ernie Metz is secretary. Other members include John Hill, Mt. Lake Park; Dr. F.D. Custer, Oakland; Hugh Trimble, McHenry; and Cindy Stacy, Swanton. Members represent various branches of forest interests in the county, from the commercial timber industry to tree farming.

Scheduled projects of the board, which plans to emphasize county forest and private land matters over state issues, include an Arbor Day (April 6) program at Northern Middle School and a Wye Oak tree planting ceremony to be held at Accident's Town View Village this spring.

Oakland Youth Held In Assault Of His Mother

A 19-year-old Oakland man is in the Garrett County jail in lieu of $5,000 cash bond on charges of assault, assault with a deadly weapon and resisting arrest following an incident about 5 p.m. Saturday involving the youth's mother and two police officers.

According to the Oakland police report, Deputy Charles Nolan and Cpl. Denver Welch responded to the Highview Apartments in answer to a call about a domestic complaint. The caller said that Robert Paul Shreve was in the apartment and threatening to shoot his mother, Alice Cora Shreve.

When the officers arrived, family members outside told them that Shreve was armed with a .22 calibre rifle and a pair of knife-like scissors.

Deputy Nolan went to the front door while Welch went around to the back. When Nolan knocked at the front door, Shreve attempted to escape out the back door, throwing aside the rifle as he ran, but saw Welch and ran through the house to the front with Welch in pursuit.

Shreve grappled with Nolan and made it into the front yard, where he was tackled and wrestled to the ground by Welch. Welch sustained several bruised ribs during the struggle before Shreve was subdued and handcuffed, but neither officer was hurt by the scissors Shreve was carrying.

Mrs. Shreve was taken by the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was admitted for treatment of a broken arm and several severe bruises. She was released Monday.

Elected PSC Undesirable

Several bills have been introduced into the Maryland General Assembly this year calling for an elected Public Service Commission, to replace the governor-appointed board we have now. One of the five present PSC commissioners, Wayne Hamilton, of Garrett County, stated publicly this week that he is opposed to an elected PSC, and we agree with him.

The main reason for opposing an elected board, as pointed out by Hamilton, is that the job of a PSC commissioner is one that requires specific skills, knowledge and ability. These traits may or may not be characteristic of any given candidate for that office. To put it bluntly, it is a tough, complicated job, and many persons just do not have what it takes to be a competent PSC commissioner.

One of the disadvantages of the electorial process is that, immediately after the election, there is a certain amount of "learning as you go" by the newly-elected officials. This has been most evident in various county commissioner boards over the years. The errant decisions sometimes made during this "learning" time can be quite damaging. Although there is also some "learning as you go" on the PSC, most of those appointed will have already proven their competency.

Another problem with any elected board, whether it be the PSC or a school board, is that such a system tends to attract persons who run for the office simply because they have a specific ax to grind. They may be skilled at grandstanding and shouting the loudest on one or two specific issues, but once elected prove to be severely lacking in the real skills needed for the job.

Michigan and Ohio voters recently turned down the elected PSC process by referendum and Florida's legislature has taken steps to do away with the elected board and return to the appointed board. They have undoubtedly learned from experience. Fewer than ten states presently have elected PSCs.

Utility rates are, of course, of great concern to all of us. However, even elected PSCs must operate within the limits of the law and there is no magic that can be performed to reduce rates simply because the public believes they are too high. In fact, in states where there are elected boards the utility companies have had great success in the courts in appealing PSC rulings and thus have been able to gain revised rates that are in the long run higher.

Senator John Bambacus is an advocate of an elected PSC. Although we believe that Senator Bambacus is doing an impressive job in representing his constituents thus far, we cannot agree with him on this one.

Who Wants Wet Peanut Butter?

by Carol Fox

That was my teenage daughter's response to my suggestion that she expand her gourmet experiences by spreading natural honey on her peanut butter sandwich. Never try anything new, that's her motto.

Another question—Wouldn't you love a crisp dollar bill for every wet eye in front of the television last Monday night? M-A-S-H certainly outdid itself on the tearful farewell.

Local question—What happened to the organization at Southern High School known as the "Spirit Squad?" The students worked for hours making posters and signs, they bought special shirts and scarves and planned to sit together at basketball games as a back-up cheering section. All of a sudden, they couldn't get a bus to go to the away games—they didn't sit en mass at the Northern-Southern meet—the group seemed to just die. I can't think the kids lost their youthful enthusiasm. What happened to teacher participation and sponsorship? How are the children supposed to have faith in adult leadership? As a parent, I'm very disappointed.

On another subject, if you owe any money to the government on one of their loan programs, you better pay up. Seems Uncle Sam has decided to crack down on those who borrowed for education, etc., but decided not to repay. Apparently, he can now make names public and even attach wages for repayment.

Have you seen the gas pump prices recently? Today, it's regular for .99 a gallon. Way to go, OPEC.

We at Upper Yough Expeditions Inc. regret that our local assistance loan was disapproved by our County Commissioners. Despite the action, business will resume as usual this season with reservations already received from rafters from Ohio, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Maryland.

We hope the coming season will see much needed revenue come into Friendsville and our county.

To the Editor:

I'm writing on behalf of the Southern Varsity Cheerleaders and fans. I am quite sure the particular cheerleader talked about in last week's paper is me. Now that the anonymous writer has stated his opinion, I feel it only right I do the same.

My job as a cheerleader is to get the crowd enthused and to support the team. Not only do our fans sit where I cheer, but they sit everywhere, even among the opposing fans. My job is to find them and get them to support the team.

As far as complimenting Northern's fans on their good sportsmanship, I feel they deserve no compliment at all. When I went over in front of Northern's crowd, I didn't see good sports, I saw people making obscene gestures, booing me and throwing paper wads and coins at me.

I also feel our fans did a fine job in cheering our team onto a victory. As far as their booing, Northern's cheerleaders, I don't particularly remember a time when Northern fans were quiet for us. I know that is no excuse, but I think most cheerleaders will agree that once a crowd starts something, it's close to impossible to stop them. They're there to support their team on to a victory.

Another thing: the referee threatened to give us and our fans a technical for cheering too loud, but when Northern threw things on the court nothing was said. It doesn't seem fair that it is always Southern that is looked upon as having unsportsmanlike conduct. We only support our team the best way we know how.

I'd like to thank the Southern fans for their support throughout the entire season. They helped make my last year of cheering more exciting and rewarding.

Sincerely,
Kim Tephabock

To the Editor:

I am writing in reference to the letter in last week's paper concerning the Southern vs. Northern basketball game.

As I recall the reason that the Southern cheerleader went over to the Northern side was to pick up the wads of paper that the Northern fans had been throwing out at the Southern cheerleaders. As for the loudness of the crowd, that is showing a lot of team support for the players and I would like to commend the Southern cheerleaders for a job well done because, in my opinion they are all very good cheerleaders and they show a lot of support for their team.

I think that some people should attend the away games and witness the way their crowd reacts and how the opposing team is treated. Once again congratulations, Southern, on a well-played game!

Sincerely,
Lori Elliott

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter appearing in The Republican on March 2, 1983, regarding the Southern vs. Northern basketball game.

As a sophomore at Southern, I feel it was unfair of the writer to criticize the Southern cheerleaders and fans. I will agree, sometimes the fans get a little rowdy, but nothing like what was implied in the letter. I noticed the letter failed to mention anything about the Northern fans throwing paper onto the the court, endangering not only our players, but theirs also. I certainly don't want to see any of our players injured, and I'm sure they don't want theirs hurt either.

I don't feel the Northern fans were behaving any more sportsmanlike than we. I think it was unfair of the writer to criticize Southern without considering our feelings.

Sincerely,
Lori Cooley

To the Editor:

In response to Ms. Gaither's letter concerning coal miners, I would like to express a few of my own opinions and beliefs.

First of all, in Garrett County it is a fact that coal miners make the "big money." As far as "working hard for their money" and "their horrible working conditions," I would like Ms. Gaither to see where I work and the conditions under which I and my fellow employees work.

The difference between a coal miners work and, say mine is the money! They make at least three times what I make both my wife and I work and we made less money last year than one "red hot" coal miner! I and many people like me work just as hard but for far less pay and no benefits! I do not feel sorry for any coal miner, because the fact is they are there by choice, luck, and yes, connections!

Taxes are paid by everyone in this county. But it is a fact that, proportionately, the poor pay a higher percentage of their income on these taxes. I have to pay the same land taxes, utilities, food prices, etc., as coal miners. The difference is, they have the money to pay them!

Hard Worker Too

To fellow citizens,
via the Editor:

We teach the children and we do a very good job of it. Witness test scores of our students as compared to the state and nation. We have long believed that our value as a profession has never been adequately recognized. It is our sincere belief that much more can be done by local government to improve the situation.

Sure, times are tough. Our economy may be on the rise. Inflation is down—unemployment is up. State and federal dollars are squeezed. Our local tax rate is one of the State's highest. But, more can be done for education and our teachers if priorities are shifted. What can possibly be more important than educating our youth? We do indeed appreciate our other local services, and we know a higher share of the county budget goes for other priorities rather than education. We're not asking to jeopardize others; we only wish to receive what is needed to educate the youth of Garrett County.

It is not a question of "robbing Peter to pay Paul;" it's a question of how much we appreciate our schools, our youth, and their teachers. Frankly, while we appreciate the many kind words and thoughts sent our way, isn't it time to put into action our words? We need a bigger share of this county's financial resources and we do indeed have the fiscal ability to do more.

On behalf of all teachers, we thank you for your understanding, concern, and new commitment to this county's most valuable resources—well educated youth.

To the Editor:

We again appeal to our county commissioners to consider all points very carefully before making their decision on the proposed Deep Creek Lake sewerage system.

Most importantly, we have the serious problem of high costs of the wastewater treatment facilities in this small community. The costs would be particularly burdensome on the community of Deep Creek Lake with such a small population. And what happens to those households with a small limited income? Do they lose their home when they are unable to pay their sanitation bill? I am positive they are not going to be allowed to have a free ride by our Sanitation Commission.

The Sanitation Commission has presented user costs but cannot guarantee this figure. The estimated operation, maintenance and debt retirement costs are never what is originally presented to the user at the beginning of the project. Everyone who lives in this area knows the rock that will be encountered, which of course, will all be chalked up to overcosts and we will pay. Hallelujah! The figure of what a typical residential user might be expected to pay is certainly nebulous.

Can the county commissioners in good conscience let themselves be influenced more by the small number of commercial users around the lake than they can by the residential users who will bear the largest burden of this system? The majority of the residents are not willing to pay for this system; it is much too expensive!

Residents will be unable to recoup their expense for this project. The businessman will have no problem with this as he will pass it on to the customer. We must pass our expense on to our children and grandchildren unless, of course, we can find some affluent purchaser for our home who is willing to assume the expense for this most unwanted and unwise type of sewerage system.

Very truly yours,
Doris S. Burke
Deep Creek Lake

To the Editor:

The best description I can relate to the proposed Deep Creek Lake Sewage Project would be to label it a classic example of "a pig in a poke." For instance:

a) What is the total project cost?

b) Is there any guarantee that there will not be enormous cost overruns?

c) What will the annual maintenance charge be?

d) What will the monthly service charges be?

e) Which unfortunate property owners will have those disgusting, foul-smelling pumping stations in their yards?

f) Who is working the hardest to see that the system goes in?

g) Is there not a disgraceful conflict of interest between those actively supporting the system in that they are business owners on the lake and members of the Sanitary Commission too?

h) How long will it take to make repairs to a homeowner's pump and grinder when it fails to operate? What will they do in the meantime?

I feel there are many unanswered questions of great importance. If the system is installed and turns out to be a failure, like so many other "great deals" the so-called experts have pawned off on us, what will we do then?

The county commissioners have the final say on the matter and I urge everyone with any questions to attend the public hearing on March 14 at 7 p.m. in the Circuit Courtroom of the courthouse in Oakland. Everyone must realize the importance of this project in that millions of dollars will soon be wasted and we may not be any better off than before. Perhaps we will be in a far worse position and at the same time be paying the annual maintenance fee and the monthly service charge!

Contact your commissioners now and express your views. If we do not demand accountability from our officials and express ourselves to them, we have no right to be critical when bad things happen.

Name withheld by request

To the Editor:

Regarding the upcoming hearing (on March 14) before the county commissioners on the Deep Creek Lake Sewage Project, the commissioners are reminded that the majority of lake area residents oppose the project as currently designed and costed. Surveys taken both by the Sanitary Commission and the Property Owners Association each have shown majorities opposed to the project.

After the recent reaction to the Commissioners' decision concerning the housing project, attention now focuses on their forthcoming decision on the sewage project. We trust that this time they will be guided by the public's interest as expressed in the two surveys and by the limited abilities of many potential sewage project users to pay their share of the consumer costs.

If the project, despite opposition, nevertheless goes ahead, construction should be completed before the elections in 1986 when lake area residents will again have an opportunity to express their opinions on this contentious issue.

Edward Starr
Swanton

To the Editor:

Once again our county commissioners have agreed, after petition by the taxpayers, to a public hearing on the proposed Deep Creek Lake Sewer System. Let us hope that our new commissioners will listen to the users of this system and their pleas that this costly unwanted system be rejected.

Cost figures for the designed system already violate EPA guidelines of 2% of average income for the area—and this based on a cost figure of 21.4 million does not allow for overruns which could raise the initial cost by many millions. In addition, the proposed system is costly to maintain and is considered inoperable in an area such as ours by many engineers. Even the EPA recommends that we have septic systems as backups.

The purpose of the system is questionable—it is inadequate for "saving" the Lake and does not ensure protection for our water supplies. It would seem it is being installed to service a few special interest groups—to be paid for by those who are unfortunate enough to own property along the proposed line.

It is ironic that during economically depressed times we refuse adequate housing for the underprivileged but are willing to squander millions and place Garrett County in debt for a sewage system unwanted by the majority of the users and which will continue to be a costly investment maintenance wise for already overburdened taxpayers.

Several of the property owners of Deep Creek Lake have given up other homes to retire here. Do our officials think we would have made the move if we questioned the sanitary conditions of the lake? Because we love the lake, we would be the first to want to preserve the quality of living on its shores.

Yours very truly,
John C. Denison, Jr.

To the Editor:

Recently we attended a public hearing concerning the need for improved vo-tech education for our high school students. The options under consideration are: expansion of the existing facilities or building a special vo-tech high school. A problem with the first idea is duplication of services at both schools. Objections to the second plan include duplication of services, cost and transportation.

We concur with the need for improved vo-tech education for our high school students. This will provide students who are not college bound with needed employment skills. Our objection to the plans considered is that they overlook a potentially practical solution for meeting the needs of both students and taxpayers. Our suggestion is to make one of the existing schools a vo-tech high school and make the other high school for college bound students. This idea surfaced at the hearing and was brushed aside because of North/South historical differences and increased transportation cost. We feel this idea warrants further study. Let's maximize usage of existing facilities, forget county rivalries and be practical! We have a relatively small population in this county. With one academic high school and one vo-tech high school both could be the best possible at a minimum cost. By adding a third high school we, the taxpayers, would be burdened with maintaining, heating, and staffing (from principal to custodian) three high schools, plus additional busing.

We put this idea out to all county citizens to examine in the hope that every possible solution will be considered for practicality. Hopefully the best option will be employed. It must be realized that a decision is to be made at the April Board of Education meeting. Now is the time for every citizen to voice an opinion regarding solutions.

Concerned Family,
Accident

To the Editor:

I read the letter on cruelty to animals in last week's issue. I'm also concerned about the matter. One of my main concerns is that many animal owners let their pets run loose. That's really cruel.

I know most Garrett Countians are farmers and let their dogs run loose, but I have seen many animals that have been killed by automobiles on the road and then left to lie there until nothing is left.

Last year I found a stray dog, and found a home for it. It ran off from its new home. My husband and I have a dog that we keep tied so she doesn't run off. People say that's cruel, what's so cruel in showing people you love your dog enough to keep it home where it belongs?

Another concern of mine is that the animal shelter doesn't have enough funds to keep animals alive over one week. I feel so sad for the animals that people leave running loose around the community.

Please, pet owners, keep your pets at home, restrain them to your property and love them.

Animal Lover,
Accident

To the Editor:

I read the letter that someone wrote about the puppy that was being mistreated.

If that person will call the animal shelter and talk to Roy Arnold I am sure that he will do something to help. Roy is quite an animal lover too. I thought that was one of the things animal control was for, not just to pick up stray or hurt animals, but to help abused animals as well. If we don't have something like that, then I think it is time we are getting something and someone to help abused animals.

I don't know who started the saying, "dumb animals," but the animals are not the ones that are dumb. It is the people that abuse them and that are too dumb to know what a pleasure an animal can be. They are smart beyond words and I think that a lot of people are beginning to see that, for we also see a lot of animal lovers these days and a lot of shows on television are speaking up for animal rights.

You know who you are who wrote the letter so please call the Animal Shelter and talk to Roy. I am sure he can help. If we know of someone who is cruel to animals and do nothing about it we are just as guilty as they are.

I am anxious to know how this turns out. People like you speak of do not need an animal to start with.

I am glad someone loves animals besides me for I sure do and I don't believe in animal cruelty.

Some states have a fine and a jail sentence for animal cruelty.

Second Impression

The (team) spirit is willing . . .

by Harry Fox

The team played hard all season. It hasn't been easy. It never is. Players, coaches, cheerleaders, parents, friends—hundreds of them, have loyally attended every home game, and dozens more have followed the high school athletes on the road.

The playoffs are here, and once again the fans are full of enthusiasm. What better way to finish the season than with a shot at the big one! In school the excitement builds to a fever pitch. The fans will follow their team. The students and faculty will support and encourage the players. And, for the supporters who can't be there, the local broadcasters will carry the action live, thanks to the sponsorship of local businesses.

But not this year.

The team played just as hard . . . and the fans raised the roof on the gym at every home game. Dozens of students followed their team on the road during the season.

But, when the playoffs came, many of those same students found that the bus wasn't going—often at the last minute. Some of them managed to carpool, thanks to caring parents who understood. Certainly, there were some who found the transportation problems to be insurmountable.

Worst of all, as hundreds of fans clicked on their radios to follow the action, they learned that there would be no playoff coverage this year.

There was nothing to do but sit by and wait for the results.

This sad story is stranger than fiction. It really happened.

It really happened to the parents who watched a teenaged daughter come home from school, dejected by a last-minute bus cancellation. It really happened to the youth whose first chance to experience the excitement of high school athletics went sour, somehow, at the end.

It really happened to the broadcasters who found their plans for coverage of the playoffs fouled by a series of financial blocks thrown up at the state level.

The governing body for the high school championship competition announced a new fee schedule this year—one that the broadcasters found prohibitive. On top of the additional expense of sending crews out of town—not all of it covered by sponsors' advertising—it was too much. So, as a group, the stations and cable companies in western Maryland said "no thanks . . . maybe next year."

Perhaps it isn't fair to point a finger at one party in this story—but, as a taxpayer, I wonder why radio stations should have to pay anything to cover public high school sports?

One would think that any publicity provided by the news media ought to be welcomed with open arms—particularly since private business picks up the bulk of the tab. It's a little like kicking the dog who brings your slippers. "Ungrateful" is the word that comes to mind. Perhaps "thoughtless" applies, too. Do the state officials who assess fees realize how much effort local broadcasters put into covering high school games throughout the year?

The real losers in this story, of course, are the students. Thanks to a combination of transportation problems and regulations imposed on the news media, the playoffs went out with a whimper, not with a bang. The spirit is willing . . . perhaps next year?

Budget, Yoder School To Be Board Topics

Adoption of the fiscal 1984 budget and admission procedure recommendations for admission to Yoder School will be among the principal topics at the March 10 Board of Education meeting.

The Yoder School admissions policy is expected to be held about 5 p.m., followed by the school calendar adoption and then the budget adoption.

This meeting will mark the first time the new agenda is followed, with an executive session planned first, at 1:30 p.m., and the regular meeting at 2:30.

Personnel concerns, such as leaves of absence, retirements, extended sick leave policy, and placement and promotion of maintenance personnel should begin about 2:45, followed by administrative concerns. Under that listing there will be action on a revision to use of school facilities policy, a request to use the old Accident School for church purposes, and a Board appointment to the School Transportation Advisory committee. There will also be information about purchase of a new county-owned bus.

Under instructional concerns, which is expected to get underway about 4 p.m., action is scheduled on a request to transfer funds within administration category; word/data processing equipment award, recommendations concerning computer programming, kindergarten curriculum inservice update project, and use of Accident School as an art museum.

Public comment on the above issues or other matters will be heard beginning about 6:15 p.m.

The Board also notes that dedication of the Accident School is planned April 10 at 2 p.m.

Women's History Week Observed

Officers of various women's organizations met Saturday, March 5, to endorse a proclamation declaring March 6-12 as Women's History Week.

The National Women's History Week was established by the U.S. Congress in a proclamation which declares in part that "American Women of every race, class and ethnic background helped found the nation in countless recorded and unrecorded ways, and served as early leaders in the forefront of every major progressive social change movement, and the role of American women has been consistently overlooked and undervalued in the body of American history."

Clubs endorsing this proclamation, which was signed by the county commissioners on Tuesday, March 8, are the League of Women Voters, Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club, Junior Woman's Civic Club, Delta Kappa Gamma, American Association of University Women, County Council of Homemakers and the Civic Club of Oakland.

A window display at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland contains representative materials of each club and salutes Women's History Week.

In conjunction with the Women's History Week, the library is hosting a display developed by the fourth grade gifted and talented students at Broadford Elementary School with guidance from teacher Marianne Green.

This display features student interviews with Dr. Alta Schrock, Ph.D., Susan Crawford, attorney and legal counsel to the Army, and Dorothy Leighton, founder of the county League of Women Voters and political candidate. There will also be a 30-minute video tape of the multicultural history of women and minibiographies of great Maryland women on view for anyone who is interested.

Members of Oakland Boy Scout Troop 31 collected over 400 pounds of food and dry goods during a canvass of Oakland on Saturday for the House of Hope. The group plans to continue the drive this Saturday, March 12, in Mt. Lake Park from 1 to 5 p.m.

The effort has been coordinated by Robert M. Flinn of Troop 31 as an Eagle Scout project. Kathryn Sincell Named Member Of Honors Chorus

Kathryn L. Sincell, Mt. Lake Park, was one of three Frostburg State College students to participate in the Mid-Atlantic regional voice judging event of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, held February 26 at the University of Maryland, College Park. Out of approximately 40 persons from various states participating, Miss Sincell was one of about ten who scored above a 90 percent and thus named to the Honors Chorus.

Miss Sincell, a junior majoring in voice, sang one French aria by Massenet, two German pieces by Schumann, and two contemporary numbers, one in English by Ned Rorem and one in French by E. Satie. She was accompanied by pianist Lea Ann Glotfelty, Barton.

Participants were judged on intonation, musicianship, phrasing, technique, tone, articulation, diction, rhythm-tempo, effectiveness of presentation and preparation. Following the individual performaces and judging, workshops were held during the afternoon for all participants in the event and the members of the Honors Chorus offered their recitals during the evening.

Miss Sincell is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sincell, Mt. Lake Park. Her voice instructor at Frostburg in Mrs. Sara Pierce.

Library Launches Poster Contest To Promote Bookmobile Campaign

The Ruth Enlow Library is sponsoring a poster contest to help promote fund-raising activities for the new bookmobile which will be arriving in May.

The contest is open to Garrett County school students, with a separate category for adults. Posters should be no larger than 18"x22." They can be any two dimensional medium but original art work only. The theme will be "What the Bookmobile means to Our County."

A separate prize is offered for a catchy slogan that will motivate people to get involved in the fund-raising. Contestants should put their slogans on a small slip of paper and attach them to their posters.

Entries should be at the library by March 25 for judging. Schools may have the posters delivered to the library through its pony express van.

The grand prize winners and three top winners from each school will have their posters displayed at the library. Businesses throughout the county will also display some of the posters. Posters will become property of the library. Schools can display some of the posters and the Board of Education will display the posters this summer.

Prizes will be as follows:

One grand prize for each of the six divisions—Adult, High School, Middle School, Elementary Grades three-five, Elementary Grades one and two, and pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten.

Ribbons will be awarded to first, second and third place winners from each school. A certificate will be awarded to the first place winner in each grade level in each school. All participants will receive a book marker printed from some of the entries. Prizes will awarded in a special ceremony when the new bookmobile arrives.

Grand prizes are an assortment of items donated by area businessmen.

The adult grand prize will be a special dinner for two at PCs Restaurant, Oakland, with a musical serenade, candles and flowers.

Adults who place first and second will receive a plant from Flowers by Webers or a silk flower arrangement from Jan Florists, A Coca-Cola T-shirt, litre bottle of Coke and either golf or tennis balls from Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and a magnifying glass from Bausch and Lomb.

Changeable Best Describes Weather

March's reputation as a month for changeable weather was upheld this weekend as temperatures dropped Sunday and clouds and fog replaced Saturday's bright sunshine.

Two days, Friday and Saturday, had identical high temperatures of 70 degrees under sunny skies. Monday had the week's high of 72. The week's overnight low was recorded last Tuesday night.

Precipitation was limited to Sunday, when .17 of an inch fell, and Tuesday, when .73 of an inch was recorded by Weber's weather recording station.

Last Wednesday's high mercury reading was 53 degrees. Skies brightened and the mercury reached 60 degrees on Thursday after the overnight low of 32. On Friday skies seemed summery as an unseasonable high of 70 degrees was reached after the drop to 28 degrees the preceding night.

Saturday the sun continued to shine brightly bringing forth gardeners and motorcyclists as the temperatures again climbed to 70 degrees. The picture changed during the night, however, as skies clouded over and the temperature dropped to 30 degrees. Drizzle and some fog was the order of the day Sunday as the temperature reached 63 but felt much cooler. Saturday night's low was 40 degrees.

Monday the mercury climbed to 72 degrees and the skies were mostly sunny after an overnight low of 35. Tuesday was foggy and dreary and the mercury climbed from the overnight low of 38 to a reported high of 68 recorded very early in the morning. Tuesday night's low was 37 degrees.

Season Ends For Southern, Northern; Huskies Just Miss Upset Of Aggies

The 1982-83 boys varsity basketball season for both county high schools came to an end last Wednesday evening as both Northern and Southern were defeated in the semi-final round of the Region I Class C playoffs at Allegany High School. The Huskies were nipped by heavily favored Flintstone in overtime, 56-54, and the Rams were whipped for the third time this season by Bruce, 74-59.

Flintstone defeated Bruce in the Region I finals Friday, 66-63, and will travel to College Park this week for the state championship.

Northern's Brad Yoder, the area's leading scorer, ripped the nets for 36 points, including one bucket at the buzzer of regulation time to send the contest into overtime. Yoder hit 17 baskets and converted four of six from the free throw line against the top-seeded Aggies, who had lost only twice in 23 games this season.

The two teams exchanged the lead numerous times throughout the contest. Flintstone was on top 15-13 by the end of the first quarter, however the Huskies came back in the second stanza to pull ahead by 25-23 at halftime. Flintstone outscored the Huskies in the third period 12-7 to retake the lead at 35-32 as that quarter ended.

Flintstone held a 50-48 lead with just seconds remaining, but Yoder hit a jumper at the buzzer to send the game into an extra three minutes.

Kenny Robertson sunk a pair of free throws for the Aggies with just six seconds remaining in the overtime period, which proved to be the winning margin as a final Husky shot bounced off the rim.

Greg Rinker and Carlos Owen, Flintstone's two leading scorers for the season, again shared top honors by hitting 19 points each.

Although Flintstone's foul shooting percentage was not as high as the Huskies', their conversion of 16 of 28 attempts provided the margin of victory, because Northern outgunned the winners from the floor, 21-20. The Huskies made good on 12 of 16 free tosses.

Coach Harve Speicher's squad finished the season with a record of 12-11.

The contest between Southern and Bruce remained close until the third quarter when the Bulldogs outscored the Rams 18-12 to take a 51-41 lead into the final period. Bruce had been on top 16-12 and 33-29 at the end of the first and second quarters.

Gary Morris provided the big guns for the winners as he netted 29 points on seven buckets and an outstanding 15 of 16 at the foul line. Teammates B. Ludwig and Brian Cueva, contributed 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Kevin Winters took scoring honors for the Rams, hitting nine baskets and six of eight from the line for 24 points. Scott Stem finished with 19.

The Rams were outshot from the floor by a 24-28 margin and converted 23 of 33 free throws, compared to a 26-for-38 performance by the Bulldogs.

The Rams, under first-year coach Oren Yoder, finished the campaign with 15 wins and nine losses.

Caruso Named Scout For Mets

Phil Caruso, head baseball coach at Garrett Community College, was recently selected by the New York Mets to represent the team as an associate scout.

Caruso will be working under the direction of Robert Dawson, a former Pittsburgh Pirate scout for 13 years. Dawson and Caruso worked together last summer in bringing the first major league try-out to Garrett County.

"I have the greatest respect in the world for Bob Dawson," stated Caruso. "He is a very respected scout and a first-class individual."

Caruso was one of three associate scouts Dawson chose to work with. His major responsibility will be to scout the pro-prospects in the JUCO Region (Maryland and Pennsylvania).

Associate scouts are not paid a salary but receive a commission if one of their prospects are signed.

"I'm very happy to have Phil as one of my associate scouts," Dawson said. "He does a super job at Garrett and talks to as many high school baseball players as anyone. His teams are well-coached and conduct themselves with class."

Caruso is beginning his fourth season at Garrett and has turned the Lakers into regional contenders. Last season's 19-16 record was Garrett's best in the last five years.

Softball League To Distribute Schedule, Rules

The Mt. Top Softball League will distribute schedules and rules for the coming season at its meeting Monday, March 14, at the Deer Park fire hall.

Coordinator Mike Reamy stressed the importance of all team managers attending this meeting, which will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Salaries Out Of Control

The following editorial was written by Patrick Gregg, formerly of Oakland, who is employed by the Washington Bureau of the Cable News Network. He is a son of Ernie and Carol Gregg, both of Oakland.

Professional sports are nearing the "out of control" stage. Sports fans never thought they'd see a salary higher than the one of New York Yankees outfielder Dave Winfield ($1.6 million per year). Then, suddenly, they were hit with Moses Malone's NBA contract that paid him $2.2 million a year. Just as the sports world was recuperating from that shock, along runs 1982 Heisman Trophy winner, Herschel Walker. Herschel reached for an illustrious contract from the brand new United States Football League—and he got one.

At first there were reports of a six-year contract worth $16.5 million, which is enough to make anybody gasp. Now the USFL New Jersey Generals have publicly announced that Walker has signed a multi-year contract that will pay him over $1.3 million a year. Tough luck, for a 21-year-old without a college degree.

Professional sports salaries are so out of control that only five of the 26 Major League Baseball teams broke even last season. That's less than 20%, folks. Due to financial difficulty brought on by high payrolls, five National Basketball Association teams might be dissolved, moved or merged.

Money seems to be having a strange effect on pro sports and their relationship to the public as well. The public must swallow the consequences of higher ticket, parking and food prices at sports fields and arenas so that the owners of teams can attempt to make the payroll. In other words, George Steinbrenners and the Gene Autreys of the sports scene are hiking the price of sports entertainment for Americans—and that's not all. Pro basketball and now pro football are recruiting athletes into their respective leagues (the NBA and USFL) before they've finished college.

Owners of professional sports teams could put a stop to all problems. It seems to me that if they control the purse strings, then they can control a situation that has snowballed into disaster.

All in all, pro sports appear to be an endangered profession when one looks at it from the viewpoints mentioned above. Overpaid professional athletes have not only raised prices for fans, but they've lured our college athletes out of the classroom. That's tragic! With unemployment around 10% and the fact that large numbers of people are starving right here in the United States, I find it hard to believe that Moses Malone gets paid $27,500 for every basketball game he plays for the Philadelphia 76ers. Now that's really a crime.

Southern Girls End Season With Loss To Valley

The members of the Southern girls' basketball team saw their season come to an end Thursday evening when they were edged by Valley, 46-42, in a semifinal round of Region I Class C competition.

The score remained close throughout the entire contest, with the Lady Black Knights holding a slight advantage at the end of the first two quarters of action, 9-7 and 18-17. The contest was knotted at 31-31 as the final stanza opened.

Jenny Hillen, the area's leading scorer, continued to pace the Lady Rams offensive attack, finishing with 23 points on ten buckets and three of four at the line.

Pacing Valley were Shawn Young and Amy Richmond, who netted 16 and 11 points, respectively.

Valley won the contest at the foul line, as both teams netted 17 buckets. The Knights converted 12 of 21 free throw opportunities compared to an eight-for-22 performance by the Lady Rams.

Mt. Savage won the Class C championship on Saturday by edging Valley, 52-50.

Garrett Announces Baseball Schedule

The Garrett Community College baseball team will play a 34-game schedule this season, with 14 of the contests at home and 20 on the road. The sectional play-offs will begin on Saturday, May 7, at Beaver Community College.

The Lakers are under the direction of fourth-year coach, Phil Caruso. Last season the squad posted a 19-16 ledger, their best in recent years.

Four sophomores returning are Jay Goodman, Mike Nagle, Steve Mohr, and Eric Shimer. All figure to play key roles again this year, Caruso said.

Goodman batted .291 while handling the catching chores. Mohr posted an impressive 6-1 mark both as a starter and reliever. Nagle and Shimer recently learned that they have both survived the third round cut for the Pan American tryout games. Over 3000 young men attended 32 camps across the country last summer for the right to represent the U. S. in the Pan American games this summer. Nagle and Shimer are among the 450 players remaining.

District Court Cases Are Heard

Criminal cases heard recently in Garrett County District Court included theft and assault and battery.

A Loch Lynn man, Terry Blake Kelly, 31, was charged by members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department with the theft of an automobile battery and the attempted theft of a quantity of gasoline from an equipment truck belonging to Callis Excavating Company.

The defendant pled guilty to the charges, and Judge Jack Turney ordered a pre-sentence investigation in the cases, which occurred in January.

In a separate case, Judge Turney ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Julian Joseph Wilson, 18, Lonaconing, after finding him guilty of theft, and malicious destruction of property.

According to the report, Wilson broke into the Juvenile Administration office on Big Savage Mountain, stealing candy, cigarettes, and several keys. After taking these items, the defendant attempted to steal a van owned by the state, damaging the vehicle's ignition system. The offenses occurred in January.

In other court news, a verdict of not guilty was handed down to Daniel L. Brewer, 27, Baltimore, on charges of assault and battery.

A new trial date was set for James Nichols of Deer Park on a charge of malicious destruction.

A charge of violation of a controlled dangerous substance brought against William Ward Myers, Friedens, Pa. was continued and a case against Kenneth Carr of Friendsville was placed on the stet docket.

Man Arrested For Indecent Exposure

A young McHenry man has been charged with several incidents of indecent exposure following an investigation by Oakland City Police and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Raymond Arthur Ferguson, Jr., 22, was lodged in the county jail March 7, but released later that day on payment of $200 bond.

According to Oakland Cpl. Denver Welch, the indecent exposure incidents occurred in Oakland and McHenry February 24.

The warrant issued for Ferguson was served on him Monday after Cpl. Welch had obtained pictures of several suspects and those who had witnessed the incidents chose Ferguson from the men pictured.

Cpl. Welch said that apparently a young man had been driving around Oakland without his clothes on, and had been blowing his car horn to attract attention. Similar incidents occurred about 9 p.m. in the vicinity of Garrett Community College.

Deputy P.J. Pratt assisted in making the arrest Monday at the suspect's home at McHenry.

Oakland Council Thanks Stanton

At their meeting Monday evening, the Oakland mayor and members of the town council expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Beryldine Stanton for her 27 years of work as town treasurer.

Saul McCartney, with Potomac Engineering which has received the administration contract for the town's sewerage project, presented the first of monthly reports. His written recommendation that the town adopt some type of sewer use fee to defray the amount of money the town will have to borrow will be followed next month by several proposed fee schedules.

Morgan France, from Franklin Associates, reported that the sewerage system design is nearly complete and should be ready for submission to the state health department soon. Gilman Sylvester, plant manager at Sterling Processing, attended the meeting to continue discussion of Sterling's user fee for use of the sewerage facilities and to agree on the quantity and quality of effluent that Sterling will be permitted to discharge into the system.

Wendell Keaton, municipal coordinator, presented a draft report to the council from a Community Programs survey obtained through the Maryland Industrial and Commercial Redevelopment Fund (MICRIF).

After a meeting later this month with the council, the Downtown Oakland Merchants and Businessmen's Association, and the Downtown Development Association, a final report will be completed and presented to the public.

The council has appointed Monty Pagenhardt to the town's ethics commission to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Saul McCartney. McCartney, who is the administrator for the town's sewerage project through Potomac Engineering, resigned after his appointment to that position.

Dateline: Annapolis

This has been the busiest week so far for Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards in the General Assembly.

Several bills sponsored by the local representatives have been scheduled this week, including a hearing today at 1 p.m. on the controversial Youghiogheny River bill, Senate Bill 544. Numerous persons from the county, including Commissioner Elwood Groves, will be in Annapolis today to testify in favor of the measure which would return control of the river and corridor to the county commissioners.

Its companion bill in the House, HB 1312, has not yet been scheduled for a hearing. Both legislators report having received quite a few letters from people outside the county in opposition to the measure. Del. Edwards will be among those testifying in favor of the bill in the Senate Economic Affairs committee today.

Sen. Bambacus expected a tremendous battle Tuesday on his SB 546, which would prohibit the Public Service Commission from authorizing any gas or electric company a higher rate of return than that company receives for service in adjoining states. Bambacus said that the legislature has been unfriendly toward any such Public Service measures since utility rates are high only in the western counties and Baltimore City.

At a hearing Monday on SB 409, to alter the amount of strip mined coal tax to 40 cents and to extend the bill until 1988, Bambacus said he had to answer very few questions and anticipates a favorable report.

SB 548 on mine reclamation surcharge proposal number one, and SB 549, on mine reclamation surcharge proposal number two, are also scheduled for hearings this afternoon before the economic affairs committee.

On Friday a hearing is scheduled on increasing marriage license fees by $5 to help support battered spouse shelters and domestic violence programs before the finance committee. This bill is SB 667.

Del. Edwards is also attending hearings and testifying for several bills this week and next.

There will be a hearing today before the House Appropriations Committee on House Bill 1042, which will create a state debt to fund a volunteer fire company, ambulance service and rescue squad loan fund.

Thursday, HB 495, which will require vendors (except farmers) who sell from trucks to purchase a license; HB 496, which will raise amusement license fees, and HB 1509 which would create a state debt to fund the homeowners emergency assistance loan program will be heard.

Next Tuesday, House Bill 531 is scheduled at 1 p.m. before the Environmental Matters Committee. This bill would require notices and a hearing procedure before the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene can issue permits to entrench, store or transport sludge in Garrett County if the sludge comes from plants outside the county.

There will also be a hearing Tuesday on HB 1128 before the Judiciary Ways and Means Committee on Edwards bill to redefine length and width regulations on truck tractors, trailers and semi-trailers.

Next Wednesday there will be hearings on HB 662, concerning community programs for the mentally retarded, and HB 732, which will extend the termination date for the State Board of Sanitarian Registration.

Del. Edwards noted Tuesday that his House Appropriations Committee concluded their budget cut deliberations Monday night and will put their proposal before the House floor Thursday. Edwards stated he feels the cuts are "fair and defendable."

Judge Orders

man said that the company wanted to get rid of the Fitzwaters and Tichnells and the foremen were directed to harass them when they could and only talk to them when they were alone. Also, regardless of the quality of the work they did, the foremen were told to make these miners redo it.

At an August 28 meeting between Kutchman and several supervisors, the remark was made that someone had called in safety complaints and that one supervisor knew that Tichnell and Fitzwater reported it. The judge's decision also revealed testimony that the statement was made that these men "had to be fired or some of the supervisors might lose their jobs."

One former foreman, Ted Uphold, was at the commission hearing in Cumberland in early October of last year and testified that he had told company officials that he would tell the whole truth concerning the meeting about the Fitzwaters and what Kutchman had said. Then, one week prior to the trial, Uphold was terminated by the company after four and a half years as a foreman.

According to the judge's decision, Fitzwater did not voice in his discrimination suit the hazard involved in being told to clean under the rotary breaker while the breaker was in operation. Rather, he preferred to base his case on the fact that he was told to work when he thought the only respirator available to him was a mask which is not approved by NIOSH or MSHA. Refusal to work in a dusty area without an approved dust mask is a protected activity under federal law, as interpreted by Judge Moore.

Just prior to his termination in late April 1982, Fitzwater had been questioned by his foreman about why he had not cleaned the material which had accumulated under the breaker. When Fitzwater explained that he had not had any down time in two days (he had been asked to run late both days and it was not customary to clean under the screens while the breaker was in operation because of the danger of falling rock) and also said he wanted a proper dust mask, Foreman Burch told him that he was refusing a work assignment.

Fitzwater said that he was not refusing, that he just wanted the proper mask before performing the task. When Fitzwater left the property he was not sure whether he had been fired or temporarily suspended. After a few phone calls he found out that he had been fired.

According to his testimony, Fitzwater did not mention the safety hazard that he thought existed with being asked to shovel under the operating rotary breaker, saying it was his opinion that a miner who had complained about safety, a Mr. Arnott, had been fired because of it. He also said he did not base his complaint on this issue because his own father, after making a safety complaint, had been assigned outside shovelling work in the winter where the temperatures were sometimes as low as 30 degrees below zero.

Arnott, the other miner Fitzwater made reference to, has since been reinstated in an out of court settlement and has agreed to abide by verbal and written agreements with the company.

To Return To Work

George Kutchman said Monday of this week that Fitzwater is expected to return to his former job but had no additional comment on the case.

According to a reported previous agreement, Fitzwater had been receiving the same hourly rate and overtime pay as the man who took his place, under the condition that Fitzwater not set foot on the property.

Although Mettiki miners continue to work every other week, Kutchman said morale is high as the men look forward to resuming a full work schedule but noted that this may not happen in the foreseeable future as the coal market has not shown great strides in recovery.

Another Safety Issue

The mine safety issue arose again last month when Brian Sanders, whose arm was torn off in a conveyor belt accident in January 1982, filed a $12 million suit against MAPCO and a $12 million suit against Kutchman. Following Sanders' accident, federal mine inspectors shut down the belt for safety violations and the company has since removed the belt.

Federal mine inspectors are required by law to make unannounced tours of inspection of coal mines, but expecting them to see all safety hazards in time to prevent any injuries is "as unrealistic as expecting police officers to patrol so efficiently there will be no more bank robberies," according to Judge Moore.

Planning Board Review Of Land Plan Continues

The review by the Garrett County Planning Commission of the County Lands Consolidation Plan, as drafted by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, drew more citizens than usual last Wednesday.

The five citizens attending, besides commission members and staff, seemed particularly interested in the section the commission reviewed Wednesday dealing with the DNR's proposal for land acquisition or release in the Negro Mountain area of the Savage River State Forest.

The Commission, which meets once a month, has reviewed the plan in segments and word-by-word for the past year and have completed about three-fourths of the plan.

The Commission plans to compile citizens' and its comments on the plan and forward them to DNR.

One major concern expressed during the meeting by Jack Ternent, Lonaconing, who owns mineral rights in various parts of the county, was that the state may block extraction of minerals underneath property it owns. He pointed out that the state does block surface mining on its property which hurts citizens who pay taxes on mineral rights ownership, but have no way to reap benefits of ownership.

County planning director Tim Dugan suggested the Commission could include in its comments a proposal that the state not forbid extraction of privately-owned minerals under land it acquires.

Board Considers

tional trades.

The Vocational Task Force, composed of teachers, principals, vocational counselors, administrators, members of the Vocational Advisory Council and the public, have split their vote three ways, some opting for a vocational center, some for the separate high school, and others for renovating and upgrading the present programs and adding new programs for the two present high schools.

Wednesday's Meeting

At Wednesday's meeting, school board president Clarence Stem introduced other board members Dr. Leo O'Neill, Beverly Murphy, and Anna Mary Fratz. Earl Clark was ill and unable to attend.

First to speak was Jane Rentschler, spokesman for the advisory council, who said that the technical high school with offerings of English, science, etc. appears to that group to be the best decision. It is recommended that the school be constructed somewhere in the vicinity of McHenry, possibly near Garrett Community College.

Phyllis Trickett, another council member, pointed out that the high school would cut out duplication of programs at the two schools, offer equal opportunity to all, and the only cost after construction would be maintenance.

Rentschler then declared that if the money is not spent on students' education now, it will be needed to pay for the high unemployment for the unemployable graduates.

A letter from the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club was read by Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, school superintendent, recommending that vocational programs be added which are attractive to girls and increasing the percentage of vocational programs available to girls; recommending that vocational selections be made equal at the two high schools; recommending enrichment of vocational programs to make them more attractive to both sexes; and recommending more inservice training for vocational counselors.

Gary Smoot asserted that only those who know vocational education should be working with vocational education students, and Marvin Kolb said that in his view the problem with vocational education resides with the attitude of the youngsters.

Tom Doyle questioned whether there are too many supervisors and brought out the problems involved in transportation. He later suggested that projects such as constructing a house could more realistically train students for the real working world.

Betty White, a teacher at Southern, said the board should offer salaries comparable to private industry. Brenda McCartney, a teacher at Southern Middle, suggested collaborating with GCC on vocational offerings but the addition of high school students to the college campus was refuted by Dr. George Dailey, who felt that would disrupt the college atmosphere.

Harold Trickett, vocational education teacher, and Smoot were in agreement that youngsters in the county are not getting a quality vocational program at this time.

John Ledden, Youth Employability Specialist with the board of education, suggested a two-year vocational center for eleventh and twelfth graders and a serious investigation of mutual use of facilities for this purpose. Ed Bowser concurred with the latter observation.

Federal Funding

Currently, the vocational program, with the exception of the teacher salaries and a minimal amount for supplies, is from federal funds channeled through the state. If the state approves construction of new facilities or addition of programs, then nearly all of the funding would come via the state.

Estimated cost to renovate the high schools would be a minimum of $3,907,730. Construction of a separate high school or center would cost approximately $8,702,941. Development of a new facility would be five or seven or more years in the future.

More Information

There will be a news article appearing in next week's edition of The Republican giving additional information about the needs assessment study and listing pros and cons of the three alternatives under consideration by the board.

Meeting Scheduled

Dr. Ryscavage, Al Ringer, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum and instruction; J. Kenneth Bittinger, supervisor of vocational education; and Robert Rodeheaver, director of secondary education will meet Monday, March 21, in Baltimore, with Dr. Addison Hobbs, assistant superintendent of vocational education for the Maryland State Department of Education, to seek additional guidance in making a decision on the future of vocational education in this county.

Mysteries

The words themselves are mysteries to him — black "squiggles" against the white page — but Daddy makes them sound very interesting.

Later he will begin to read for himself and a vast new world will be opened.

In it, however, other mysteries will appear — other things that seem as impossible as the black words against the white page. But gradually these will become clearer.

One of these mysteries is religion. Understanding God's message, learning the meaning of faith — these vital subjects take a particular kind of education and special study. It will take the remainder of his lifetime, and yet more, to fully understand the spiritual universe.

But this little boy is lucky. Although he doesn't know it yet, his parents will see to it that he gets this "education" in the right place — in their house of worship.

MANY OLD TIMERS ARE STILL AROUND
New and powerful miracle drugs form the basis for most of the news we hear about advances in health care. But, there are still a great many medicines being prescribed that have withstood the passage of time. Penicillin, digitalis, sulfur and ephedrine are just a few that are frequently prescribed by physicians . . .
These drugs, day in and day out, are saving lives, curing illnesses and alleviating pain. As long as they are considered effective they will continue to occupy a prominent place in our prescription laboratory.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?
March 13, 1983

Background Scripture: Numbers 11:24-29; Joel 2:28-32; Acts 2:1-42.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 1:3-10.

For the multitude of "devout men from every nation" who experienced the Day of Pentecost in Jerusalem, there was amazement, perplexity and an overwhelming need to ask: "What does this mean?"

There are still large numbers of people who are perplexed about the meaning of Pentecost. Like most of the events in the Bible—as well as in our lives—there are many layers of meaning. Let me suggest some answers to that question: "What does this mean?"

THE PROMISE FULFILLED

1. God Fulfills Christ's Promise. Although the weeks between the first Easter and the Day of Pentecost may have seemed a long time to the disciples, it was not all that long that they had to wait until Jesus' promise that "you shall receive power."

2. The Power Belongs To God. Secondly, Pentecost made it very clear that the fulfillment of Christ's command to be his witnesses would depend, not upon the resources of his followers, but upon their willingness to accept the power God would give them.

3. Inspired, Not Drunk. Although much of being a Christian is living out his teachings in our everyday lives, there are times when he lifts us out of our normal state of consciousness into something mysterious, ecstatic or inspired. Sometimes we need to be stirred up in some way by God's powerful presence and Pentecost was one of those times.

THE MISSION GIVEN

4. A Festival Transformed. The traditional observance of Pentecost in the Jewish religion celebrates the giving of the law by God to the people of Israel through Moses. One of the meanings of the New Testament is that, just as Jesus' death and resurrection transformed the Jewish Passover, so Pentecost was transformed to commemorate the giving of something even more important than the law: the Holy Spirit.

5. A Call to Commitment. Having heard Peter's sermon and witnessed the wonderful things that were happening on that day, the people at Pentecost asked, "Brethren, what shall we do?" And Peter had an answer ready for them: "Repent, and be baptized ...and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit."

6. The Plan of Outreach. As people from all parts of the Mediterranean heard the good news that day in their own tongues, there was an indication of the path of growth which the gospel would be following: Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and the world!

7. More Signs and Wonders. The wonderful things performed by Jesus would continue to be performed by his disciples through the power of God's own spirit. "And many signs and wonders were done through the apostles" (Acts 2:43).

Pentecost is ever a story that is "to be continued."

By Val Carew

HUSBAND AND WIFE — Does the lady who plays Mrs. Olson on those coffee commercials have an accent in real life? What is her name? Also, what is her husband's name? I saw him on the "Tonight" show with Johnny Carson one night, but don't remember his name. Is he Dub Taylor? — B.A., Amery, Wis.

Virginia Christine is the actress who plays Mrs. Olson, and she does not have an accent in real life. She is married to comic actor Fritz Feld, who does have an accent. There is a Dub Taylor, but he is not married to Virginia.

QUINCY CONCERN — When watching "Quincy," I often become concerned about the relevant issues presented. I would like to write the producers to ask them if they can include an address at the end of these shows where viewers can get more information. Can you please give me an address and a name? — B.M., Wake Forest, N.C.

Write to David Moessinger, the executive producer, in care of Quincy, Universal Studios, Universal City, CA 91608.

Jim Nabors

BIG FAN — I am a big fan of Frank Sutton, who played the sergeant on "Gomer Pyle." My grandmother says he died. Is that true? I am also a fan of Stefanie Powers. Where can I write her? — B.T., Klamath Falls, Ore.

Yes, sadly, the man who starred with Jim Nabors on the 1964-70 series, died several years ago of a heart attack. Stefanie can be reached in care of her series, "Hart to Hart," 1041 No. Formosa, Los Angeles, CA 90046. It's a new address, since the series has moved to a new studio.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Lucky 'Days' fans watch the wedding

By Nancy M. Reichardt

"Days of Our Lives" fans were glued to their television sets a few weeks ago so as not to miss a single moment of the wedding scenes featuring bride Marlena Evans (played by Deidre Hall) and groom Roman Brady (Wayne Northrop). But for several fans across the nation it was especially significant because they were able to attend a wedding reception as a result of winning contests run by many NBC-TV affiliate stations. The event was held at Chasen's Restaurant in Los Angeles, and included a showing of the wedding scenes followed by the appearances of Deidre, Wayne and their costars. Incidentally, many of the extras in the wedding scenes were friends and relatives of Wayne and Deidre.

As the product of a large, close-knit family, Rose Alaio (Helena Manzini on "Guiding Light") was delighted when her family paid her a visit at the "GL" studios recently. Immediately welcomed into the "GL" family for the day were Rose's mother, Catherine, sister Janet, brother Domenic, and his fiancee, Diane.

Joining the "Guiding Light" cast is actress Lori Putnam, who portrays the role of mystery lady Susannah (a.k.a. Susie), who is slated to set Tony Reardon's (Greg Beecroft) heart aflutter. Also appearing in the storyline is veteran New York City Ballet star Edward Villella. Villella is currently artistic director of the Eglevsky Ballet Company. He has danced with the Royal Danish Ballet and at the Bolshoi Theatre in Moscow. On "GL," Villella plays a secretive fellow who is searching for the mysterious Susannah.

In a surprise move, Geraldine Court (Jennifer Evans) was written out of "GL," leaving another gaping hole in the show's already confusing story line. Exiting the show from behind the scenes is L. Virginia Browne, leaving the show to operate without a head writer.

A college education is an aid in acting

By Ruth Thompson

Double-digit unemployment has recently become a national concern. However, entertainers are already used to the heavy competition for the relatively few available jobs. Yet, year after year, still more people pursue the dream, seeking a degree in drama (or film, or television). Some do catch the brass ring.

So do some who have hedged their bets.

Jay Johnson, for example. Blond and still boyish, Jay has been a professional ventriloquist and actor since he was 14, when he started getting paid for appearing in summer revues. His first television visibility was playing Chuck Campbell in the "Soap" series. More recently Jay and his smart-mouth dummy, Bob, are hosting the syndicated series "So You Think You Got Troubles?" Jay is still as gung-ho about being an entertainer as he was at age 11 when he first found he could amaze his family by controlling his lip movements.

Jay Johnson and Bob

"My father was very supportive," says Johnson. "But, he was an educator and there was no mistake about what you do right after high school. You go for a degree. After that, he said, 'Anything you want.'"

Jay is thankful he got his degree in marketing from the University of Texas. "I had an advantage right off," he says. "I knew enough business law to read my own contracts. After all, they don't call my field 'show art,' they call it 'show business.'"

Joel Higgins — currently starring as Ricky Schroder's well-meaning but whimsical father on NBC's "Silver Spoons" — entered Michigan State as a music major with his father's blessing. Then he made a fast switch to advertising. It started paying off right away and still is.

In college he was already writing music as well as performing at eateries and drinkeries. Then the added business training and savvy helped Joel and a partner set up a booking company for themselves and other acts. Since 1980, he has been one of three active partners in a jingle writing company, which has now branched out to scoring movies and television dramas.

Cottle chats with celebs 'Up Close'

By Peter Meade

It's never comfortable being the new kid in town. Ask Tom Cottle, host of the syndicated talk show "Tom Cottle: Up Close."

Where does this sympathetic-eyed newcomer fit into the talk-show niche already occupied by Johnny, Merv, Mike, Dick and Barbara?

"What I try to do is be a lot more personal," says Cottle. "I admire those people a lot, and they must be doing a lot of right things. But I try for a more in-depth interview, an autobiographical portrait. I try to get some sketches, some brush strokes, an outline of what I believe to be the important aspects of the person's life."

Cottle prides himself that his one-on-one 30-minute show evades the usual "Hi I'm here to plug my new movie or book" talk show format. With the aid of a severely sincere smile and some patented oh-come-on prodding, he scrapes past the glitter to the glue. During the "innerview," Cottle doesn't need a couch to play celebrity shrink as he uncovers the skeletons and dirty laundry hidden in the closets of some of Hollywood's best known marquee attractions.

"A lot of celebrities have said what a pleasure it is to go on a talk show and not have to plug something," Cottle says. "They really enjoy the prospect of sitting down and talking about themselves."

Tom Cottle

During the era of the over-macho man, Cottle has developed a soft touch for stroking the fragile superstar ego and has more going for him than an easy-going, talk-to-me manner.

He doesn't make a big ballyhoo of it, but when he isn't "Up Close" he's really Dr. Cottle, sociologist and clinical psychologist, with a B.A. from Harvard and an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. A frequent lecturer at Harvard Medical School, he also maintains a private practice in Boston.

"I play down my background," says Cottle. "What affects them is not me being a clinician, but that I listen to them."

FRIDAY

Roger Bowen stars as the cheerful Col. Clapp on the new half-hour comedy "At Ease." The series' second episode, "Tankful of Dollars," will air Friday, March 11 on ABC.

Joel Higgins hopes to polish 'Spoons' role

By Peter Meade

Joel Higgins

Joel Higgins hopes viewers will believe he is one of the best reasons around to stay home on Saturday nights.

However, the actor has found being on NBC's "Silver Spoons," airing on television's least-watched evening, is both a blessing and a curse.

"Spoons" has consistently ranked in the ratings poorhouse, but Higgins is quick to defend the show's lackluster reception.

"You have to look at us vs. our competition, not overall against all the other shows," he explains. "Even though we may come out 55th in the weekly ratings, our audience share is as high as shows rated 15th or 18th. It's because the viewership is higher during the rest of the week."

Higgins accepted the "Arthur"-esque role of Edward Stratton III before finding out that the series was being developed especially for his young co-star, Ricky Schroder. However, the two hit it off immediately and Higgins has no regrets about taking the role although it represents a departure from his other series efforts, "Salvage I" and "Best of the West."

"On 'Salvage' we worked 12 hours a day," says Higgins. "It's a killer doing a one-camera show. Look at (Tom) Selleck. What does he do? He acts and sleeps, that's all. I asked myself 'What can I bring to this show?' Nothing. I had no life. I was always exhausted. 'Best of the West' was a good learning situation for me, but basically I played the straight man."

"The great thing about doing 'Silver Spoons,'" he says, "is it's so concentrated. You can devote more energy to it because you shoot for a shorter amount of time. We shoot one show per week, then on Friday I can go home and forget it."

But Higgins hopes viewers won't forget "Spoons." Although the show is tarnished by its simplistic and rather limited format, the show usually succeeds in being at least a mildly entertaining way to spend 30 minutes on a Saturday night. Unless, of course, you get an offer to go out.

SATURDAY

Lovable is just one of the words that describes the title character of "Scrutty." The cute canine (center) meets a new group of friends when the three-part "ABC Weekend Special" concludes Saturday, March 12.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Marion "Happy Days" Ross stars in "Have You Ever Been Ashamed of Your Parents?" The hour-long "ABC Afterschool Special" airs Wednesday, March 16.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

TUESDAY

Tim Conway stars as "Ace Crawford, private eye," to premiere Tuesday, March 15 on CBS. The half-hour comedy also stars Joe Regalbuto and Billy Barty.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

TV TATTLE

His work is play

If your television set is not occupied with the latest video game, tune in to WGBH's "Enterprise" and see what's new in the home video game wars.

"All in the Game" airs Thursday, March 17 on PBS (Check local listings; air dates may vary).

Bill Grubb left his lucrative position at Atari, the industry's leading game producer, to start his own company: Imagic. With an average age of 28, Grubb and his three partners, mainly former Mattel and Atari employees, expect to gross $3 billion in 1982. Grubb's aim is for his company to become the top independent producer of game software in the nation. His chief rival — and neighbor in California's "Silicon Valley" — is Activision. Their profits reached $66 million in the first two years.

Viewers will see Imagic's game designers discuss and perfect new game cartridges that they hope will soon be purchased by millions of video game addicts.

The video game racket is "a very young man's business," according to one investor. Imagic's game designers are mostly in their 20s with the marketing personnel being just a bit older. The designers are paid royalties on their inventions. In the case of "Atlantis" creator Dennis Coble, the sum reached "several hundred thousand dollars." Last year, the video market reached sales of $7 billion, with $1.5 billion in cartridges alone.

Grubb has prospered also. He drives a Mercedes convertible to work and if Imagic does well in their venture into home computers, he'll soon be a millionaire.

Ken Howard

No 'Second Thoughts'

Ken Howard is scheduled to appear on the Monday, March 14 edition of "Entertainment Tonight."

The 6-foot-6-inch actor, probably best known to television viewers as "The White Shadow," talks about his latest movie, "Second Thoughts." The theatrical-release movie also stars Lucie Arnaz.

Howard explains he has had no second thoughts about his acting career moving from the stage, to television and now on to the movies. He's a confident, straightforward guy, but if he ever needs any advice he knows where to go. His mother-in-law is Ann Landers.

Local Chapter I Educators Attend Annual Conference

The State Chapter I Parent/Resource Teacher Conference, sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education, was held at the Baltimore Convention Center on March 2 and 3. The Garrett County Chapter I staff conducted a workshop at the meeting explaining the development of the California Achievement Test Resource File Kit which was organized in 1981 and is used in all Garrett County Chapter I schools. Presenting were Francis E. Harris, Chapter I Supervisor, Linda Welch, Chapter I Secretary, and resource teachers, Barbara Conway, Barbara Flinn, Nancy Klink, Carolyn Simmons and Joan Whetsell.

Over 400 parents, resource teachers, and administrators attended the two-day conference which consisted of a variety of workshop sessions. Also attending from Garrett County were Patrick Delaney, Route 40 principal; Dolores Lapp, Grantsville Parent Advisory Council member; and Lois Bittinger, Garrett County Chapter I Parent Advisory Council chairman and state recording secretary for the Chapter I Parent Advisory Council.

Keynote speaker, Dr. Floretta McKenzie, superintendent of the District of Columbia Public Schools, stressed that educators should work together with parents and the entire community to make education a number one priority to prepare students for life in the 21st century. "We need a commitment to education," she said. "We should search for and maximize the strengths in each Chapter I child, develop their self confidence, and give them experiences in leadership." Dr. McKenzie feels less emphasis should be given to defense budget and more to the education budget "since education is our best defense."

Census Bureau Slates Survey

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in Garrett County during the work week of March 14-19, John Bell, acting director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Philadelphia, announced this week.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the March survey will include others concerning the work experience and income of household members last year, and whether they have moved since March 1982.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals, according to Bell.

Persons Planning Retirement Urged To Report With W-2 Forms

It is very important that persons planning to retire this year have their 1981 and 1982 W-2 forms with them when they contact the Social Security Office, according to Joseph E. Mieczkowski, district manager of the Cumberland Social Security Office.

"Providing the 1981 and 1982 W-2 forms will help Social Security handle your claim more quickly," he said. "It can also mean immediately higher retirement checks because some 1981 wages and all 1982 wages are not yet reflected on Social Security records."

Persons with questions about any Social Security matters may contact the Cumberland office at 729-3232. The office is located between Penney's and Sears at the Country Club Mall LaVale.

Friend Families To Meet In Ohio

The Friend Family Association of America has issued a special invitation to all Friend families and allied family members of the Garrett County area to join with them in honoring its founder, Col. Lester Friend, at a special family seminar to be held at Warren, Ohio, August 18-20.

The Association was chartered by the U. S. Government during the observances of the bicentennial year in 1976 as a historical and genealogical organization, its purpose to provide a strong organization of kindred folk through which its members and their descendants could establish and perpetuate the accomplishments and deeds of their early ancestors. Membership is open to all persons bearing the surname of Friend and allied family members regardless of creed and place of origin.

This organization, with members in practically every state and Canada, is now considered the fastest growing family unit in North America. Its national headquarters is at Fort Wayne, Ind., where a historical and genealogical library is maintained for its membership. Its Friend/Ship Newspaper that is dedicated to more family genealogy is issued in January, April and August each year.

Friday, August 19, has been dedicated Friendsville Day during which persons such as Evelyn Olsen, authoress of Indian Blood, Dr. Raymond McCullough and Hugh Friend of Friendsville will speak. A banquet will follow a full day's activities.

Limited spaces are still available in the vocational class entitled "Basic Office Practices and Procedures" to begin on Friday, March 11, at the McHenry Campus of the Garrett Community College. This class is scheduled to be held one day each week for eight weeks, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The class has been arranged by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program in cooperation with the Continuing Education Division of GCC to assist interested persons in learning or upgrading skills in bookkeeping, filing, receptionist duties, typing, and telephone etiquette.

Tuition assistance is available through the HCO Program to those qualifying for such assistance. Persons interested in participating in this class are asked to contact the HCO office at 334-9184 for more information.

Community Feud To Involve Eight Oakland Groups

A Community Feud—gameshow style, not Hatfields' and McCoys' style—will be sponsored by the Oakland Junior Woman's Civic Club on March 17 as a fund-raising activity for a local nonprofit organization.

The feud, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Oakland fire hall, will involve eight Oakland area organizations competing for the grand prize which will be donated to the winner's particular charity. The grand prize will be the total collected from proceeds at the door and concession profits.

Teams will compete in elimination rounds, two at a time, until one emerges the winner. Rob Michaels, an Oakland businessman, will be master of ceremonies for the event.

The teams registered to compete will be the Oakland Rotary Club, Southern Athletic Association, Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, Oakland Downtown Merchants' Association, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Oakland Senior Women's Civic Club.

HCO Program Slates Workshop

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will sponsor a free workshop entitled "Looking More Confident" on Wednesday, March 16, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Oakland Center of GCC. The workshop is to be conducted by Patrice Wells, a beauty consultant with Aloe Cosmetics.

During the course of the makeup session participants will also learn what proper makeup to wear for day, evening and work.

The session is open to the public and will be held in Room 306 of the Oakland Center. To register or for further information persons may call 334-9184.

OFFICERS INSTALLED — Officers of the Bittinger Volunteer Firemen's Auxiliary were installed by Robert Shimer, district fire marshal, at a dinner meeting in January at the Bittinger Fire Hall. Job Hunting Workshop Set Sandra Schofield, Outreach/Job Awareness Coordinator of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College, will be at the Accident Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library on March 14 from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. to conduct a free career workshop entitled "Helpful Hints For Job Hunting." This workshop is designed to help individuals entering or re-entering the job market by offering some time-tested tips to help bolster courage to take the first step and have a jump on the competition.

Persons should call 334-9184 to pre-register for this workshop.

REDUCING WATER HEATING COSTS
Did you ever wonder how much it cost you to heat your water? One simple way is to check your fuel bills during the summer months. More than you thought - right? Here are some tips to get that cost down.
Run your dishwasher and clothes washer only with full loads. Putting each through a full cycle for a partial load is costly because you still pay for virtually full-load power.
Set the water-heater thermostat to the lowest temperature of hot water needed. This is usually the hottest faucet water your hands can tolerate. Too high a setting means excessive fuel consumption, and extra cold water is needed from the faucet to cool it down. The water heater ordinarily can be set at 140 degrees. Experiment a little to get it to the lowest hot water temperature that is satisfactory.
Insulate long runs of hot water piping from the water heater. This usually can be done at the basement ceiling where such piping is exposed.

Maryland's farmers intend to reduce their acreage planted to most major crops in 1983, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service.

A February 1 survey shows an overall reduction of about three percent from 1982. Acres planted to corn, soybeans, wheat, barley, and rye are expected to be down, while acreages of oats, tobacco and hay are expected higher.

The biggest drop is expected in barley, down 14% from last year. Rye intentions are seven percent lower, followed by soybeans and wheat, both down six percent. Corn acreage on February 1 was expected to be two percent below 1982.

Based on information available about February 1, farmers said they expected to plant 14 percent more this year and harvest three percent more hay.

State Appeals Court Upholds Chadderton Murder Conviction

The Maryland Court of Special Appeals had upheld the murder-for-hire conviction of Daniel L. Chadderton, found guilty of killing the wife of Robert Lee Myers, a Westminster businessman, for $10,000, the Associated Press reported this week.

The state's second-highest court Friday rejected Chadderton's appeal of last year's first-degree murder conviction in the Garrett County Circuit Court. Chadderton is serving a life sentence for the 1979 murder of Mary Ruth Myers who was shot to death in her Silver Run home.

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

The Heart Association Recommends . . .
Spring Clean Your Thinking!

Did you try that whole wheat bread recipe from last week? If you're like me, you probably just enjoyed eating it right away. Hopefully, you saved enough for a sandwich!.

The Heart Association's Nutrition Committee is committed to providing you with sound menu ideas for healthier eating throughout 1983. Recipes are featured each week and, when combined for the month, produce a total meal. This week, a vegetable cottage cheese sandwich spread may help you plan a nice Saturday lunch. The spread is light and crunchy to help you with spring cleaning . . .

Vegetable Cottage Cheese Sandwich
1½ tablespoons dry skim milk powder
2 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablesppon chopped onion
⅓ cup chopped carrot
¼ cup chopped celery
dash of garlic powder and Worcestershire sauce

Place the cottage cheese, skim milk powder, water, sugar and lemon juice in a blender and blend until smooth.
Scrape mixture out of blender and into bowl.
Stir in vegetables, garlic and Worcestershire sauce.
Spread ½ cup of mixture on two slices of bread to make a sandwich.
Yield: 5 half-cup servings of spread
Approximate calories per serving: 90

In this March column, recipes for spring cleaning your thinking are being featured. Whenever you want to lose a few pounds, you don't necessarily need to give up a whole lot of food. If you want to lose 20 pounds, you only have to give up 3500 calories a week, or 500 a day, for 20 weeks and the weight will come off almost effortlessly. An exercise program, a necessary part of any good weight control program, will allow you to lose weight faster or eat more calories, while still controlling weight. When excess weight comes off slowly, it tends to stay off more easily.

Are you in need of the Heart Cookbook or a tip sheet on what's good for your heart? Call Wendy Norris R.D., 334-2155 for assistance.

Next week's recipe will be a salad to complement this sandwich lunch.

A TIP OF THE TOPHAT from a chimney sweep is supposed to guarantee good luck, or so says Mary Poppins, which means Craig Phillips, staff photographer for The Republican, should have good fortune headed his way. For the first five years, Earl George, local chimney sweep, has donated his services to the rectory of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. He did so again on Thursday. Pictured from top to bottom in the photo are Randy Lee, Mahlon George and Earl George.

Bambacus To Attend White House Briefing

Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) once again has received an invitation to attend a White House briefing regarding major initiatives being undertaken by the Reagan administration in 1983. The briefing is being held for a group of state and local officials from across the nation.

"I fully expect that one of the issues on the agenda will be the federal Jobs Training Partnership Act of 1983 which is to be initiated next October," Bambacus stated. Bambacus recently introduced Senate Bill 768—Jobs Training Partnership, the Maryland bill which complements and facilitates the Federal Act. "This is an exciting program, one that is truly cooperative, involving all levels of government. It is a new approach to employment and training projects," the Senator went on to say.

Presentations will be made by President Reagan, members of the Cabinet and other senior administrative officials. The meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 14, at the White House.

A member of the Joint Committee on Federal Relations, Bambacus commented that he is gratified to have these opportunities to confer with federal officials on issues of critical concern to residents of District I and the State of Maryland.

Trustees Appoint Randall Harman GCC President

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees voted to appoint Randall Harman as president of the college during its meeting Tuesday evening.

Harman has served as interim president of GCC since November 8, when Dr. Donald Ruhl resigned as president at the Board's request.

Harman served as associate dean of the college and professor of agriculture prior to his recent appointment and has taught at the college since its inception.

Harman is a graduate of West Virginia University with a bachelor's in engineering and a master's in agricultural engineering. He taught at West Virginia University for four years and the University of Delaware for seven years before coming to Garrett Community College in 1971.

OF THINGS TO COME — These ducks, passing under a recent full moon, seem to be full of anticipation for the return of warm weather with the new season. As everyone knows, spring begins this Sunday, March 20. These winged travelers' secret, however, is that the next full moon, coming on March 28, also announces the approach of Easter, a date fixed by the church as the first Sunday following the full moon at the end of March. So, hold on, "ducky" weather is just around the corner! Photo by Craig Phillips.

Board Accepts Admittance Policy For Yoder School

The Garrett County Board of Education formally adopted policies and procedures which will delineate admittance to Yoder School near Grantsville at its March 10 meeting.

Enrollment criteria were developed by Albert Coviello, director of pupil personnel services, in light of more students seeking admission than the school could reasonably accommodate. Since the school had been predominately occupied by Amish and Mennonite children, there were no attendance boundaries.

In formulating the policy, Coviello held a public meeting and also worked with various administrators, supervisors, the board's attorney, and Carolyn Dooley, principal of the school. A copy of the draft proposal was then sent to the school so that other interested persons could have input concerning the policy.

The policies are based on several items, including proximity to the school (three-quarters of a mile from the school); present attendance of siblings at the school; ability to provide transportation, either through private means or through public school transportation, without deviation from regular routes; and the number of openings available.

The policies should help to maintain the optimum number of students based on the enrollment target number as determined by the board, which considers the overall size of the school divided by the number of grades.

Priority will also be given to students who have a need to terminate their education with the eighth grade.

Pupils must live within the attendance area of Northern High School to be eligible.

Copies of the policy are available from the board to all interested persons.

Several Hospitalized Following Numerous Weekend Auto Accidents

Several persons were injured in a number of vehicle mishaps which occurred in Garrett County over the weekend. Five of them remain hospitalized in either Garrett County Memorial Hospital or in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Three persons were injured in a two-vehicle crash on the Glendale Road about two-tenths of a mile west of the Glendale Bridge Friday at about 9 p.m.

According to Maryland State Police reports, Robert Weeks, 51, Oakland, was driving eastbound in a 1981 Oldsmobile Toronado. His wife, Phyllis M. Weeks, 53, was a passenger. Mark David Cumming, 18, Aurora, W. Va., presently stationed at Dover Air Force Base, Dover, Del., was driving a 1979 Chevrolet Monte Carlo westbound when he lost control on the ice-covered roadway and crossed over the center line, colliding head-on with the Weeks vehicle.

All three of the occupants were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, where Cumming and Mrs. Weeks were both listed in "satisfactory" condition this morning. Both reportedly sustained back injuries and lacerations. Cumming also apparently sustained limb fractures.

Tfc. Lawrence Rosage, who investigated the incident, charged Cumming with illegal approach to a right of way at an intersection.

Also called to the scene was the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department.

Later that same night, at 1:30 a.m., Saturday, five persons were involved in a two-vehicle mishap on U.S. Rt. 40 near Grantsville.

Police report that Elbert Ray Bittinger, Star Route, Grantsville, was eastbound on Route 40 at a slow rate of speed in a 1976 International truck. Traveling with Bittinger were Sindi Marie Green, Rt. 2, Swanton, and Joseph Wiley, Grantsville.

Mary Ellen Stark, Rt. 1, Lonaconing, was driving a 1978 Ford LTD, also in an easterly direction, when she struck Bittinger's vehicle in the rear. Stark's auto bounced backward and landed in an open field, while Bittinger's vehicle remained on the roadway in the eastbound lane.

A passenger in the Stark vehicle was James E. Brown, Rt. 1, Grantsville.

The Northern Rescue Squad transported the injured to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland, where Brown remains hospitalized. He was listed in "fair" condition this morning.

The mishap was investigated by Tfc. Dale K. Williams, Maryland State Police, who charged Stark with driving at a speed greater than reasonable.

An unusual incident which occurred Saturday at 3:19 p.m. along Old Crellin Road resulted in the hospitalization of a 52-year-old Oakland man.

According to police, Robert Glen Ford was backing his 1971 Chevrolet C-10 pickup from his family garage when the vehicle began to slide on the ice. As the pickup went over an embankment, Ford attempted to jump clear of the vehicle but was struck by the door and the wheels of the pickup ran over him. He was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hos-

Board Agrees To Accept School Budget Proposal

The five-member Board of Education voted unanimously last Thursday evening to accept the superintendent's proposed fiscal 1984 budget, contingent on sufficient funds being available from the various sources.

The proposal, which includes a four-percent across the board raise for teachers and administrators as well as all school personnel, will be presented to the Garrett County Commissioners as soon as it is completed in booklet form.

The proposal is asking a 14 percent increase in county funds from the $4,973,500 received last year to $5,362,756 this year. The board had asked $5,408,810 last year.

There was one slight reduction in the amount to be asked from the county commissioners, when the board discovered that fixed charges would be $59,500 less than anticipated as a result of a reduction in the premium rate for health, life, and accident insurance.

According to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, an estimated $1,247,755 is expected from federal sources and $6,415,004 from state sources. Total budget for the coming year is anticipated to be $13,550,260, an increase of slightly more than seven percent.

The budget compiled by Dr. Ryscavage and his staff, beginning last November, is based on an enrollment of 5,300 students. Dr. Ryscavage has also recommended redeployment of eight teachers, including two from Bloomington School.

Bloomington In Uproar

This suggestion sparked attendance of 25 concerned parents of students at the Bloomington School, who presented a petition with 296 names requesting that the board not remove any teachers from the school. In a discussion which lasted nearly an hour and a half, the parents, led by Doris

Commissioners Plan Revisions To Dog Ordinance

The Garrett County Commissioners announced Tuesday at the end of the second public hearing for a proposed county dog ordinance that they will redraft the proposed ordinance and call another public hearing.

The commissioners indicated they felt revisions to the ordinance were in order after hearing testimony from citizens and receiving written testimony from James W. Simms, county extension agent.

Fire Heavily Damages House Near Grantsville

An improperly installed wood burning stove was determined to be the cause of a fire Thursday afternoon which heavily damaged a one-story wood and stone dwelling located along Dorsey Hotel Road near Grantsville.

Firefighters from Grantsville and Bittinger responded to the residence of Mrs. Esther Yoder and her daughter, Ramona, 18, at 2:40 p.m. and found that the fire had already burned through the roof. Also responding to the scene were firemen from Salisbury, Pa., the Northern Rescue Squad and the county air cascade vehicle, currently being housed at Deer Park.

According to Dwayne Stein, assistant fire chief of Grantsville VFD, firefighters entered the house immediately and brought the blaze under control within a few minutes. Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, said that the structure is owned by Robert H. Miller, Grantsville.

The fire was reported to Garrett Central Alarm by a passerby who thought he had seen smoke coming from the residence, according to Stein. No one was home at the time of the fire, however Mrs. Yoder and her daughter arrived in time to assist firemen in carrying their possessions from the house. Stein said that a large quantity of furniture and clothing was salvaged unharmed.

Carola reported that the fire started in the wall behind a wood stove, which he said was improperly installed in the living room, traveled up through the wall and through the roof. He said the flames also extended through the attic and burned a few spots in the ceilings of the bedrooms. A detached garage was destroyed by the fire and Carola said that there was smoke and heat damage in much of the dwelling. About half of the lving room ceiling was also destroyed. Carola said there was insurance on the structure and its contents.

Fire personnel remained on the scene until about 5 p.m. There were no injuries reported.

Yough Measure Scheduled For Summer Study

The controversial Youghiogheny River Bill contested before the Senate Economic Affairs committee last Wednesday afternoon will be one of the few pieces of legislation to be held over for summer study, according to Sen. John Bambacus (R-Garrett, Allegany).

That announcement was made Tuesday morning after the committee failed to either give a favorable report or kill the measure.

This means that the entire Senate committee will visit the county this summer, after the current 90-day legislative session ends, to gain information and try to provide a remedy to the "very unfortunate" situation which presently surrounds the wild and scenic river, said Bambacus.

Bambacus' SB 544 would have made the river a state "scenic" river and returned regulatory control to the county. The measure also required that regulations be prepared and accepted within one year after the bill took effect. Meanwhile, the present regulations enacted by the Department of Natural Resources in 1976 would remain in effect.

This measure had been contested by environmental groups and the DNR but the "bombshell" move of the hearing came when Jesse Jacobs, aide to U.S. Representative Steny Hoyer of Maryland's fifth congressional district announced that Hoyer plans to introduce legislation which would impose the same designation and controls of the river as Maryland, but under the federal government's rivers program. This will move the "Battle of Yough" from state legislative halls to Washington, D.C.

Jacobs also said that Hoyer's legislation will be ready for the current Congressional session.

Bambacus, who said that he will continue to press the issue, seemed taken aback by the announcement Wednesday and castigated Hoyer for making his "revelation" without prior discussion with either Bambacus or any of the other local representatives or residents. The Senator also reiterated his intent to "continue to fight for the people along the river regardless of what happens down here."

Rep. Hoyer was president of the Maryland Senate in 1975 and sponsored the state bill for the

Falling Tree Seriously Injures Crellin Resident

A 73-year-old Crellin man was seriously injured at about 1:35 Tuesday afternoon when he was struck in the back of the head by a falling tree.

Edward Glotfelty was reportedly cutting trees in the Crellin area when one of them fell and became lodged in the fork of another tree. In attempting to free it, the tree kicked back and struck Glotfelty, fracturing his skull.

He was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad and later flown to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland by the State Police Medevac helicopter. He is presently in the intensive care unit at Memorial, listed by hospitals as in "fair to serious" condition.

Commissioners Delay Lake Sewerage Project Decision

The fate of the Deep Creek Lake sewerage project will hang in the balance one more week as the county commissioners assimilate information presented at a public hearing Monday night. The three commissioners announced at the beginning of the meeting that they would not be announcing their decision until Tuesday, March 22, and also asked that citizens please refrain from lobbying the commissioners during this period.

The board now has before it stacks of information concerning the project to study before making its decison, and asked numerous questions of those testifying Monday for both sides to gain further clarification.

They had been petitioned by 29 property owners to decide whether to proceed with or abandon the controversial project after these residents were dissatisfied with the Sanitary Commission's decision to proceed.

Before taking testimony from the opposing sides, Commissioners Ernie Gregg and Elwood Groves read statements saying that they feel they have no possible conflict of interest affecting their judgment on the project. Commissioner Gregg owns property on the lake, outside the area to be served by the proposed system, and Commissioner Groves' father Lawrence has been a member of the Sanitary Commission for many years. Both indicated that they will not benefit personally or commercially through the project.

Opposition Speaks

First to speak was John Gooding, first vice president of the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake, which is spearheading the drive to abandon the present proposal.

Gooding said that there are five main questions: what is the need; will the system work in relation to the cost; can we afford it; what are the alternatives and what happens if the project is stopped; and do the constituents want this project?

He and Natalie McSherry, attorney for the POA, then answered the above questions in the negative for the requested half hour.

Proponents Speak

After several questions from the commissioners, Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator for the county, gave testimony in favor of continuing the already 13-year-old project which was begun in June 1970 at the request, by petition, of property owners and businessmen.

However, after a history of conflict with Trout Unlimited and other group's the necessary discharge permits grants and loans were obtained. Last spring, the actual costs of the project were found to be $17 million rather than the previously estimated $11 million, and user costs increased to $208 rather than $147 annually, and opposition for the first time began to be heard about the project.

Harry M. Filemyr, chairman of the Sanitary Commission, stated that there is little question at this point for the need for some type of sewer system - there is now argument over the details, extent, process, and location. These problems were thought resolved years ago after a lengthy series of discussions ending in what appeared to be an acceptable compromise.

He pointed out that the property owners knowingly delayed the project on the verge of issuance of municipal bonds which would have lowered the local cost by one-third.

Edgar Harman was the only other person speaking in favor of the project, speaking for the Garrett County Health Department. The agency continues its assertion that the best way to handle sewerage around the lake would be to collect, treat and discharge the treated effluent outside of the drainage basin.

Public Speaks

Numerous persons then took the stand to cite reasons of economic hardship, high costs, lack of public support, undemonstrated need, the 25 percent reserve taps capacity of the proposed system, and the fact that the system will not serve such problem areas as Hazelhurst, Four Hooppole Ridge, and Roman Nose.

The commissioners thanked the crowd which filled the courtroom to capacity, and Sheriff Frank Finch and two deputies who attended.

On Tuesday, the commissioners did note that they may be contacting the state and federal loan agencies to determine what course must be followed should the project be abandoned, but also indicated that in no way had they made a decision either for or against the project.

Anxious for the action to begin is an aggresive-looking Jack Jones, left, who is a member of the Oakland Downtown Merchants' team, and a more reposed-appearing, but nonetheless eager Tom Dabney, at right, who will compete for the Oakland Rotary team. The event is being sponsored by the Junior Woman's Civic Club as a fundraising effort for local non-profit service organizations. Eight teams are scheduled to participate and winnings will be donated to a chosen charity or organization. The public is invited by the JWCC to attend. See story on page 3.

Coal Proposals Get Favorable Report In House

The Maryland House of Delegates Ways and Means Committee has given favorable reports to two coal proposals introduced by Del. George Edwards.

House Bill 617 got a favorable report with the addition of amendments to authorize the county to put liens on personal or real property of coal companies which fail to pay the tonnage tax; make a report required to the legislature every two years rather than four years, and make the measure effective until 1987.

HB 617 would up the amount of tax on each ton of strip mined coal from 35 to 40 cents. Half that amount is sent to Allegany and Garrett counties to make repairs to coal haul bridges and roads.

HB 615 also got a favorable report Friday with the amendment provisions that liens will be placed against companies delinquent in their payments and that monies derived above the nine cents to be returned to the counties would go into the state's general funds.

That proposed legislation would mean that of the 15 cent surcharge on every ton of strip mined coal, the Department of Natural Resources would receive nine cents and the county fiscal authority six cents. The nine cents would be deposited in the state's mine reclamation fund.

HB 616, which would have reduced the charge per ton of coal from 15 to 12 cents received an unfavorable report. This particular measure had received a great deal of attention as it would have reduced the amount to the state by some $132,000 a year.

Del. Edwards, who proposed the measure, declared that the cut would be more than offset by a similar federal tax of 35 cents a ton, half of which is coming to the state specifically for mine reclamation.

Although the Allegany County Commissioners had opposed HB 615 and 616 as they would require the county to collect its share, rather than for the state to collect it and pass it along, County Treasurer Arzella Parsons said Tuesday that her department has had next to no difficulty in collecting tax from coal companies.

Refute Allegations

Allegations of a "Coal Connection" for four local legislators headlined in an article in Sunday's Baltimore Sun were refuted by Garrett's General Assembly members this week.

Although the article pointed out that neither had made a secret of their connections, it went on to say that Garrett legislators and Allegany Del. Casper Taylor and Del. W. Timothy Finan have introduced measures for cutting the coal taxes, lifting the ban on mining steep slopes, and extending for five years a road tax on local companies that exempts them from the more costly local tax on personal property.

Del. Edwards, public relations director for Delta Mining, said that when he ran for office, everyone knew he was a coal company employee. He contends he has done nothing more than what he said he would do during his campaign and has filed the necessary conflict of interest disclaimer.

Sen. Bambacus defended his "coal connection" more strongly. In answer to allegations that coal companies provided $5,600 of his campaign funding, Bambacus said that coal is the third largest industry in both counties he serves. Bambacus declared that the article "was looking for something that wasn't there." "Who else", he queried, "will represent the coal industries. There is only one senator in the area. To many, coal means a job."

He defended his measures to exempt local coal companies from diesel fuel tax in reclamation work by citing the depressed coal market with its resulting loss of 50 percent of the workforce and production. He also said he plans to continue to work to increase domestic and foreign coal markets and will follow this "vigorously."

His diesel fuel measure, SB 89, was killed in the Senate while a companion bill was passed in the house. Although the 40 cent per ton increased proposed by SB 409 has not been reported out of committee, the senator is anticipating a favorable report.

Calling a hearing on SB 546 before the Senate Economic Affairs Committee "a good hearing," Sen. Bambacus is anticipating a report within a week or two on the measure.

Bambacus is seeking to eliminate the Public Service Commission's interstate rate differential across states served by one power company. In his testimony March 8, the senator said that Maryland residential customers should not pay eight cents a kilowatt hour when another state serviced by the same company is paying five cents per hour.

Budget Cuts

Del. Edwards announced Tuesday that his House Appropriations committee has come up with budget-cutting steps which reduce the proposal by Gov. Harry Hughes by $23.7 million and would eliminate the need for increases in property tax and the taxes on alcohol and cigarettes.

The governor at his weekly news conference announced his displeasure with the committee's proposals to cut $9.7 from the Medicaid fund; take $3.5 million from the power plant sitting fund; and reduce by $4.5 million money used to pay health insurance premiums for state employees

Votes Expected

Although the committees took no action yet, Del. Edwards expects to receive a report this week on HB 495, truck vendors' licenses, HB 496, raising licenses for amusement devices; and HB 1509 creating a state debt for a homeowners emergency assistance loan program. These bills were heard in committee last Thursday.

No response has been received on HB 1313 to establish a volunteer fire company, ambulance and rescue squad loan program.

Presidential Meeting

Sen. Bambacus said Tuesday that the Monday meeting with President Ronald Reagan and his staff was "tremendous." Although the setting was more formal for the more than 100 attending, Bambacus did get an opportunity to talk briefly with Secretary of Transportation Dole, Secretary of Energy Hodel, management and budget department director Wright, and presidential assistance for intergovernmental regulations Williamson.

Bambacus said he brought up the Appalachian Highway program, road repair, gasoline tax, and other concerns for rural areas.

The senator is anticipating reports on several bills heard last week before Senate committees within the next several days.

Rescind Disapproval Of Bargaining

The Garrett County Commissioners, in a letter to Sen. John Bambacus March 2, withdrew their original opposition to SB 35 which would allow the board of education to designate which employee organization shall be the exclusive representative of all employees in a specified unit in the county.

In their letter, the commissioners said "After carefully re-reviewing the legislation on collective bargaining for unrepresented employees of the Board of Education, we feel we cannot endorse but will not oppose this measure."

In further clarification to this newspaper, a commissioner spokesman said that the commissioners felt they did not have the full story concerning the facts as presented by Dr. Jerome Ryscavage at the time they sent their letter of opposition. "After gathering more accurate and complete information the board decided to reverse its opposition. If a majority of any group wanted to be represented they should have the right to be recognized."

The commissioners had been castigated by the area Maryland State Teachers Representative for their stance on the bill.

Final Lenten Services Noted

This evening's community Lenten worship service, one of a series sponsored by several churches in the Oakland area, will be held at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, at 7:30. The preacher will be Rev. James Remley, of Bethel United Methodist Church, whose topic will be Words to the Cross from the Other Thief.

The final service in the Lenten series will be held next Wednesday, March 23, at Bethel United Methodist Church, Mt. Lake Park, with the Rev. John Grant preaching on the Words to the Cross from the Centurion. That service will also begin at 7:30 p.m.

The offering collected at the Lenten services will be divided equally between the House of Hope, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Refreshments and a time of fellowship follow each of the services.

Commissioners Offer Speakers For Organizations

The Garrett County Commissioners have announced a new service for citizens' organizations in an attempt to improve public relations and to help improve citizen understanding of county government.

The commissioners' new service will be to make themselves or their staff available to speak to county organizations about specific or general topics involving county government. Topics may even include discussion of regional and state issues and organizations, such as Tri-County Council involving the county.

Commissioner John Braskey stated the service was an extension of the commissioners' policy to keep the public informed.

The commissioners have requested that groups contact their office at least 30 days in advance of the date they wish to have a speaker from county government.

Foreign Exchange Students From Germany To Arrive On Thursday

Fourteen German students and two teachers will arrive in Oakland on Thursday for a three-week visit as part of an exchange with German students from Southern High School. Joan Lambert, German and English teacher at Southern is the local coordinator.

Sponsored by the Council on International Exchange, The School Exchange Service, and the National Association of Secondary School Principals, this exchange continues the "partner school" relationship which began between the Gymnasium Sulingen (a university-preparatory high school) and Southern with their first exchange in 1981.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stuchell Kohler, teachers accompanying the German group, are being hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lambert. Other German students and their respective hosts include: Kerstin Bolte, Mr. and Mrs. Harland Carlson and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lichty; Silke Bolte, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Simpson; Arne Fluegge, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Parrack and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Paugh; Sonja Fritscher, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Friend; Silke Grube, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stemple; Antje Henke, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Shafer; Anja Kleinschmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Livengood; Lennard Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Loomis, Volker Tangemann, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Flinn; Konrad Leymann, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Ellis; Lutz Meyer, Rev. and Mrs. Verne Leininger; Hilmer Schwecke, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cosner; Christine Seeger, Mrs. Virginia Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Asa McCain; and Anke Tinnemeier, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Damon.

With the cooperation and contributions of host families, the Garrett County Board of Education and schools, and local businesses and service organizations, a schedule of activities has been arranged to entertain and educate the German guests.

In addition to a welcome dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Flinn on March 18 and an evening of swimming at the Wisp on March 20, the students will also be entertained with a Welcome Banquet on March 21, a pizza party at Crellin Elementary School on March 31 and a farewell dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Proudfoot on April 6.

Other activities include bowling, a slide presentation on Garrett County by Ruthvan Morrow and a tour of Mettiki Coal Company.

On March 26 the group will tour Washington, D.C., with a special tour of the White House arranged by Rep. Beverly Byron. Tours of the Capitol and Mt. Vernon are also planned.

Traditional life in Garrett County will be the focus of the March 30 trip, on which the students will visit Swan Meadow School, the Steyer Maple Sugar-Making Farm, Cornish Manor for lunch, the Coca-Cola Bottling Company and the John C. Yoder Farm.

The German students will also have the opportunity to share information about their country with students in other Garrett County schools which have requested visits. In addition, during the regular school day, they will be enrolled as students at Southern High School.

"Through participation in this exchange, the families, students, and citizens of Garrett County will gain a greater appreciation of German people and their culture; lifelong friendships will be established, and these two countries, on opposite sides of the world, will seem like next-door neighbors," Mrs. Lambert stated.

The conclusion of this 1983 exchange will take place in August when Mrs. Lambert will accompany the following seven students to Germany: Dawn Shaffer, Marie Stemple, Rhonda Lichty, Donald Loomis, Phil Cosner, Greg Flinn and Rodney Neely.

State Police Report Arrests

Maryland State Police made several arrests in the past week as well as received reports of assault, theft, and destruction of property.

State police arrested a 33-year-old Accident man last week and charged him in connection with the breaking and entering and the theft of a chain saw from a McHenry residence.

James Ora VanSickle, RD 1, Accident, was charged with breaking and entering and theft by Tfc. L.R. Rosage and was released on his own recognizance.

VanSickle was charged with stealing the chain saw belonging to Sheldon Gene Smith of McHenry. The crime was reported to State Police on February 5.

On March 10, State Police apprehended an Elk Garden couple on charges of theft.

Lynwood Carlton Sharpless, 26, and Arveda Kaye Berg, 23, brought a rotary mining bit, valued at $1,800, into Maryland and offered it for sale at approximately 6 p.m. The bit had been stolen from D&L Coal Company, Keyser, W.Va.

The two were taken to the Garrett County Jail where they remain prisoners. Bond was set at $1,000 each.

The incident was investigated by Tfc. Gary Berkebile.

State Police arrested three Preston County men in connection with the breaking and entering of a vehicle and removal of property from inside on March 5 at about 12:10 a.m.

Sgt. Charles Hinnant and Tfc. Gary Berkebile filed charges of theft and destruction of property against Milton Reed Bowman, 22, Corinth, W.Va., and David Leon Lantz, 22, and Richard P. Tasker, 26, both of Terra Alta, W.VA. The three were released on their own recognizance.

The three are charged with breaking into a 1973 Dodge owned by Robert Slautterback, McHenry, while it was parked at the Cravin Ravin, McHenry. There was an estimated $50 of damage to the car and $350 worth of items stolen including fishing equipment. Some of the items were recovered.

Among reports received by State Police was an assault and battery at Point View at about 10:30 p.m. on March 11. Charles E. Parrish, Jr., 20, McHenry, told police he was harassed by a group of people waiting behind him to use the phone.

A member of the group tagged him on the shoulder and when he turned he was struck on the face. He broke free from the group and ran to his residence which was nearby.

Tfc. Larry Smith is investigating the incident.

Rosemarie Wiley, 20, Star Route, Grantsville, reported about five gallons of gas was siphoned from her car while it was parked overnight on the Grantsville Ford parking lot.

Wiley parked the car on the lot at 9 a.m. on March 9 and went to work. She left the car on the lot overnight and discovered upon her return the next morning at 9 a.m. that someone had removed the gas cap and left it lying on the ground beside the car.

Tfc. Gary Resh is investigating the case.

Elbert Ray Bittinger, 52, Star Route, Grantsville, reported on March 9 a destruction of property to his 1976 International truck while it was parked in front of his residence on Amish Road.

Cool Weather, Clouds Continue

Cooler weather, clouds and some rain have continued to obscrure the glimpse of summer afforded nearly two weeks ago, as temperatures now seem unable to climb above 58 degrees and overnight lows are in the mid-20s.

The high temperatures noted this past week were Monday and Tuesday, tied with 58 cool degrees. The week's overnight low was experienced Saturday night when the mercury dropped to 24, according to Weber's weather station near Oakland.

Last Wednesday's high was 45 degrees. A trace of precipitation was recorded Thursday when the mercury struggled to 42 after the overnight low of 30 degrees.

Rain was noted both Friday and Saturday. On Thursday night the mercury dipped to 29 and the high Friday was only 32. There was .03 of an inch of rain. On Saturday the "high" was only 30 after the overnight drop to 25. Saturday brought .06 of an inch of precipitation.

Sunday the skies cleared after the overnight crispy low of 24 and the brilliant blue helped revive the temperature to a high of 49.

The warming trend continued Monday and Tuesday. The overnight low Sunday was 26 and Monday was 35. The mercury dropped to 25 degrees again Tuesday night. No additional precipitation has been recorded since Saturday.

Eberly, Johnson, Boal, Evans New Oakland Officials

Incumbent Frank Eberly received 86 votes and incumbent Von Johnson gathered 100. New member Robert E. Boal had 96 votes.

The town's new treasurer will be Rosalie Evans, who garnered 89 votes to her opponent's, Jim Seedars, 29.

Oakland clerks also noted five absentee ballots for Monday's election.

Little Evidence . . .

Four legislators for Garrett and/or Allegany County were the main characters in a not-so-flattering article in the Sunday edition of the Baltimore Sun this week. The story had to do with the various connections these four officials have with the coal mining industry and subsequent legislation introduced by them which favors mining companies.

State Senator John Bambacus, and Delegates George Edwards, Timothy Finan and Casper Taylor were labled by the writer of the article as "The Coal Connection." It was noted right away that Bambacus received substantial campaign funding from coal companies, that Edwards is public relations director for Delta Mining Company, that Finan is a lawyer whose firm represents the Maryland Coal Association and several coal companies, and that Taylor, whose son recently joined Finan's law firm, has always been a staunch advocate for the coal industry.

In examining the article and the various pieces of mining-related legislation introduced by these individuals, we have found little evidence of a damaging conflict of interest, which seems to be the aim of the Sun article.

Coal mining is a major industry in Maryland's two westernmost counties, particularly in Garrett, and, as we all know, it is an industry that is struggling right now. Production is down by 50 percent and employment has been decreased by one-half during the past several months. Several of the smaller companies may not survive. It would be outrageous for our legislators to ignore this situation or, worse yet, to introduce bills harmful to the industry. Among the citizens that these men are supposed to represent are 700 unemployed miners.

The two major concerns to the average citizen are that the coal companies are not given unfair financial advantages at great expense to the taxpayer and that the environment is protected and reclaimed properly. We are not experts on these matters so we can only hope that our legislators have the same concerns and will not succumb to favoritism and bad politics at the expense of the taxpayer or the environment.

The Cost Of Parenting

by Carol Fox

As a temporarily sidelined member of The Republican team due to illness, I've had quite a bit of time to spend catching up on reading and following current events.

Fr tly because I'm a parent, I've always taken a special interest in the protection of children's rights. In the latest issue of a leading women's magazine, an article appears about a mother named Louise La Carte who lost an 18-year-old child at the hands of a cold-blooded killer. Her daughter, Cathy, was murdered, and the killer was sentenced to death by a California jury. Only a few weeks after his conviction, the California Supreme Court ruled that the state's death penalty was unconstitutional. He became one of 104 men awaiting execution who now had their sentences reduced to life in prison. Loosely translated, a life term meant that the young woman's murderer could now become eligible for parole in as little as seven years.

Monday evening's prime time television offerings included a movie based on the true story of Cari Lightner, a 13-year-old child who was run down by a drunken driver on a California street. Her mother, Candi Lightner, became enraged at the lack of appropriate laws to punish those who drink and drive, and from this anger, launched a one-woman fight to change those laws. She formed an organization known as M.A.D.D. (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers) which has now become a nationwide organization with 115 chapters in 36 states. The group has been responsible for legislative changes in several states, the formation of task forces to actually make changes and additions to existing laws and finally, a presidential task force to sudy and change the drunk driving laws of the entire land. That one woman's rage over the loss of her innocent child led to monumental change in punishment for drunken drivers.

Locally, the Friends of Stephanie Ann Roper Committee, under the leadership of her parents, has made statewide and some nationally known protest against inappropriate sentencing for the perpetrators in the vicious murder of their daughter. They've gathered petitions, made public appearances, rattled the cages of government officials, and made their positions known to those who can change the laws.

In a nutshell, these parents refused to accept the death of their children without a fight. They turned their anguish against those lawmakers who had the power to strengthen existing laws and write new ones. Justice stood beside grief in pledges to ensure that Cathy La Carte, Cari Lightner, and Stephanie Roper had not died in vain. It took more courage and strength than most parents have to stand up and fight. The road to change is long, and the cost to these families has got to be high. How many of us could, or would be willing to pay?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This is in reference to a letter to the editor signed, "An Animal Lover" of March 3. The writer complaines that there is no SPCA in Garrett County to protect the defenseless animals.

I would like to inform the writer that the State of Maryland has a "Cruelty to Animals" code on the books. Under Article 27, Section 59, it is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000.00 or 90 days in jail, or both, to be cruel to an animal. Also, the owner or custodian must provide his animals with necessary veterinary care, proper food and water and protection from the weather. Any citizen can report such cruelties to the police, who should then take appropriate action.

Most counties in Maryland have an SPCA or Humane Society. The organizations have trained volunteers to investigate animal cruelties; they work with the police and may, in certain cases, remove animals where a cruel situation exists (Article 27, Section 67).

The letter writer seems concerned and compassionate. There must be many such good people in Garrett County. Why not start your own SPCA? Your local shelter and police department will be your allies, they will be grateful for your help.

Instead of watching in despair, the suffering of defenseless animals, you can, indeed, do something about it.

Please call me at (301) 262-9733 if you want more information.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ninie Murray
Director

The following drunk driving bills are being heard in the Maryland Legislature. The bills are strongly supported by Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD).

Bills sponsored by the Governor's Task Force of Drunk-Driving:

HB880 Motor Vehicle Administration may suspend license within 30 days after arrest with BAC of 13 percent or above.

HB884 Mandatory 48 hours in jail or 10 days community service for repeat offenders.

When driving with suspended or revoked license:

HB882 First Offense—tags may be revoked.

HB883 Second Offense—vehicle may be impounded.

HB885 Police officers choose chemical test. Defendants can then choose supplemental test.

HB886 Increase length of license suspension for second refusal to take chemical test from 6 to 12 months.

HB887 Prohibits judge from granting probation before judgment for repeat drunk-driving offenders.

HB879 Mandates the use of safety restraints for children under 5.

MADD also supports change from misdemeanor to felony; homicide (HB74) manslaughter (HB254) and critical injury (HB1165) by motor vehicle while intoxicated.

If you feel as we do please write or call your representatives and ask them to support these bills. Your letters and calls can make the difference. For further information call 269-1880 or 464-1842.

MADD is an organization of concerned men and women who are committed to reducing the senseless suffering and loss caused by drunk-driving. Please help us and urge the passage of these bills today. Your effort may help save innocent lives.

To the Editor:

As a concerned parent of children attending Bloomington School, I wish to comment on the unfairness of our Board of Education.

We are the only school in Garrett County that has nine grades, K-8. We have 100 pupils and 5.5 teachers. The school board voted to reduce our teaching staff by two teachers. The cut would force three grades into one classroom. I realize other schools are taking cuts, but ours is a unique situation with the nine grades.

How can we expect a teacher to take a room full of Kindergarten, first and second grade pupils? Let's face it, a teacher cannot take active kindergarten pupils, and teach two other grades reading, math and other skills, which are so fundamental at this point in their education.

What are the priorities in our school board's budget? When basics should be the main concern, they worry about frills. When will they realize that you can't "serve steak on a hamburger budget?" Being an average housewife, I know what it is to cut out the frills and buy basics. Extras are nice, but when our children have to suffer, it's time for a change. We can do without computers in elementary schools, golf instructors and even art, if it is taking funds that could be used for basic items.

We in Bloomington are very much a part of Garrett County and we do pay our share of taxes, which are extremely high. The only things the county gives us in return for our tax dollar are our school and a place to dump our trash. Don't we deserve the things the schools in Oakland have? All we ask is that the Board revise the budget to allow us to keep our present teaching staff. What is more important than our children's education?

To the Editor:

Last week there were four letters in your newspaper and, on Thursday, a local radio program presenting views of the Deep Creek Property Owners Association in opposition to the proposed Deep Creek Lake Sewer System.

The subject is indeed controversial, but that is not reason enough for public statements showing regard for money and none for morals. It seems unbelievable when a small group defends its right to degrade a resource because it costs them less. It's all the more unbelievable when you examine other statements that have nothing to do with the issue except to create a smokescreen. Do they think Garrett Countians swallow such mush?

Garrett Countians well understand that property adjoining Deep Creek drains into the lake. They are not so ignorant as to believe that water and sewerage drains uphill and into the clouds. They are a moral people accepting their responsibilities and expecting that others will do likewise.

Owners of real property in this county pay taxes and thereby bear the expense of a Sanitary Commission. That Sanitary Commission has determined the necessity of a sewer system, no ifs, ands or buts!

We trust the Sanitary Commission to protect us from filth and pollution to the best of their ability and they have done so. We now trust our county commissioners to do exactly the same.

These polluters don't seem very eager to properly dispose of their sewerage. They seem more intent on ignoring and hiding the findings of the Sanitary Commission. Perhaps they may soon try to convince Garrett Countians that their sewerage is healthy, wholesome and doesn't smell!

Sincerely,
Pine Nut

To the Editor:

We were among the parents from the Bloomington School who attended the meeting at the Garrett County Board of Education (March 10) to voice our pleas for keeping the teachers in our school.

We are opposed to the deployment of these teachers and were not satisfied with answers received concerning their removal.

We firmly believe as the only school in the county with nine different grade levels, our children will not receive the best in his or her education.

As mothers of children with learning disabilities, we are greatly concerned with losing our Special Education teacher. We're given the understanding our children will still have such help, but perhaps on ½ daily basis.

What happens to those children who need help for more than one subject?

What will happen to grades K-2 if these are grouped together?

As taxpayers we feel our school is the only benefit we receive from our tax dollar. Therefore we deserve a little more down here at Bloomington than we've been receiving.

In closing we quote a passage from our Bloomingtofn Bicentennial Book.

"Bloomington is one of the few schools that has existed for over a hundred years. The majority of the early schools are gone and it is a pleasure to find this one has survived with the passing of time."

What is to be the fate of our school?

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Jeanne Bush
Mrs. Virginia Pritts

To the Editor:

Once again the Board of Education is proposing the budget.

The Board wants to take two of our teachers away from us at Bloomington, and maybe a third, our Special Education teacher.

The reason for this is so they can place them in other areas, which have less enrollment to cut down on the budget, which is way too high.

The Board couldn't give us an answer as to how, when, where, or whom, to our questions, but would only say it was up to the county commissioners.

Well, commissioners, the Board is up to their old game of passing the buck to you. It seems the Board can't do their job when it comes to discussing the budget. Dr. Jerome J. Ryscavage and the Board are doing a good job of snowballing the public again.

At the meeting on March 10, they told the people from Bloomington who attended (along with petitions signed by 296 taxpayers) that they don't cut teachers out of the schools, that the commissioners do; they only propose the budget.

The commissioners pass it. They're not saying what they proposed and what they plan to cut to get the things they want like:

Two more secretaries for the Board for 36 more children this year than last year, a personal director, a golf instructor for Northern, and computers for all schools.

With one of the state's highest tax rates, Bloomington area people feel that we don't get much out of our taxes but our school. A quality education for our children is all we want. Cutting our teachers isn't helping our school do its job.

To the Editor:

A couple of weeks ago, I had the fortune to be named Demonstrator School in the State of Maryland for a second consecutive year. I am very honored to have won these awards, however, in the two news articles over the past two years, the people who have been very instrumental to the success I have had in the field of physical education were not recognized due to editing policies.

Therefore, I would like to take this opportunity to recognize those very special people: Coach John Wyles and Coach Ralph Arietta, my high school and junior college coaches; Tom Vent and Lynn Fraley, my cooperating teachers who believed in my abilities during my student teaching; and my mother, Julia Carey.

The following people made un-noticed contributions: Terry King of WXIE; Wayne Johnson, principal of Broad Ford; Jean Eberly, school secretary; Richard DeWitt and Jerry Corder, school custodians; Barry Domenick, former art instructor; ALL of the faculty and aides at Broad Ford Elementary; and the parent volunteers. A very special thanks to the PTA of Broad Ford Elementary School and especially John Hill who helped get the needed support to initiate our fitness program and the success it now enjoys when he served as the PTA president.

To all those people who have contributed and supported not only myself as the instructor, but the total physical education program at Broad Ford as a whole, I extend my deepest thanks and appreciation.

Sincerely,
Phil Caruso

School Budget

Evans, PTA president, presented facts to show that the teachers are necessary to the school.

There are presently 99 students there in kindergarten through eighth grade, and these students are taught by five full time teachers and a teaching principal. This would mean the remaining three and a half teachers would have three grades each.

At the conclusion of the group's testimony,Dr. Ryscavage pointed out that the board would be acting only on his budget recommendations and not on redeployment of teachers.

The budget proposals were presented February 24 in a public hearing by Dr. Ryscavage, Albert Ringer, director of pupil personnel services, and James Lupis, assistant supervisor for administrative services. At Thursday's meeting a motion for approval was made by Earl Clark and seconded by Dr. Leo O'Neill.

Yough Measure

river designation and the state's regulatory power.

Among those speaking in favor of the measure was Del. George Edwards, whose companion bill, HB 1312 will be heard Monday, March 21, at 4 p.m. before the Environmental Matters Committee.

Del. Edwards also expressed disappointment in Hoyer's action and indicated he would remain steadfast to the purpose of the bill in order to provide a solution to the landowners' feelings of zoning without representation.

Garrett County Commissioners John Braskey and Elwood Groves also traveled to Annapolis to fight for the measure, which has the unanimous approval of all three local officials. In his statement Groves, the commissioner representative to the Youghiogheny Advisory Board, said that current regulations lack any long term plan for management of the river, and changing the designation to "scenic" from "wild and scenic" would make the river equivalent to all other rivers in Maryland. The Yough is the only river to receive the "wild" designation. He also pointed out that the landowners in the corridor have the unique distinction of being the only private property where zoning regulations have been adopted by the state, as opposed to local government.

He also pointed out former DNR Secretary Coulter's response in 1977 to questions by Steny Hoyer, in which Coulter said that among the advantages to county administration would be direct relationship to other county reviews and approvals, such as those by the health department or the local soil conservation district; means for appeal and revision would be closer to home and therefore more palatable to landowners; river management could be directly related to objectives of local government; and regulations could be more efficiently administered because of the physical proximity of all parties.

Among those in opposition were Trout Unlimited, the Sierra Club, the Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen Association, the Save Our Streams Association and the Canoe Cruisers Association. All want to keep the "wild" label and state regulations.

Frank Oslislo, head of land planning for the DNR, read his agency's opposition to the bill, citing that removal of the "wild" designation would remove prohibitions against strip mining, extensive logging, or housing development in the corridor, and eliminate the presend fund which might be used to purchase property in the corridor by the state.

He explained that the DNR is opposed to any legislation which might downgrade or destroy the unique characteristics of the river, and particularly to any plan which does not permit DNR approval, review, or comment on any transition plan.

Oslislo pointed out that within the corridor are several plants and amphibians which are on the endangered species list, including two types of salamanders, the mudpuppy, the hellbender, and the green salamander.

His agency's environmental assessment also notes that any action to eliminate some recreation usage presently enjoyed by the public (such as the controversial whitewater rafting) would thus promote the possibility of legal action.

One member of the local river advisory board, Jack Fridinger, also spoke in opposition to the legislation, saying that he believes that "Everything is in place now to preserve the river, but the (advisory board) members won't use the system." He feels efforts should continue to get local board members, county and state officials together to come up with a river plan acceptable to all sides.

According to the regulations from DNR, that department was to come up with a plan several years ago but to date has not produced one. The department, on the other hand, says that to formulate a plan without local input and cooperation would be a waste of time and money.

Fridinger also said that he is convinced "There would be no effective preservation plan on the river, particularly since it is not politically popular to talk about zoning, building codes or anything to do with conservation."

Yoder School

Requests Due by April

Requests from parents who want their children to attend Yoder School for the first grade for the 1983-84 year must be submitted to the Garrett County Board of Education, Department of Pupil Services, prior to April 6.

Any requests which have been turned in since January 1 have been kept on file and will not need to be resubmitted. Parents are asked to use the regular kindergarten/first grade registration form which appeared in area newspapers or is available at any local elementary school.

Requests concerning students wishing to transfer to Yoder School for other grades for the 1983-84 year will be accepted April 5 through May 6.

Procedures for transfer requests include securing a request from the present local school, setting up a conference with the principal of the local school to discuss reasons for the transfer request; requesting and attending a conference with the principal of the Yoder school, and submitting the transfer request to the board of education by the date mentioned above. Notification of action regarding the request will be given by the end of the school year.

Second Impression

by Harry Fox

Not everyone appreciates a job. There are some persons, we all know examples in our own lives, who look on a job as the easy way out, and on the employer as someone waiting to be "taken" by a sufficiently clever employee. While most of his or her coworkers take the work seriously and exert maximum effort—because they take personal pride in the results—the opportunist looks for every chance to get the most for the least.

This pattern of behavior exists in almost every field. Government work, in both elected offices and staff positions, is often a vulnerable area for abuse of the trust an employer shows for his employees.

Of course, public servants are just that—employed by the people through their representatives—and, in effect, working for all of us.

Journalists have developed a (deserved!) reputation for often focusing on the much-publicized corruption in high places. That is good. We all have reasons to be grateful for the exposure given to serious wrongdoing in government and elsewhere.

But, turning the hot lights on the "bad apples" frequently gives the incorrect impression that hardworking, conscientious employees are not to be found in government service.

That's just not so. Frequently our best, most able public servants work at a fraction of the salaries they could command in private business. Administrators of government agencies face the same tough budget and personnel problems of any large concern. They simply have a unique, and often unpredictable, employer—the public officials who control the budgets and limits of their authority.

In my opinion, Garrett County is fortunate to have the services of many dedicated employees in the public sector, in both elected and administrative positions.

Their steady, diligent work is often forgotten in the storms of controversy that rage around the courthouse.

The public is a fickle "boss." In fact, being responsible to both the public and to one's job is never easy.

Journalism is one good example. Newspapers traditionally take great pride in much breast-beating about public responsibility—until it becomes more convenient to step behind the "private business" label. Then the shoe is on the other foot, and public trust be damned. "No man can serve two masters."

For all of us, the only answer is a fervent "there, but for the grace of God, go I."

GCTA Asks Help To Make Board Salaries Equitable

Representatives of the Garrett County Teachers Association met with the Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday afternoon to seek that group's support in the teachers' opposition to the new pay scale recently approved by the Board of Education for administrative and supervisory personnel.

Spokesman Betty White, vice president of GCTA, said her group was "quite disillusioned" with what is going on with the board of education budget and pointed out that at the time the teachers negotiated their coming pay riase, "in good faith," they believed all employees would be getting the same amount—$700, as a flat salary increase for the ten employee groups.

Then they discovered, through sources other than the board, that the administrators and supervisors would be receiving $1,100 pay increase, while maintenance staff would receive $500, and all categories would receive varying amounts.

She then requested the help of the commissioners to see what could be done to rectify the situation.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg, chairman, said that "In plain language, we've been outsmarted again" and pointed out that the commissioners have a categorical budget perogative but this is for the entire category, such as administration, instruction, etc. and the commissioners do not have line by line authority to tell the board of education how to distribute the funds within a category.

The commissioners agreed to seek a "closed door" meeting with the five lay members of the Board of Education in the very near future in efforts to open lines of communication. The board just approved Dr. Jerome Ryscavage's 1983-84 fiscal proposal, which asks $5,362,756 in county funds.

Terry Wolfe, also representing the GCTA, suggested that the commissioners in the future seek to obtain line-by-line authority over the school board budget, and the commissioners agreed to make this suggestion to the board members.

Mrs. White also noted that the gap that is present and increases each year between the ten salary groups is what the GCTA feels is inequitable and this was backed up by Wolfe, who said that with an across-the-board raise, the disparity would have been lowered.

The commissioners concurred that a salary study commission might be set up by the Board of Education to make the salary scale more equitable and promised to make that suggestion also.

Commissioner Gregg also pointed out that the commissioners are tired of being labeled "anti-educational" and bearing the brunt of unpopular board budget decisions and that the commissioners are now planning to demand some accountability.

The commissioners have been stating publicly that they are displeased with the school board policy of adopting the board's budget without ever consulting with the commissioners to see what type of financial assistance might be afforded by the county. In regard to this situation, Commissioner Gregg noted that the commissioners "are tired of getting kicked in the teeth publicly" by the board's budget adoption and resulting public battle to obtain the funds needed to fulfill the budget to retain needed and wanted services.

During the meeting, Mrs. White also pointed out that teachers had had no opportunity to discuss the new administrative and supervisory pay scale before the board adopted the changes.

Process Discussed

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, when asked for clarification of the salary increase process for the ten personnel categories, said Tuesday that the method for arriving at the amounts were the same in each case.

For instance, he said, the board obtained the average salary of teachers, $17,400, and gave a four percent raise, amounting to $700. For maintenance, the board determined the average wage, $12,400, and four percent equals $500.

He said this same formula was applied to administrative positions. The average salary of all in that category was obtained, a 1.9 percent increase was given for the pay scale increase and the remainder of four percent, or 2.1 percent, was allotted as a pay raise. This amounts to $1,101 per person.

Dr. Ryscavage said that in the board's estimation, this method is more equitable than giving straight four percent raises, since the persons at the low end of each category's pay scale would benefit by the income averaging.

He also noted that he and three school principals had drawn up the new pay scale for administrators and supervisors, collapsing the ten previous categories to four.

Garrett Baseball Opens Saturday; Pitching Labled Potential Strength

The Lakers of Garrett Community College will open their 1983 season this weekend with road games at Chesapeake College and Catonsville Community College. The squad returns four lettermen from last year's record setting 19-16 squad. The Lakers' first home contest will be Saturday, March 26 against Allegany South of Pittsburgh.

The pitching rotation is one of the potential strengths, according to Coach Phil Caruso. Mike Nagle and Steve Mohr both had outstanding freshmen years and figure to be two of the best pitchers in the region. Nagle posted a 5-2 record and had one of the highest strike-out ratios in the country. Mohr recorded a 6-1 ledger and won some key games both as a starter and reliever.

The top new pitching prospect is Ed Parrish from Keyser, W. Va. "Ed has all the tools to be a super pitcher and is one of the finest young men I've ever met," Caruso said. Freshmen Dan Schwerer, Mike Uram, Greg Davis, and Tim Bishop will round out the rotation. Tim McCoy and Scott Schmidt are both recovering from preseason injuries will not be available early in the year.

"Our pitching staff could carry us early in the season," Caruso said. "Our first two pitchers have proven themselves but our freshmen must adapt to the collegiate competition."

The infield will be anchored by second baseman Mike Matthews. Matthews is from nearby Mt. Savage and has been one of the steadiest Lakers to date. Tim Bishop will hold down the first base position while Rick Stiffey, from Meyersdale, and Rick Jones contend at short. Other infield possibilities are Ed Coons, Mike Gough, and Alan Popa.

The outfield will consist of Tom Altmiller, Bob Armeni, Gary Rowles, Tom Danver and Eric Shimer. Joe Davey and Jay Goodman will handle the catching chores.

"We have a lot of competition for all our positions," Caruso stated. "Any one of our 22 players could end up starting. It will be a nice problem figuring out who to start."

Caruso is beginning his fourth year as the Lakers' mentor. The program has shown steady progression each year with last year's team setting numerous records in a 19-win season. "I'm excited about the prospects of this team. We have the potential to win the region if we play to our capabilities and stay healthy," Caruso concluded.

Garrett participates in the Region XX of the NJCAA.

The roster is as follows:

Schools Observe Chapter I Week

Chapter I Week was proclaimed last week, March 7-11, in the state of Maryland and several Garrett County elementary schools joined in the observance with special programs throughout the week for parents and students. Chapter I is a government-funded program established to improve reading readiness, word attack and comprehension skills, as well as skills in mathematics. Students in kindergarten through fifth grade who are identified on the basis of educational need are the beneficiaries of the program. Chapter I employs numerous instructional aides who provide extra help and reinforcement for students. Additional instructional materials and equipment have also been supplied through the program. There are also programs conducted for parents of the children to inform them about the Chapter I program and assist them in reinforcing the learning process in their children. There are also dental services available through the Chapter I health nurse.

Chapter I officials encourage all parents to become involved in the Chapter I program by participating in the parent workshops, visiting schools and conferring with teachers, reinforcing learning at home, and becoming a member of the Chapter I parent advisory councils.

AMONG THE GUESTS making classroom visitations at Broad Ford Elementary School last week as part of the Chapter I Week observance were, left to right, Francis E. Harris, Chapter I supervisor; Mona Smith, administrative aid to Senator John Bambacus; Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County superintendent of schools; Clarence Stem, Board of Education member; Ernest Gregg, county commissioner; Dr. Leo O'Neill, Board of Education member; and Lois Bittinger, Garrett County Parent Advisory Council (PAC) president and State PAC recording secretary. Below, Supervisor Harris speaks with Chapter I aids and parents at Crellin Elementary School.

Grantsville

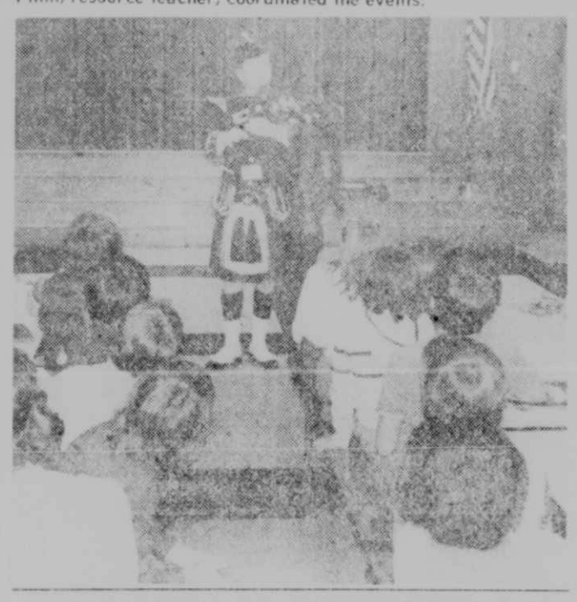
During the week of March 7-11, Chapter I was highlighted in the Maryland Schools. As part of this observance several Garrett County Chapter I Schools set aside a day to have special recognition. Friday, March 11, was the special day at Grantsville School where a hall bulletin board display provided a place for all students in the school to sign their names, Name tags and bookmarks were also presented to every student.

Special guests for the day were parents and the Chapter I resource teacher from Route 40 School: Francis E. Harris, Chapter I director; John Braskey, county commissioner; Mrs. Beverly Murphy, Board of Education member; Mona Smith, representative of Sen. John Bambacus; Gene Zumpano, representative of Delegate George Edwards; Lois Bittinger, Garrett County PAC chairperson; and David Miller, specialist from the Maryland State Department of Education.

After a presentation in the media center, parents visited classrooms. This was followed by a covered dish luncheon which had been prepared by parent volunteers and was served in the Chapter I Room.

After lunch, Harris and Miller brought parents up to date on the future of Chapter I. Delores Lapp, Grantsville Schools PAC chairperson, concluded the day with a parents' point of view of Chapter I happenings.

Crellin



Wednesday, March 9, was designated as Chapter I Day at Crellin School. Thirteen parents and two children were greeted by the school principal, Asa McCain, in the school library.

Francis E. Harris, Chapter I director, and Joan Whetsell, Chapter I resource teacher, presented the Chapter I program.

Parents visited classrooms and ate lunch in the school cafeteria with their children. Parent volunteers made a bulletin board display and presented each child in the school with a name tag or a bookmark.

STUDENTS TREATED — Students at Dennett Road Elementary School were also treated to some fun activities as part of the Chapter I Week observance. Stinky (Bernie Burns) and Tuffy (Bob Householder), both members of the Ali Ghan Shrine Clown Harige Unit, were on hand Friday to entertain students in kindergarten through third grade. For the older children, fourth and fifth graders, a bagpipe demonstration was provided Thursday by Rev. John Grant, of St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. Rev. Grant rendered several numbers, explained the working of the pipes, and explained the meaning of the various parts of the kilt which he was wearing. Barbara Flinn, resource teacher, coordinated the events.

Dennett Road

Dennett Road School held a special PAC meeting on Tuesday, March 8, in recognition of Chapter I Week with Barbara Frey from Homemaker Career Opportunities presenting a workshop on parenting skills. Mrs. Fry pointed out that parents need to (1) focus on a child's strengths, (2) build a positive relationship by establishing mutual respect, (3) make sure encouragement communicates love, (4) give children choices, (5) let children know they have rights and that with rights come responsibilities.

Clark Sharpless, principal of Dennett Road School, welcomed the parents to the meeting. Chapter I Supervisor Francis Harris, spoke of the value of parents support for the Chapter I Program, the importance of the Chapter I program to the economy of Garrett County, to the future of disadvantaged youth and to the nation as a whole. Harris continued by saying that all concerned individuals need to contact legislators, urging them to halt further budget cuts that will harm the programs for disadvantaged young people.

Since the week of March 7-11 was Chapter I Week a variety of activities at Dennett Road School included: each person in the school wearing a Chapter I Badge; each person in the school receiving a ruler/bookmark; parents eating lunch with their children and visiting in their classrooms; and entertainment.
